10 Reasons Why Kids Need to Be In School

Academic Success: Instruction does not stop when a child is absent. Missing school makes it harder for kids to learn fundamental concepts for reading and math or keep up with an ongoing unit of history or science. Studies show missing just 1-2 days per month can negatively impact a child's academic performance, comprehension, and test scores.

Confidence Builder: Children thrive on routine, and consistent school attendance provides beneficial structure and purpose. Kids feel good about staying caught up not only with the daily lessons and class activities, but also with caring for themselves by getting ready each day and learning how to interact with others in formal and social settings.
