Question 6 "other" Responses

- Trauma informed training for staff
- No opinion
- more trap support with COST OF SHELLS AND CLAYS
- Allow at least one mental health day, that counts as an excused absence
- A certified tutoring system available to the students. The only options now are the teachers in a 20 minute class. This is not sufficient time for concepts to be taught, driven and then assessed.
- More Sped teachers

- No social workers
- More aids for one on one
- I double second the new curriculum/program to support students social-emotional needs. I have had this conversation SO many times. Our kids NEED this SO MUCH!!!!
- I believe that a certified art teacher or therapist in the elementary school could help serve students with mental and emotional support. It is also a source for identifying issues, as many students will express themselves through art.
- N/A
- Mental Health Awareness
