

SUMMARY

Somebody

Wanted

But

So

Then

Use these words to help you begin your summary. Summaries are short and brief. Look at the example below.

Strange Tracks in the Snow

There are strange tracks (somebody/thing) in the snow but (but) we don't know what made them (wanted). The tracks began with small prints then a wide 'slide' track and more prints (so). Then we find out that the tracks belong to an otter who is looking for food. He slides on his tummy because it's faster than walking in the snow. His tummy made the strange slide marks in the snow.