Anna Tambasco

Class of 1980

Born and raised in Copiague, Anna graduated Copiague High School in 1980, and later earned a Business degree from SUNY Farmingdale. Becoming a licensed real estate broker, she owns her own business, Advantage Plus Reality in Copiague. After having recovered from a tragic accident, Anna was determined to achieve her dreams. Serving our community for over twenty years, she has been dedicated to public safety, speaking out on fire prevention, water safety and safe practices for children. She has distinguished herself in her family life, career and community service. She is a positive role model, inspiring others to have high aspirations in their professional and personal lives. Anna is married to James Gallagher, and is a dedicated mother of three children, Richard, Matthew and James.

“If you always do what you’ve always done, you’ll always get what you’ve always gotten.”
