2024 REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY: FINANCES

We ARE Clovis UNIFIED!

Three times a year, Clovis Unified School District provides a Report to the Community - focused on student performance (October), budget and finance (January) and facilities (May) - for those who live or own a business in the district's 200-square mile boundary. Clovis Unified includes most of the city of Clovis, 20% of the city of Fresno and a small portion of unincorporated Fresno County.

► Look inside to learn how Clovis Unified is funded, what are some of the challenges of the district's budget, and how the district adds value to the community.

MESSAGE FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

Student success makes vibrant community

Thank you for picking up this issue of CUSD Today. It is one of three each year sent to parents, employees and everyone who lives in Clovis Unified's boundaries to share important information about our school district which serves your neighborhood.

Corrine Folmer, Ed.D.
Superintendent

Every October, we share news in our community issue of CUSD Today about the academic achievement of our students, and in May we focus on the facilities that support the academic success of our students.

In this January community issue of CUSD Today, we believe it is critical that our community knows the details about our funding sources and how we manage our fiscal resources in Clovis Unified.

The first and most important thing you should know about our approach to finances is that students are at the center of all decision making. Every choice we make and every expense we approve are examined through the lens of what makes a difference for our students because their success is paramount to our mission as a district and community.

Our district is large and continuing to grow. As of this year, our student enrollment puts us as the 14th largest district out of close to 1,000 school districts in California. Even as one of the lowest funded unified school districts in Fresno County, we remain one of our region's largest employers, with a full- and part-time staff of close to 7,000 employees. Therefore, the management of these funds and the many small decisions of allocations are centered around what is best for our students and staff. Like our home budgets, these decisions are weighed carefully.

"The first and most important thing you should know about our approach to finances is that students are at the center of all decision making."

Corrine Folmer, Ed.D.
Superintendent

As you read on in this issue of CUSD Today, please examine how we maximize our allocation of resources:

- How we establish spending priorities (students first!),
- Where the bulk of our money goes (to the educational team that serves our students' academic, physical and emotional needs),
- The state funding formula driving resources for our students and how Clovis Unified is different than our neighbors, and
- How our entrepreneurial approach to stretching dollars demands a great degree of fiscal accountability in all that we do.

Whether or not you have a direct student or employee connection to Clovis Unified, the quality of your public schools makes an impact on your community experience. It is our commitment to you that we take our responsibility to the community seriously. That commitment drives us to work hard every day to achieve high standards for our students and in everything we do on their, and on your, behalf.

Budget Goals

In Clovis Unified, kids come first. Every budget decision has the same goal: to be excellent stewards of resources as we provide an environment for students to excel in mind, body and spirit. This is expressed in the three aims found in the CUSD Governing Board's Strategic Plan.

1. Maximize achievement for all students.
2. Operate with increasing efficiency and effectiveness.
3. Hire, develop, sustain and value a high-quality, diverse workforce.

Our schools are your schools

Founding Superintendent Dr. Floyd "Doc" Buchanan used to say, "The schools belong to the people." Clovis Unified stands firmly behind this and views the district campuses as educational centers during school hours, and community assets all of the time.

We keep our gates open, our fields accessible and our buildings available for use by outside groups as we recognize our 53 campuses provide neighborhood hubs where connectivity and community engagement can occur.

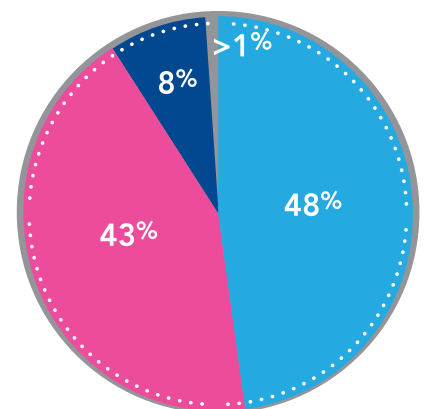

Grandparents gather to watch their family in recreation league sports; friends meet to play a pick-up game of basketball; civic groups hold topical meeting; children's clubs engage interests; and the list of outside groups goes on.

The California Civic Center Act and local police provide guidelines regarding any outside organization's use of public buildings and makes provisions for nominal fees to offset support costs, such as for grounds and maintenance. Last school year, Clovis Unified had around 40,000 facility use requests by outside groups, not to mention the nearly 68,000 requests for school-related activities.

We fully appreciate the responsibility entrusted to us by taxpayers who have supported construction of our campuses, and we are committed to their upkeep and maintenance. We are also committed to appreciating Doc's words by making our facilities a place that is meaningful to all of our citizenry.

$122M DIFFERENCE Advocating for change

Clovis Unified would have received $122 million more to spend on students if it were given the Fresno County per student average in funding. Unlike many other Fresno area schools, Clovis Unified does not receive state concentration dollars even though about 20,000 of our 42,600 students qualify as low income, foster youth, English learners or homeless. The state funding formula, however, currently provides these funds based on a percentage of qualifying students (55% or more) in a district.

Consider this: Two kids - who are best friends and live across the street from one another on a street that is a boundary line between CUSD and another district- may both come from economically disadvantaged homes, but if one district receives concentration dollars, then California funds their education very differently. The neighboring district will receive thousands of dollars more to support the education of the child living in their boundary than Clovis Unified will for the child in its district.

Clovis Unified is advocating that this be changed so that funds be distributed per number of qualifying students in a district. This change would recognize the individual needs of students regardless of where they live.

**2022-23 certified enrollment. The current school year's enrollment of 43,292 is expected to be certified by the state this month.

HOW WE ARE FUNDED

Clovis Unified is the lowest funded district in area

Formula gives CUSD $3,182 less per student than county average

Clovis Unified's caring teachers, high-quality school facilities and many co-curricular programs often have people calling CUSD a "rich district," but in fact, the district receives the least amount of Local Control Funding Formula funds per student than any other district in Fresno County.

California changed its 40-year-old funding formula in 2013 and began dividing dollars between school districts based on varying levels of qualifying students (low income, homeless, English learners and foster youth). Clovis Unified, with approximately 20,000 children matching these qualifications or 47%, does not receive Concentration Funds that instead of looking at number of students, looks at percentage.

This difference creates a huge funding divide.

In 2022-23, Clovis Unified received $10,700 per student from California's Local Control Funding Formula. By comparison, Fresno Unified received $14,373 per student, Central Unified received $12,178 per student and Sanger Unified received $11,924.

The Local Control Funding Formula (LCFF) consists of three parts: base grant, supplemental grant and concentration grant.

The first is the base grant amount, a set amount per student that all school districts receive to pay for classroom instruction and support, such as textbooks, supplies, technology, utilities and transportation.

Supplemental dollars are then provided to all districts based on their number of qualifying students. Districts receive approximately $2,157 per qualifying student.

Concentration dollars are then provided to districts when their qualifying students exceed 55 percent of the total students. Clovis Unified, at an average of 47%, does not receive these additional funds.

CUSD's Local Control Funding Formula (LCFF) sources

Additional funds given to any school district whose percent of qualifying students (English learner, low-income, homeless and foster youth) exceed 55%.

Based on a district's number of unduplicated low-income, foster youth, English learner and homeless.

An equal amount provided to every district based on the average daily attendance and intended to fund all general operating expenses. This year it also includes an add-on for transitional kindergarten students.

One-time Funds

COVID Relief

This upcoming school year is the deadline to spend any COVID relief funds received by districts during the COVID-19 pandemic. Most of the dollars allocated to Clovis Unified have already been spent. CUSD used these funds for learning recovery programs, curriculum, staffing needs and more to assist students during and after the pandemic. In the upcoming school year, remaining dollars are committed for additional technology, facilities, staffing and curriculum that further assists in recovery from pandemic-related challenges. A few highlights include:

- Purchase of technology and equipment so that there is a 1-to-1 student-to-device/computer ratio.
- Replace HVAC units older than 15 years throughout the district to improve air filtration and efficiency. (In process. Completion Fall 2024.)

Bond Dollars & Developer Fees

Voter-approved bond dollars, developer fees, facility funds and innovative money management are used to plan for construction of new schools. Clovis Unified has three schools currently under construction that will ease overcrowding and control class sizes — and these schools were planned based upon available funds earmarked for these projects that were expected to fully support construction costs.

The pandemic changed that. A sharp rise in the price of construction materials, equipment, transportation and labor have resulted in significant challenges. According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, costs have escalated by upward of 30% for non-residential construction. With district projects well underway, the team has been challenged to stretch every dollar and make adjustments where possible, focusing construction on what is essential for school operations.

"A 30% increase on a multi-million dollar project is a lot of money that we cannot just make up by cutting back. We will do everything on our part to adjust plans and become innovative with finances, but these steep escalations likely require a future bond measure to ultimately complete the projects," said Assistant Superintendent of Facility Services Denver Stairs.

Hirayama Elementary is scheduled to open in Fall 2024, and Clovis South High and a yet-to-be-named intermediate school that will be on the Terry P. Bradley Educational Center are planned to begin a phased opening in Fall 2025.

New Ongoing Funds

$6.3M

▶ AB 181, Home-to-School Transportation Reimbursement

The Local Control Funding Formula allocates funding for transportation but leaves a large gap between actual costs and expenses that the district must fund from other accounts. This new state program provides reimbursement of up to 60% of a district's actual cost minus any LCFF transportation money received. This frees district dollars from the General Fund and other funds that previously were used to offset transportation costs.

How it works:

$8.7M	(60% of the $14.5M Total Transportation Expenditure)
-$2.4M	(LCFF Add on)
$6.3M	AB 181 funds received

$6.4M

▶ Prop 28: Arts and Music K-12 Education Funding Initiative

A new voter-approved initiative provides additional annual funding on a per student basis for arts and music education. Clovis Unified will receive $6.4M to use for the 2023-24 year. Because of our long-standing commitment to investing in arts and music education, new funds can be used at the discretion of principals. Each school principal received their school's funds in December and is creating a plan on how to use the money, with input from their school community, that best meets the needs of their school. Examples of uses include:

- Dance • Media Arts • Music • Theatre • Visual Arts • Painting
- Sculpture • Photography • Craft Arts • Graphic Arts & Design
- Computer Coding • Animation • Music Composition
- Ensembles • Script Writing • Costume Design
- Film and Video

4,300 Students

▶ Expanded Learning Opportunities Program

State funds for the Child Development Program now allow for a fee waiver for before- and after-school child enrichment programs (for Clovis Unified's Expanded Learning Club) for qualifying students. Criteria includes English learners, foster/homeless youth or students of low-income families. There are programs offered at every district elementary school and about 4,300 students are participating in these valuable enrichment and intervention programs.

OPPORTUNITIES & CHALLENGES

Important issues impacting Clovis Unified's budget

► Income eligibility applications

Not all of our student families fill out the annual Educational Benefit Survey that asks just two questions: the number of people in a household and the household income range.

Why is this important?

The quick answer is the number of students meeting income qualifications is used by the state and federal governments to calculate how much money school districts receive each year in per pupil funding (See LCFF on Page 3 for details.). If families don't complete the Educational Benefit Survey, the district is underfunded to meet the needs of its students. Currently, the district is the lowest-funded in the area - and it's worth noting that if it received just the Fresno County average, Clovis Unified would receive about $122 million more every year to use for curriculum, staff and learning programs.

More funds for schools, benefits for students

Previously, much of this information was collected from the Free and Reduced Meal Application. But when the state mandated free meals for all students regardless of income, many families stopped filling out that application. The Educational Benefit Survey is in place to ensure accurate reporting (and funding) to meet the needs of our students. This information is also used to determine families which qualify for benefits such as fees to be waived for the Expanded Learning Club or college exams and AP tests.

We do not want to lose a single dollar that would benefit our students' education and encourage all of our families to consider completing this simple form when it is sent each year.

► Unexpected economic variables

The district works carefully to stretch every dollar, be good stewards of the funds it has and create new and innovative efficiencies for saving money. Funds over which the district has control are scrutinized for out-of-the-box thinking and sound financial planning that benefit the district. That can include ways to pay down debt early to lessen interest costs; leveraging existing funds to secure additional matching grant dollars; or using one-time dollars to reduce ongoing operational costs like the recently completed solar project.

30% escalation impacting construction projects

Outside variables, however, add uncertainties and pressure to the district's budget. Much like a household budget is impacted by increasing costs for consumer goods or a declining economy, so too is the district's budget. A slow-down in the housing market may decrease enrollment. Sharply rising prices of commodities and services create unexpected shortfalls. And changing priorities or cuts to the state budget due to revenue deficits mean needed reductions in the district's budget.

Some current challenges faced by your local schools include:

■ Construction - The district's facility bond and developer funds earmarked for construction of three new schools now underway (Hirayama Elementary; Clovis South High; and a yet-to-be-named intermediate school) face a building climate where construction costs have escalated by around 30% due to rising costs of supplies, materials, transportation and labor.

■ Prices - California's step increases in minimum wage, which was $12/hour in 2020 and is now $16/hour in 2024, not only affects the district's payroll account but also many others. Overall, just like your home budget, the district is experiencing cost escalation in everything from paper and ink to fuel and equipment due in part to businesses making price adjustments to support the wage increases.

► Attendance

California schools aren't funded on the number of students enrolled, but on the number of students who attend school on a daily basis. Average daily attendance (ADA) dictates the bulk of state funding for schools, and Clovis Unified plans its budget based on enrollment and attendance projections along with anticipated dollars from all sources. When attendance rates are high, students benefit with more time in class, and a more accurate funding level for our schools. When attendance rates fall, students miss out on learning and millions of dollars to support their education are unavailable to the district.

1% decline in ADA = $5 million less for CUSD schools

Why is this a challenge?

The district must estimate and plan its budget to support our student enrollment, which includes all costs for staff, facilities and programs. Those costs don't decrease if a student misses a day of school, but the funds to pay for those costs do. For Clovis Unified, a 1% decline in ADA equates close to $5 million less to support ongoing education costs.

If a child is not sick, we would encourage parents to make sure their child is at school and to try and avoid planning any vacations on school days. There may be Independent Study Plans available should a prolonged absence be necessary. Check with your school about availability for these plans that meet ADA requirements and also keep your child caught up in their studies.

► Transitional Kindergarten

An exciting change has come to California's public schools with the addition of a full grade level. Transitional kindergarten, or TK, will give our youngest students opportunities to begin building the foundation of their education from developing socialization skills to learning the basics of colors, counting and numbers. The introduction of TK has been a phased-in approach that began in 2021 and will be fully implemented for all 4-year-olds by the 2025-26 school year. The state is making dollars available for staffing and instruction for TK students. The challenge is where to house these new classes on campuses already filled with K-6 grade students. The district is working at each site to identify solutions that range from modifying existing spaces to bringing in portable classrooms, all of which comes with a price. The district will need to find ways to fund these new facility needs.

Public participation makes us better

Opportunities to get involved in upcoming budget discussions, district issues or at your local school are abundant, and we welcome the public's input and feedback. See below for a few of the many ways you can join us, or contact your local school for volunteer opportunities!

Students and the community benefit when we work together

Clovis Unified faces an interesting challenge. It is often perceived as a wealthy district given its quality facilities and consistently strong student achievements in state scores, academic competitions and sporting events - but, per student, it is the lowest funded unified school district in Fresno County.

A big part of our success is that the district has committed, caring teachers and staff whose top priority is to meet the needs of all our students in mind, body and spirit and to do so with efficiency and effectiveness. But we also could not achieve the excellence we strive for without community support.

The many donations, sponsorships, volunteers and partnerships are critical in filling funding gaps, and they help our educational team to more fully engage our students.

We believe strong schools make strong communities, and strong communities make strong schools. It is a critical relationship.

Thank you to the many parents, neighbors, businesses, service clubs, civic groups and foundations who have joined us in our mission to provide students the opportunities to become their very best selves. We invite you to be a part of the journey as, together, we create vibrant learning environments that support our children.

Doc's legacy of support

The Foundation for Clovis Schools is another way to get involved. It is run by a volunteer board of business leaders who host fundraising events and solicit corporate and community donations. The Foundation was the vision of founding Clovis Unified Superintendent Dr. Floyd "Doc" Buchanan to help provide funds where state and federal dollars were not available. Since its start in 1986, the Foundation has raised more than $13.2 million.

In the 2022-23 school year, the Foundation for Clovis Schools:

Raised $5.3M

(includes one-time donation of $4.9M)

Awarded:

157 New Teacher Grants

17 Students of Promise Scholarships

25 Classroom Grants

Provided training and resources to over 130 district leaders through the Doc Buchanan Leadership Academy

To donate or get involved, see FoundationForClovisSchools.com.

Be part of the process

Public participation, review and insights into the budgeting process and budgeting priorities are welcomed.

The budget process starts in January of each year with the "State of the State Address" by the Governor and continues through the state's Adopted Budget plan for the coming fiscal year. Clovis Unified School District, like most school districts in California, is dependent upon the State for much of its annual revenue. CUSD's Adopted Budget revenue projection is developed based on the State Budget, along with the district's student enrollment projection for the budget year.

Budget priorities are discussed as part of the Local Control Accountability Plan (LCAP) and brought to the district's Governing Board. Key dates are to the right. See cUSD.com for updates and full details.

Key dates for budget process

- Jan. 10 Governor's 2024-25 Budget Proposal released

Clovis Unified adds to property value

Strong schools benefit community

Does a school district's success make a difference in the community it serves? We believe it does. Clovis Unified is a destination district.

Businesses open and families move deliberately into our boundaries to benefit from the high standards of our schools and the resulting quality of our neighborhoods.

The district is not the only reason for the thriving community, but Realtors say it is an important one.

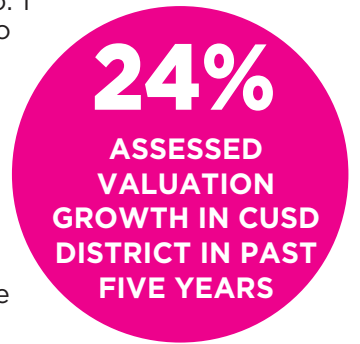

Clovis Unified is ranked No. 1 as the 2023 Best School District in the Fresno County area by Niche, a national ranking and review site used by Realtors, buyers and businesses to find out more about a community when making location decisions.

Clovis Unified strives to strengthen the community by adding to property values, growing business needs and bringing tourism and shopping dollars into the local economy with academic, performance and athletic events at our venues. Additionally, several regional, state and national events use our district's facilities, adding outside spending to the local economy.

Clovis Unified's No. 1 goal will always be to educate students in the best way possible, but we see it as our responsibility to give back to the community that supports us. We are committed to being good stewards of the tax dollars and bond money and to be efficient and innovative with spending, maximizing dollars wherever we can. As the lowest funded school district in the Valley, this is critical.

The Niche ranking confirms what we are doing is making a positive impact, and we want to thank those who have and continue to support our schools, students and staff through donations, volunteerism and a variety of support.

We will continue to do all we can to add value to the community at large and the neighborhood hubs surrounding at each of our schools. We are grateful for your partnership.
