

2015 School Calendar

The 2014–15 school calendar has been adjusted to include staff furlough days that were agreed to in contract negotiations and school board decisions after the school year began.

Furlough Days: Furlough days reduce costs and help balance the budget. On these days, staff do not work and do not get paid. This year's calendar was reduced by one school day and one staff work day when students would not have been in school. The staff professional development and planning day has since been restored.

Change for Students: The school year will be one day shorter. If schools do not close for any snow days this year, the last day of school will be June 10. The other furlough day, which has since been restored, did not change the schedule for students. It would have replaced a staff work day for professional development and planning in March.

Snow Days: If any school days are missed due to hazardous weather, they will be substituted for a scheduled furlough day or made up on days added at the end of the school year.

School Variations: Individual school calendars may vary slightly. Please check your school's calendar for additional important dates, such as parent conference days.
