THE MORCOHI 1925

Published by the Seniors of
Morgan County High School
Hartselle, Alabama

Foreword

If you have the blues and sigh
Dont give up at last and cry,
Just get your annual with it's harmonious strain
To sooth and rest a tired brain.

The seniors with their efforts they've blend,
A worthy High School career as e'er was penned
Morgan's Morcohi is the name
Of our annual, worthy by fame.

Countless efforts have been applauded
And in glory and success recorded.
So if you want to be given a treat,
Just turn to your Morcohi-----
It's contents can't be beat.

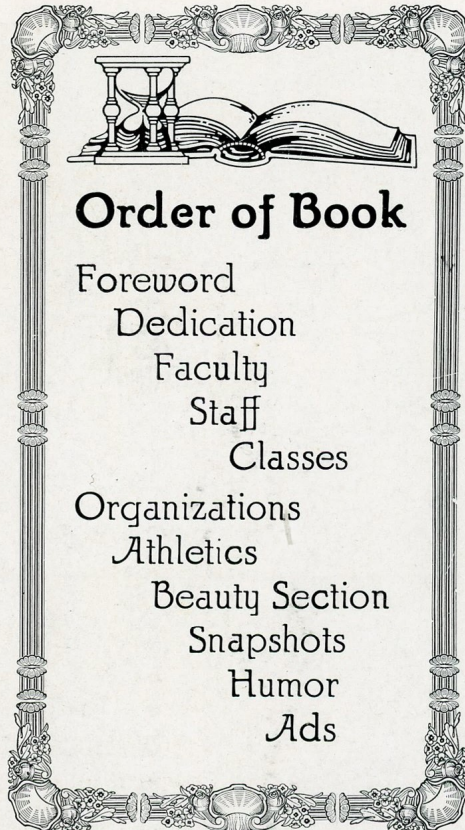

Dedication

To Mr. J. H. Riddle, our educational statesman, our guiding genius, our counselor, our recognition in friend, who through his untiring efforts strove to make for us a greater and better Morgan, we dedicate this our Morgan County High School Annual, The Morcohi.

Senior Class History

If I remember correctly, the sun was shining in full glory that memorable September morn when we fifty-six Freshmen entered the Morgan County High School. Even if clouds hid the sun there was abundant joy in our hearts, for we had finally come to that longed for day when we could claim to be a part of this beloved institution of learning. How bashful and yet how happy we were! And how we respected those Seniors! Would the time ever come when we could be as dignified and "all important" as they?

The Freshman class was composed of boys and girls from all over the county. All entered with a grim determination to meet the trials and tribulations of high school life with courage and a smile, and with Miss DuBose and Professor Riddle as our special guides, we fairly succeeded. And can we ever forget Miss Williams and Mr. DuBose? No never!

After a delightful vacation many of the old Freshmen came back but with the title of "Sophs." It was our time to instruct the new ones of the rules and regulations of our school, just as we had been instructed the preceding year. The football and basketball teams did excellent work and the Sophomores were proud to claim some of these heroes.

At the opening of the next session, 1923, we took our places as Juniors. It was during this year that our esteemed teacher, Mr. Snyder, was compelled, on account of ill-health, to leave his work under the supervision of Mrs. Graves. It was in the Junior year that our first play was given, and may I add that it was highly praised by all who witnessed it.

In '24 Prof. Riddle made the statement that, on account of advanced age, he would not be our principal again. We felt like saying "O Muse, relate to us other causes," for we wondered if we had been in any way responsible for it. Our minds could hardly grasp the thought of losing our beloved teacher whom we had learned to love so intensely. But when the sun had rolled around for us so many years of untiring efforts and service by him whose youth was past, could we not with some degree of willingness give him up with blessings for his faithfulness, forever.

Thus ended our Junior year.

During our vacation Mr. Tiller was elected principal, and we have not been disappointed in him. On September 8, 1924, we entered upon the last lap of our journey through High School. We have the name of Senior High III since the 6-3-3 plan has gone into effect. Of the fifty-five Seniors, only six started in the Hartselle Grammar school eleven years ago, and twenty-two started in the M. C. H. S. four years ago.

As the year nears its close, we look back with pleasure and regret over the past years, but these fade into oblivion when we think of that wonderful something which will soon be awarded us and for which we have striven so long—"Our Diplomas."

Senior Class Prophecy

In 1940 after I had finished a complete course in English at the University of Alabama, and Randolph-Macon I was called to fill a position as head of the English department of Columbia University in New York. I had only been in New York a short time, when I became lonesome and longed to see my friends and my dear old home town.

One day when such a feeling possessed me I walked to the post office to see if any of my old friends had written me even a post card. And to my surprise, a newspaper carefully wrapped was received. This was a disappointment because I was anxious for letters but when I broke the seal I found enclosed a short note which caused a feeling of gladness to come over me and my eyes sparkled. The little note inside the newspaper read thus:

Hartselle, Ala., Nov. 14, 1940

Miss Annie Belle Clemmons,
New York City, N. Y.

Dear Annie Belle:

I know you will be interested in hearing some news of the members of the Class of '25 at M. C. H. S., being so far away from home. We are going to publish quarterly a little paper giving "Society Dots." Concerning the Class of '25, I am sending you a copy of the first edition printed. Should you subscribe, which I trust you will, let us hear from you at once.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Howard Russel (nee Ruth Hartselle)

I eagerly read the following news which it contained:

Dr. Roy Luker, President of Yale College, was in Hartselle recently to visit his friends and relatives. During his stay here he was entertained by Professor Gordon Parker, Principal of Morgan County High School.

Frank Bean, the world's heavy weight champion, was in Hartselle for a short stay recently.

Paul Hampton is in South America studying various kinds of monkeys.

Cleo Sharp the Chemist, has discovered a cheap and effective invention for the production of gasoline from rain water and has made a fortune.

"A Gentleman of Courage," James Oliver Curwood's great novel success, has been filmed under the direction of Cecil Crawford, the so-called "Second Griffith,"—starring Mary Paul Barclift.

A couple of so-called "bachelor girls," Frances Stewart and Myrtle Stover, having lost all faith in man have established a home where they will be safe from all such intruders.

J. G. Eady, Jr., and Franklin Stewart, members of the E. & S. Patent Medicine Co., have recently placed on the market their own brand of cough drops—so superior to all others that the company can scarcely supply the demand. Luden and Smith Bros. have gone into bankruptcy.

More speed demons on the typewriter. Pearl McCaghren and R. V. Higginbotham tried for first place in the recent typewriting contest and are now world champions.

Fletcher Jones, the recent purchaser of the Ringland Bros. Circus, will present his reorganized company in Hartselle next week. Some special attractions will be: Annie Free, champion bareback rider; Otto Jones, with his wonderful trained fleas; and Grace Ryan, the snake charmer.

Reuben Orr the "hot dog king," has opened another branch store in Hartselle. This is the tenth of his chain of stores established in and around Hartselle.

Ruth Brindley and Mabel Freeman will leave soon for the Philippines where they are going for the purpose of persuading the natives to adopt a modern and suitable costume. It is hard for us to imagine the dusky South Sea maiden in a costume. But luck to you, girls.

All radio instruments were busy in Hartselle last Tuesday night. The attraction was a concert given by Harold Orr's Orchestra.

Hobert Winton, Librarian of the City Library, will go to Chicago next week to attend the National Convention of Librarians.

Jimmie Edwards and Gordon Groover the world's famous aviators, are planning a trip to Mars at an early date. The plane, by means of which they hope to accomplish this marvelous enterprise, has been constructed under the direction of Kyle Stover. They are going to install one of Paul Hodges radios which he has just invented. Paul will demonstrate this newly invented machine on the planet of Mars.

Mary Parker is conducting a home for stray dogs and cats in Hartselle. She feeds and takes care of these dear animals until places can be found for them in the homes of responsible people.

Sue Ellen Palmer will leave for Washington next week where she will become Assistant Secretary to President Speaks (our Lammer).

Conrad Bates has recently become pastor of Seventh Avenue Christian Church in Philadelphia.

Wilma Lamon is now teaching mathematics at Randolph-Macon College.

Dr. Howard Russel has recently constructed a new bungalow on Main street where he and his new bride, Ruth Hartselle will reside.

Buey Tomlinson has recently been elected a Judge of the Supreme Court.

Stella Crutchfield, Mary Matkin, Lottie Bean, Eva Slaten, Sarah English, Lois Miller, Sue Payne, and Lorene Speake are running an old maid's home in Flint, Alabama.

Albert Earl McClanahan is unmarried and has had a date with every young lady who comes to Hartselle.

Katherine Pattillo and Nan Henderson are rivals of Norma and Constance Talmadge.

Lucile Edwards and Ed Collier are married and are travelling in Florida.

Elizabeth Riggs and Cecil Hampton are married and are running a boarding house in Danville.

Elbert Greer is transporting pretty girls from New York to California in an airplane.

Elsie Rowe is manager of a beauty parlor in Boston.

Ruth King and Elbert Pope were united in wedlock at the home of the bride's parents in Falkville last Sunday.

Fannie Hardwick has recently obtained a position as manicurist at Loveman, Joseph and Loeb's.

Ina Luker is teaching Domestic Science in M. C. H. S. this year.

Jewell Jones was in Natural Bridge the past week securing subscriptions for the Country Gentleman and the Ladies Home Journal.

Ethel Bennett has taken her position as coach of the girls' basketball team in Falkville, Alabama.

When I had finished reading the last words of the little paper which Ruth had been so kind to send me, shadows were falling upon this mother earth. So at this time I retired and dreamed of the old class mates of '25.

ANNIE BELLE CLEMMONS

Senior Class Will

The joys and privileges of life are many—its pleasures manifold; yet thruout all the happiest moments comes the sad wails, "This, too, shall pass away." The class of 1925 of Morgan County High School is doomed to pass from high school to return, no more.

This, then the fatal hour we have dreaded for so many weeks—is the end. Draw near all you, who have been friends of this illustrious class, and listen to her last will and testament.

I, Ruth Brindley, an authorized representative of the Senior Class of 1925 of the M. C. H. S. have assembled you together on this most solemn occasion for the purpose of listening to our last words.

"We, the Class of 1925, of the Morgan County High School, having come to our last hours, being of sound mind, and possessed of a certain amount of knowledge, acquired in our high school days, do hereby give, bequeath all our worldly goods to the following beneficiaries:

ITEM I

To our most beloved faculty we bequeath:

1. All the patience, self-sacrifice, forbearance, and long-suffering ever possessed by us, they shall need it in the year to follow.
2. Our appreciation for their kindness and consideration during the hardest, happiest and most beneficial years of our life.

ITEM II

To the Junior Class we bequeath our seats in chapel, all tears shed in the exams, all the wrong answers written down in moments of excitement and nervousness, and all our privileges which were few.

ITEM III

We do hereby individually give and bequeath the following:

1. To Ruby Glasscock and Altha Barclay, Mary Paul Barcliff's musical talent, the spirit of jazz included.
2. To Mayme Harris, Lottie Bean's tall and willowy figure.
3. To Katherine Burleson, Ethel Bennett's secret of playing basketball.
4. To Lazelle Lovelady, Ruth Brindley's love for history and chemistry.

5. To Sallie Renay Tomlinson, Wilma Laymon's dignity.
6. To Gilbert Bean, Conrad Bates' Library and studious disposition.
7. To Mildred Harris, all the Senior's old vanity cases, lipsticks, powder puffs, combs, etc.
8. To Sim Lovelady, Harold Parker, Aubry Nichols, Bracken Puckett, Kirkland Ratliff, and Elbert Pope the ability Kyle Stover and Albert Earl McClanahan have to vamp all the good looking girls and to look like a "sheik."
9. To Will Evelyn Bean, Ruth King's lovely auburn hair and cheery manners.
10. To Willard Nelson, Opal Winton, and Elliot Howell are left Paul Hodge's Fletcher Jones', and Otto Jones' ability to play football.
11. To Eugene Orr, Hobert Winton's and Cecil Crawford's rules, signals and general ability to play basketball.
12. To Norma Sharpley and Edith Dunaway, Myrtle Stover's love of dancing and her arts and devices as a beauty.
13. To Ruby Puckett, Lucile Edwards' "specs" (take care of 'em Ruby and don't lose 'em).
14. To Velma Vinsant, Lois Jones and Buford Kracke, the dignity, modesty, and quietness of Ina Luker, Sue Ellen Palmer, Sue Payne and Annie Free.
15. To Evelyn Nelson, Mabel Freeman's demure nature.
16. To Comer Lile, J. G. Eady's poetical ability.
17. To Paul Roper and Willis Winton, Jimmy Edward's accuracy in love affairs.
18. To Thomas Stewart, is left Cleo Sharp's ability to throw chalk when the teacher is not looking.
19. To Luna and Gurdys Williams, Ella Atkinson, May Thornton, and Thelma Sparkman are left all the chewing gum boxes of "dates" and chocolate milks, so necessary to Grace Ryan, Elsie Rowe, Nan Henderson, and Ruth Hartselle's happiness.
20. To Clifton Drinkard and Hadley Parker, are bequeathed the wit and funny disposition of Lamar Speaks and Gordon Parker.
21. Elizabeth Riggs, Fannie Hardwick and Lorene Speake cheerfully leave all hard lessons to Howard Evans, E. H. Henderson and Lizzie Johnson, with a hope for success.

22. Mary Parker, Sarah English, Eva Slaten and Pearl McCaghren, are leaving all text books and note books in history, mathematics and science to those who need them most.

23. Annie Bell Clemmons and Katherine Pattillo leave all Latin and French composition work to the next year Virgil and French classes.

24. R. V. Higginbotham, Jewell Jones, Lois Miller and Frances Stewart will their book on how to write love letters to Irene Gurly, Leasel Brindley, and Pauline Sharp.

25. Elbert Greer, Cecil Hampton, and Paul Hampton leave their dictionary, left over pencils, ink, erasers and unused theme paper to the new graduating class.

26. Franklin Stewart leaves his midnight study habit to Howard Evans and Elbert Pope.

27. Harold Orr, Roy Luker and Gordon Groover bequeath their right to speak, argue with pupils, and flights of fancy to all members of the new Senior Class, who are unable to recite when the teacher requests.

28. Reuben Orr and Frank Bean leave all hopes and desires for honor roll to Dolly Winton, Jewell Shipp, and Alice White.

29. To Novie Winton, Gladys Russell, Ruby Morris, and Eva Thompson, Stella Crutchfield bequeaths her formula for that school girl complexion.

If any beneficiary attempts to nullify or contest the provisions of this legal document they shall be deprived of all rights and privileges therein granted to him or her.

Hereunto I have set my hand and seal.

RUTH BRINDLEY,

The Knocker

The Senior Class has asked me to represent them as class knocker and that's something I cannot do, and I simply refuse to do it. Why should they ask me to do a thing like this, for I am sure there are many others who can do it much better; for instance there is Francis Stewart or Lottie Bean, either of them are regular grumblers, so why not let them do it. You know I think that the Senior Class is rather punkey this year. Why they take chances on most anything that comes along, even subscribing to pay a certain school twenty-five dollars.

Listen, people, please tell me if you all had rules when you went to school? Well I should say we have; we even have a rule about sitting in our own cars. Now what do you know about that? Now let me see: "Girls stay on your side of the building." "Don't sit on the curb." "Don't powder your face during school;" and "Boys walk slowly up and down the steps!" "Do not throw crayon!" For whosoever doeth this shall surely walk the campus two hours after school. Now if I were the teacher I would never make rules like these, and there are two other things I would make an improvement on, they are: "The Laggard List" and "the Courting List." Why what's the use of getting up in chapel and reading out the pupils' names who flunked, for it would do no good, it will only make the poor dears cry and this makes their eyes swell all up so then they will not be able to study as hard the next month; as for the Courting List, when I get to be a teacher I am going to let the boys and girls sit together.

The teachers require us to bring a certain kind of dictionary to school this year and I think it perfectly foolish because they are much too large, heavy and bunglesome for us to wag from one room to another, I think the teachers should have a dictionary on each pupil's desk when they come to class.

If you just happen to go into a room in the morning Miss DuBose says, "Who gave you permission to come into this room, I'll see about this!" And it's terrible to hear Mr. Snyder say, "Do that immediately if not sooner!" If you happen to say something out loud Mr. Tiller says, "Some one is thinking out loud over there." Or hear Miss Hines say, "Stop talking please," or Miss Simms, "You do know too," and then Miss McKenry will say, "See me at 3 o'clock." About that time Mr. Lile will point a stick at you because you are talking, then if you happen to go into music, Miss Wichman will say, "Do you see? Use your head!" And if you listen you can hear Mr. Anderson in the next room saying, "Awright begin on page 166 tomorrow." Now what would you do if you had to listen to all of that? It does seem that we should not be obliged to hear all these things every day.

You know I don't like the situation of the M. C. H. S., I do wish it were in a place where it rains lots, for you know Mr. Tiller lets us out at one o'clock if it's bad weather, and just for that it never rains, only of course when we are going to have a ball game.

The teachers believe in giving you more work than you can do, each teacher thinks his subject is more important than all the others, judging from the lessons assigned! Thus each teacher gives us plenty to think about and expects us to sit up all night and THINK.

Oh dear me I do believe I have taken a few minutes of your valuable time; I must stop talking before some of you accuse me of being a regular knocker.

MYRTLE VIRGINIA STOVER, '25

Toilers of Tomorrow

With prophetic minds of broadest gauge
 We are the herald of a newer age;
 We, with lofty shoulders bend,
 Who build a service crown for men.

To us the torch has been thrown adown
 To light and kindle the world around;
 To bear will power to a thousand souls
 Stronghold against secret woes.

We seek no crown at all but worth
 A crown not gilded for a self of mirth;
 But tinsel with the fire of men,
 And the world's brand for those who win.

And, may we look forward, preserving to the last,
 From well to better, daily self-surpast,
 That which we do value must be best,
 And worth Capstone of World's Success.

Junior Class History

On September 8, 1922, a group of proud, but somewhat frightened young people assembled in Room 6 at M. C. H. S. as the Freshman Class of 1922.

After the class officers had been elected and the class properly organized, we began our career as students of M. C. H. S.

Dan Cupid has wrought havoc in our class, having captivated several pupils who have set sail on the stormy (?) sea of matrimony. Others have drifted away from M. C. H. S. and new pupils have taken their places. Only about half of our original class has remained with us so far. Our chief aim is to become graduates of the M. C. H. S. We have almost passed the third milestone in our race and are nearing the goal, hoping to secure a sheepskin as a reward for our success.

Sophomore Class History

On September 8, 1924, our class came together for another session of school. Of course, some of the old familiar faces were missing, but as we had four new members we termed it as a good record. Everyone was glad that we did not have to go through the initiation which fell to our lot as Freshmen the year before.

Miss Virginia McKenry was assigned the position as teacher over our room. This pleased us very much for we had heard of her good reputation.

The whole school joined us in our deep sorrow at the knowledge that Mr. Riddle, that noble old gentleman who has done so much to promote the young manhood and womanhood of our community, would no longer be our principal. He was retiring from public duties after approximately forty years' service. Despite the gloom that hung over us on account of the above cause, we all joined in the hearty welcome accorded Professor Tiller. The more intimately we become acquainted with him the more we appreciate him.

When school was well under way and the "kinks" had been straightened out, our class president called us together to elect class officers. Kate Sabotka was elected President, Ruth Thompson was elected Vice-President and Ruth Puckett, Secretary. This spelled defeat for the boys, but we again gained courage when the honor roll for the first month showed no girl's names.

In several contests our class has been victorious, probably the most notable of these contests was one put on and sponsored by the local P. T. A. The object was to see which class could have the most mothers present at a special meeting of that praise-worthy organization. Our class won and the prize was a large red banner with a white border and the letters M. C. H. S. in white on a red background.

A misfortune came to our class however. when we lost the football championship to the "Freshies." It was a clean, well-fought game, but we were out-classed. Though we have always been good losers and the tears we shed were few and far between.

So goes the daily life of our school. But our class stands united for clean sports and games, and our names will forever fall on the ears of the foe like that of Marius at Cimbri.

Freshman Class History

On September 8, 1924, a happy band of Freshmen entered upon their career in M. C. H. S., unaware of the initiation which was soon to follow.

In 1918, we started our first year's work in the grammar school. During the seven years that followed only five of those who started with us have remained faithful to the class.

During the first half of the year's work many new pupils have entered our class and others have withdrawn. At the first of the year we had seventy-three pupils in our class, but now we have only sixty-one.

We are looking forward to 1928 when we shall finish our career in Morgan County High School.

Football Team

GILBERT BEAN (Gib), End

Bean didn't practice much, especially in the early season, thus he only got to play in one game. But we may safely say he will be a star player another year.

A. E. McCLANAHAN (Brother Dear), Quarterback

"Brother Dear" played pretty good football at times although he was not an extra fine tackler. He was the jelly bean and soda jerker of the team.

HAROLD McCLANAHAN (Mack), Guard

Mack is a good linesman. He played a great deal better in some games than others. He has two more years, so we hope he will give us something better each year.

HOWARD EVANS (Country), Halfback

Country played in the backfield the greater part of the time. He also played center for a short time. Country has another year and we hope that he will fight harder next year.

OPAL WINTON (Red), Halfback

Red has proven himself worthy of the position of halfback this year, and as he has another year we sincerely hope he will maintain the good work he has begun.

WILLARD NELSON (Bill), Fullback

Bill is our signal caller. Morgan always depended on Bill to give the ball to the right man and call for the right play. Bill always gains ground when given the ball.

JAMIE CLEERE, Tackle

Jamie was the hardest tackler on Morgan's team last season. He has two more years here. Let's hope he keeps the good work going.

FLETCHER JONES (Fletch), Quarterback

Fletch is the hardest line driver on Morgan's team. He played hard all season but was unlucky in making touchdowns.

LAUREN GARRISON (Red), Halfback

Red was always noted for his end runs and line bucks. When ever Morgan was in a tight the cheering crowds cried, "Give it to Red!"

PRINCE CHENAULT, Guard

Chenault has two more years here. Although he did good blocking at times, we hope he will be better next year and then be a real star year arter next.

OTTO JONES (Tobe), End

Tobe is the lighest man on our team, but according to our opponents' view he is about the heaviest, for he is a good tackler on the defensive and as good on the offensive.

ELLIOTT HOWELL (Mule), Tackle. (Captain-elect)

We feel sure that our team will be guided properly next season by Captain Mule Howell. Mule is a good tackler and a hard fighter, and certainly lives up to his name as a kicker.

HADLEY PARKER, Guard

Hadley proved himself a mighty good guard last season, and we are looking forward to his delivering the goods in due form another year.

AUBREY NICHOLS (Nick), Center

Nick played a good center last season and as he will be with us another year we need not have any worry finding a good center next season.

PAUL HODGES, Captain and Guard

Paul has proven himself worthy of the position of captain. Paul was the heaviest man on the team last season and did some mighty good blocking throughout the season. We regret that he will not be with us next year.

ELLIOTT LINDSEY (Shorty), End

Lindsey played both end and tackle. He was noted for hard hitting. He played especially well at Albertsville.

KYLE STOVER, Manager and Tackle

Kyle played tackle the greater part of the time, but was center for a short while. Kyle was hurt in the Jasper game and was never able to do much good after that.

BUEY TOMLINSON (Tommy), End

Tommy is an extra strong player in every respect. He was the only player that scored on the Cullman County team last season. He was also honorably mentioned for the all-state team.

Bits of By-Play

We editors may tug and toil
 Till our finger tips are sore,
 But some poor fish is sure to say:
 "I've heard that joke before."

————MORCOHI————

Mr. Snyder sent one of his Physics pupils into the Senior room to ask if any one had seen his red pencil. Lamar at once raised his hand. On being asked if he had seen it he replied, "Yes, I saw most of it on my chemistry laboratory note-book."

————MORCOHI————

Cecil (looking on a pretty scene): "Isles of View."
 Elizabeth: "Did you say, 'I love you'?"

————MORCOHI————

Cleo: "Why is a school room like a Ford?"
 Hobert: "I don't know, why?"
 Cleo: "Because there is a crank in front of a bunch of nuts."

————MORCOHI————

Gordon Parker: "Pa, what is most liable to get broke about our auto?"
 Mr. Parker: "The owner, my son."

————MORCOHI————

It's a wonderful thing for the women
 Is the popular permanent wave,
 Now it's up to some clever inventor
 To get out a permanent shave.

————MORCOHI————

Harold (in Latin): "The king flees."
 Miss Hines: "Wrong. Use the perfect form, put a has in it."
 Harold: "The king has flees."

Popular Song Hits

She is only a moonshiner's daughter, but I love her still.
 She's not an electrician's daughter, but she gave me an awful shock.
 Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'—By U. S. Weather Bureau.
 Silent Knight—By Mr. Willys.

Mr. Snyder (in Laboratory): "Anything expands when it gets hot and contracts when it gets cold."

Mary Parker: "That explains it."

Mr. Snyder: "Explains what?"

Mary: "Why the days are long in summer and short in winter."

—————MORCOHI—————

Reuben's Soliloquy: Kiss her first, then look for the mistletoe.
