

HALL OF ACHIEVEMENT

2003/2004
Journal

Matthew J. Turner

Class of 1992

Matt served as class president and participated on the wrestling, football and lacrosse teams. He earned the rank of Eagle Scout, received the Coca-Cola National Scholarship and a full academic scholarship to Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). Matt graduated from MIT with a BS in Mechanical Engineering and Political Science. As class president, he delivered the commencement address. After graduation, Matt was the youngest member appointed to the MIT Board of Trustees. Matt served five years in the U.S. Air Force as an intelligence officer including Kosovo and Northern Iraq operations. Captain Turner earned distinction as top officer in Europe and squadron officer of the year. He attained his MBA from the Harvard Business School. Matt is an associate with McKinsey and Company, a global management consulting firm dedicated to providing business solutions to issues facing CEO's.

“Your selection of friends is an important life decision: select only positive one...”