Foreword

The pattern of the school year is set by the seasons, in studies, sports, and special events.

To the freshman, autumn is the most important time of the year, for it is then that he begins high school. Winter is a season for serious studying, indoor sports, and gala Christmas affairs. Then it is spring, the season when seniors reach their goal: graduation.

The Viking presents the 1958-59 school year—in autumn, in winter, in spring.

Dedication . . .

Mr. Delbert Scott has completed his eleventh year as an instructor at Kingsburg High School. During these eleven years, he has not only taught Journalism I, English III and English IV, but has also served as an adviser to the annual and newspaper staffs.

The 1959 Viking staff feels that without Mr. Scott's help the yearbook couldn't have been produced. Because of his willingness to make the '59 Viking "different," his "gentle" reminders to help us meet the deadlines, his sacrifice of free time to work on production problems, and his experience that proved invaluable to us, the staff knows that this Viking would not be complete without the proper dedication.

It is with much pride, therefore, that the annual staff dedicates the 1959 Viking to its adviser, Mr. Delbert Scott.

Administration

Mr. Robert E. Hummel, district superintendent and principal, dictates a letter to Mrs. Harlan, secretary, about the Viking oil painting, done by Mr. Harry Dines, former art instructor at K.H.S.

Mr. Ejnar Peterson, vice-principal, checks over the record of absences with Nevis Finos, student secretary.

The Board of Trustees have given willingly of their time toward the success, the development, and the happiness of the students. They have planned a school in which the students are prepared for their future goals in life.

Mr. Robert Hummel, formerly a school administrator at Hemet, California, capably carried out his duties as principal in his first year at K.H.S.

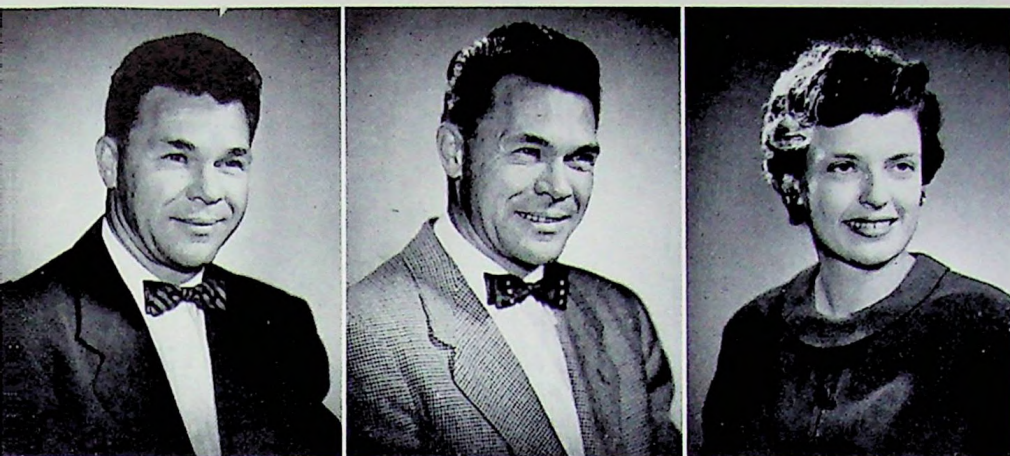

Mr. Ejnar Peterson not only handled his varied duties as vice-principal, but also taught an advanced mathematics class.

Mrs. Doris Harlan, school secretary, has a vital role at K.H.S. She is always busy keeping the office work running smoothly and efficiently.

icular activities to keep them busy

Fresh, inquisitive, bewildered, but willing, the class of 1962 began an unsure year in strange surroundings. To prepare themselves for the journey that lay ahead, the freshman class entered wholeheartedly into its class projects and school activities.

The annual reception given by the seniors was the first taste of social life for the new high schoolers.

After much thought and preparation, the freshmen adopted their class constitution, along with their class colors—pastel green and silver—and their motto, "The Success of Tomorrow Lies in the Education of Today," and they elected their class officers.

A traditional activity in new class experiences was gathering wood for a bonfire rally that never materialized.

A highlight of the year was the first class-sponsored dance, entitled "Winter Frolic."

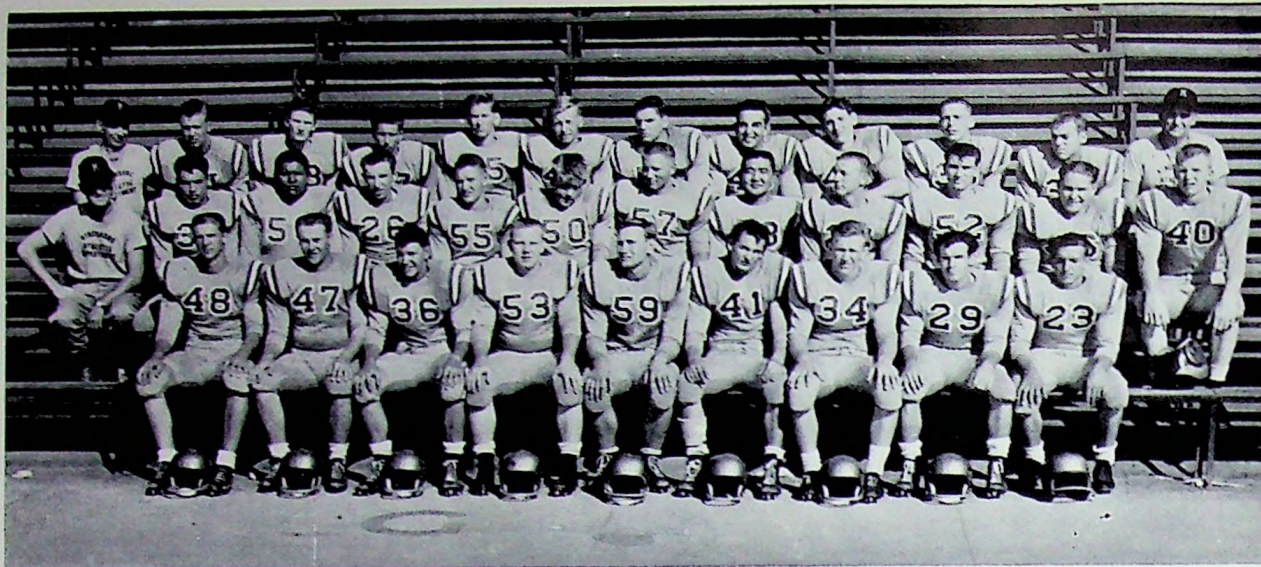

The class of 1962 had a successful year under the guidance of trained advisers, and the members are looking forward to three more busy and fun-packed years at KHS.

Vikings remain the champions

Starting the year with good prospects of making the varsity eleven a winning team, Charles Moore, KHS head varsity coach, along with Hal Jenkins and Dale Graybill, assistant coaches, led the boys through weeks of training and hard work and emerged from the practices with a championship team.

The game with Washington Union of Easton, the first of four non-league games which the Vikings played, opened the '58 football season for KHS. Other schools that KHS played in nonleague competition were Orosi, Reedley and the Fresno High School Junior Varsity, all victims of Viking prowess.

In league competition, the Vikings walked off with the first game with Exeter by a score of 35 to 6. The varsity continued their high-point victories over Sanger, Lemoore, and Dinuba.

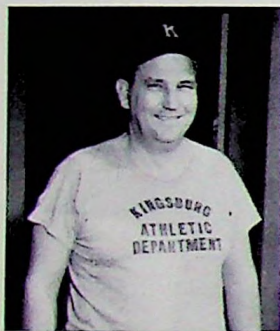

A surprise to the league occurred when the Fowler Redcats played a topnotch game and held the Vikings to a 20-to-20 tie.

The major attraction of the season, not only for the two schools involved but for the surrounding area, was the much-discussed Selma-Kingsburg game. Selma was generally favored because of their all-victorious record compared with Kingsburg's record of six wins and one tie.

The Vikings and the Bears both played a good game that was witnessed by a sellout crowd. After a close and exciting battle, the Vikings came out the top team with the score 20 to 14 to clinch the league championship.

Service clubs of Kingsburg honored the Viking football squad and their coaches and managers at a banquet on December 9. A highlight of the evening was the presentation of the most valuable player award to halfback Truman Hawkins.

Hawkins and Dennis Palm were the 1958 co-captains for the football team.

Little Vikings secure the co-championship

Under the direction of Coach Ralph Crews, the KHS B-class football squad marched off the field with a co-championship title tucked under their arms.

The Little Vikings started the season with a non-league game against Washington Union High School. During the first quarter the breaks were against the KHS B team. However, Washington Union wasn't ahead very long. Kingsburg's squad seemed to have gained extra strength to beat the Panthers by a score of 13 to 6. Other non-league games were with Orosi and Reedley.

Except for losing to Sanger and tying with Selma in the last game of the season, the KHS B team won all of the league games. A win over the Selma Cubs would have given the Little Vikes the undisputed league championship. Instead, the championship was a three-way tie between Kingsburg, Sanger, and Dinuba.

Co-captains of the 1958 B-class team were Jerry Berman and John Dodson.

Lightweight squad has regular game schedule

Coach Robert Grate's lightweight football squad, composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores, worked hard to better themselves and to become good prospects for the regular line-up next year.

This group proved it had good potential strength at the practice scrimmages with Reedley and several member teams of the Central Sequoia League. At these scrimmages the Little Vikings gained invaluable experience.

During the regular season, the squad learned and practiced diligently the all-important fundamentals of football. On some occasions, the C-class members would be allowed to dress in uniform with the "B" regulars; and during the season several members of the "C's" were promoted to the regular team.

Coach Grate, also line coach for the regulars, worked hard and patiently to help the Little Vikings become good football players.

The goal of this spirited group of players was to gain experience for next year's B-squad, for which they will provide the starting line-up.

Cross- country

Gary Otterson, senior harrier, was the only member of Kingsburg High School's cross-country track team.

Mr. Lowell Draper, English and speech teacher, coached "the team" after school. During training, Gary ran approximately ten miles every day.

Otterson ran in meets at Reedley, Delano, and Selma, where he placed sixth.

C and D basketball is training for "big time"

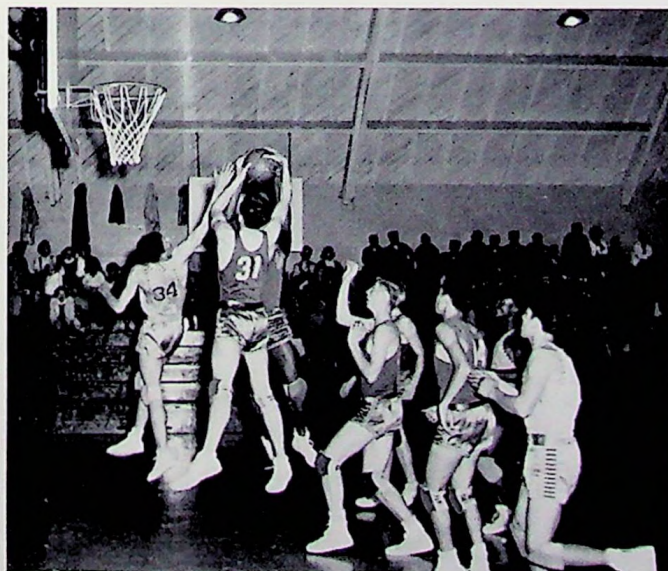

The C and D basketball teams, coached by Mr. Lowell Draper, competed in league play and extracted a 1-5 and 0-3 record, respectively, in the Central Sequoia League standings. Some of the teams played were Selma, Sanger, Dinuba, Immanuel, Lemoore, and Exeter. Although well down in rank, the C and D cagers lost many of their games by close margins.

Through the patient coaching of Mr. Draper, both squads produced well-balanced teams in spite of the fact that neither squad had any returning veterans.

Consequently, the C and D teams had the potential, but lacked experience. However, these factors did not dampen the spirits of the Little Vikings, for they proved themselves to be one of the most spirited teams on the basketball court.

Accentuating the color and spirit of the snappy KHS band were six high-stepping majorettes, led by Judy Nelson, head majorette and the only upperclassman.

Three yell leaders contributed greatly to the spirit and enthusiasm at all the football and basketball games. Barbara Parker, head yell leader, was assisted by Rita Jensen and Sam Vallis. These pepsters, who also led the pep rallies, strove to maintain a spirit of good sportsmanship at all the games.

GAA sponsors sports and social activities

The Girls' Athletic Association is a club devoted to furthering interest in sports for all girls.

The first event of the year was the initiation of all new members. The girls had to dress in their fathers' overalls and work shirts with their hair done up in 20 pigtails.

On December 20, Carole Starkey, junior, was crowned queen of the GAA Christmas formal, the theme of which was "Christmas Fantasy."

The members attended three playdays during the year—a volleyball playday in Dinuba, an all-sports day in Orosi, and a basketball playday in Reedley.

Spring clothes made their appearance as the club sponsored the annual Spring Day on March 20. The dance held that evening was the setting for the crowning of a king and a queen.

Youth-For-Christ club has large membership

Evangelism, fellowship, and spiritual strengthening make up the purpose of the Youth For Christ Club.

Y.F.C. is an interdenominational club that met every Friday in the Kingsburg Baptist Church. This year, for the first time, the Y.F.C. club had a sponsor, Coach Sam Crandell.

Outstanding themes for meetings were "Y.F.C. Bandstand" and "This Is Your Life." An interesting guest was Tony Fontane, former Mercury label singer. Rallies held with Dinuba, Selma, and Parlier once a month included quizzes, speakers, and Christian films.

In a contest to increase membership, the juniors and freshmen won and were given a party by the seniors and sophomores.

Mr. Jene Wilson, club director for the Fresno County Y.F.C., helped make this year's program a success.

The Block K sponsored many activities for the pleasure of the public this past year. In January the club presented a basketball game between the Fresno Wheelers, a group of paraplegics, and several students and faculty members of Kingsburg High School.

Another highlight of the year sponsored by Block K was a basketball game between the All-American Redheads, world-champion girls' professional basketball team, and a "selected" group of KHS faculty members.

An activity which gave the spectators many laughs was the donkey basketball game in February, played between the Block K boys and the members of the Kingsburg High School agriculture department.

Other projects sponsored by the club were two Amateur Athletic Union basketball games.

The object of the Block K Club is to foster good citizenship and to aid in teaching the real meaning of athletics. In order to become a member of Block K, a boy must have received a varsity letter in football, basketball, baseball, or track. There were 27 members in the club this year.

an important event for the Class of '61

The sophomores jogged off on the second lap of their high school careers by sponsoring a "Turkey-in-the-Straw" dance to put the school in the Thanksgiving spirit. They also celebrated the coming of spring with a late April dance.

Two parties were planned by the class for the second semester, one on roller skates, the other at the "Ole Swimmin' Hole" of KHS.

Receiving their class rings seemed to have been the most important event of the year. The class of '61 chose as their ring style, "The Convertible."

Sponsors were Miss Bernice Newbecker, Mrs. James Flick, Mr. Robert Grate, Mr. Ralph Crews, Mr. Cornelius Rohrer, and Mr. Sam Crandell, chairman.

Basketball team plays hard-fought games

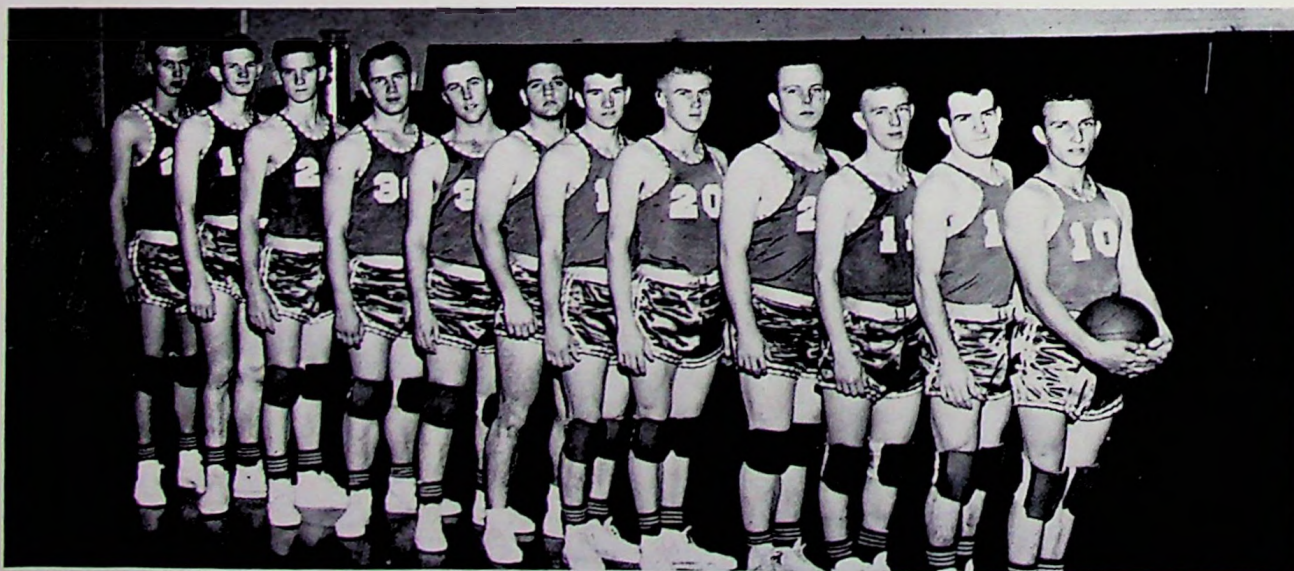

Competition in the Central Sequoia League was exceptionally keen this year for the KHS Varsity squad.

Outstanding players were Gary Paulsen, Gary Lunsford, Truman Hawkins, John Fentress, and Jim Scott, all of whom performed in the true KHS spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship.

Handicapped because of lack of height and experience, the squad had difficulty keeping up with their much taller opponents in the league. Under the fine coaching of Mr. Ralph Crews, however, the team improved in skill and overcame many of its handicaps.

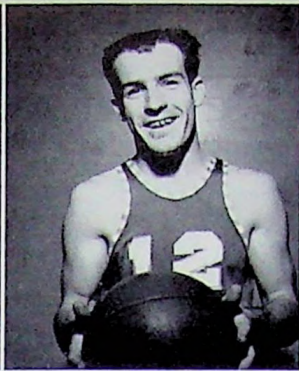

The varsity basketball squad won ten games and lost nine this year. One of the most thrilling games of the season was the second encounter with Lemoore High School, resulting in victory for the KHS Vikings.

B's fought for second-place title

With a score of nine wins and three losses, the Kingsburg High School B-class basketball team tied for second place in the Central Sequoia League.

Dave Chavez, Joe Perez, Ronald Landseadal, Charles Joslin, Bill Johnson, and Richard Green were the first-string players. Since there were six boys who were good enough to make the first string, they had to trade off.

The team members made a record of 39.3 baskets per game, a mark which was topped by only one other school. Except for losing twice to Lemoore and once to Sanger, the Little Vikings won all of their league games.

Wrestlers gain experience for future

The Kingsburg High School wrestling team, under the coaching of Mr. Sam Crandell, came through a successful season this year.

The wrestling schedule consisted of the following high schools: Mt. Whitney and Redwood of Visalia, Madera, Fresno, Roosevelt, Bullard, Chowchilla, Sanger, and Reedley.

Jim Fox, 165-pound class, and James Perez, 127-pound class, won second place in the novice tournament in Fresno, December 13.

Although the team was considered the underdog, the members should be credited for their never-say-die spirit and all-round performance, because through sheer determination and competitive spirit, on many occasions they proved themselves the victor.

Hi-Y shows motion

Under the leadership of Edwin Smith, president, and Mr. Murl Dodson, adviser, the Hi-Y has seen another useful year.

Although somewhat smaller this year, the club was still very active and accomplished many things. The main project the club attempted was to show movies during the noon hour, which proved very popular with the student body and enabled the club to raise enough money to buy a cinemascope lens for the school projector.

Members of the Hi-Y attended several conferences and special events. At the leadership conference at Camp Gaines in October, Edwin Smith was elected treasurer of the Fresno County YMCA council.

At their annual Christmas program, the Hi-Y took in money and canned goods for the needy in exchange for admission.

In March the club completed and carried out their Cleanup campaign plans, picking up debris and cans along the roads entering Kingsburg. Another campaign, Keep Kampus Klean, was planned to be carried out in case the KHS campus might need it.

For their contribution to the YMCA World Service Fund, which goes to foreign countries to help with the starting of new clubs, the Hi-Y gave a total of fifteen dollars.

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members had several joint parties throughout the year.

C.S.F. breaks all previous membership records

The Kingsburg chapter of the California Scholarship Federation started its year by selecting new officers for the fall semester.

On October 25, the annual fall C.S.F. conference, which convened in Kingsburg, drew an attendance of over three hundred C.S.F. members from the fourteenth district.

As in past years, the C.S.F. earned money for scholarships with the popcorn concession at all home football and basketball games.

Over the week end of March 13-15, fifty-six C.S.F. members and their chaperons enjoyed a sight-seeing trip to San Francisco.

New officers were elected in February for the spring semester.

The spring C.S.F. regional conference took place in San Jose, California, on April 13.

Jeanette Christopher and Bonnie Bergman register students at the C.S.F. fall conference.

At the end of the San Francisco trip, 38 tired C.S.F.ers wait for late-comers to board the bus.

This class began an active year by giving a dance in the school cafeteria. To add to the treasury, the juniors were in charge of concessions at all local sports events and sold green-and-gold pompons for the games.

February marked the month for many activities. The second dance, Cupid's Capers, was given on St. Valentine's Day, a white tree decorated with pink heart leaves being the center of attraction. Long hours of rehearsal were spent on the junior play, "The Curious Savage," which was presented on February 19 and 21.

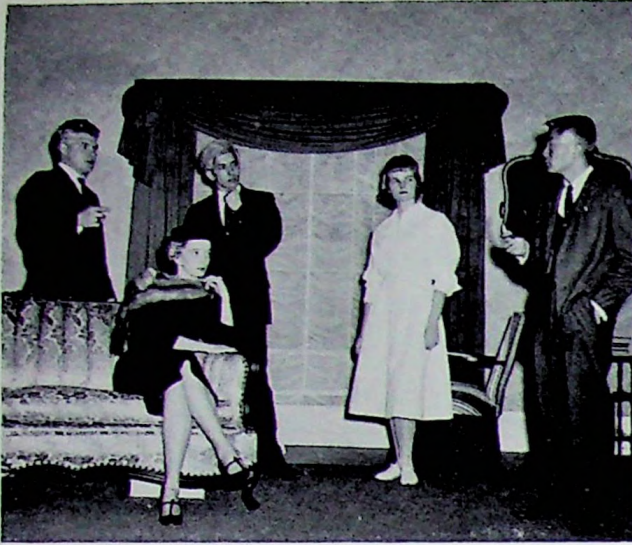

The climax of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, the theme of which was "Roman Holiday."

This year the junior class presented one of John Patrick's plays. "The Curious Savage." The setting of the three-act comedy is The Cloisters, a mental institution.

Mrs. Savage, an elderly lady, is taken to The Cloisters by her stepchildren so that she will not spend the Savage fortune on things they think are foolish.

At the institution, Mrs. Savage meets some unusual people: Florence, who carries a doll everywhere; Mrs. Paddy, a so-called artist; Hannibal, a violinist who cannot play the violin; Jeff, who imagines he has a scar; Fairy May, a lovable childlike woman.

Mr. Lowell Draper, English and speech instructor at Kingsburg High School, was the director of the play.

Student Council acts as KHS governing body

A representative group of leaders known as the student council is the governing body for student affairs at Kingsburg High School. The council meets regularly to discuss school problems and to find the solutions which are favorable to both the students and the faculty.

The members of the council include five student body officers and a group of representatives from each of the four classes. Officers of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes are also members of the council. Each class is allowed one representative for every 23 students. Mr. Ejnar Peterson, vice-principal of Kingsburg High School, is the faculty adviser.

All important business that concerns the student body as a whole is carried on at the meetings. The main objectives of the council are to improve the school and to look out for the best interests of the students. It is felt that through this organization the opinions of the high school students can best be brought into view. It is symbolic of the democratic leadership of the school.

Reynold Bomben, the student body president, was chairman of the student council this year. Under his direction the council made many useful and needed improvements for the school. Among them were the purchasing of a pitching machine for the tennis and baseball teams, an appropriation of twenty-five dollars to buy new records for the dance committee, and the giving of one hundred dollars to the Selma bleacher fund to aid the traditional rivals of KHS in completing a new stadium.

The student council also decided the sportsmanship rating for both the football and basketball seasons and appointed the yell leaders and the pompon girls. It stressed the importance of school spirit at the games and pep assemblies. It also strove for better conduct from the students at the school assemblies.

JV's train for next year's varsity nine

The Junior Varsity baseball squad, coached by Mr. Robert Grate, had another season of good American baseball. The J.V.'s league schedule was the same as that of the varsity team. The non-league schedule was different, but the team met with stiff competition in both league and non-league games.

This year's Junior Varsity was made up mostly of lowerclassmen and newcomers to the sport. Practice was held in the afternoons to help the boys gain valuable playing experience. This experience made many of them good prospects for next year's varsity squad.

The team did a lot of hard playing and showed a good sportsmanship toward their rivals.

KHS netters work toward another championship

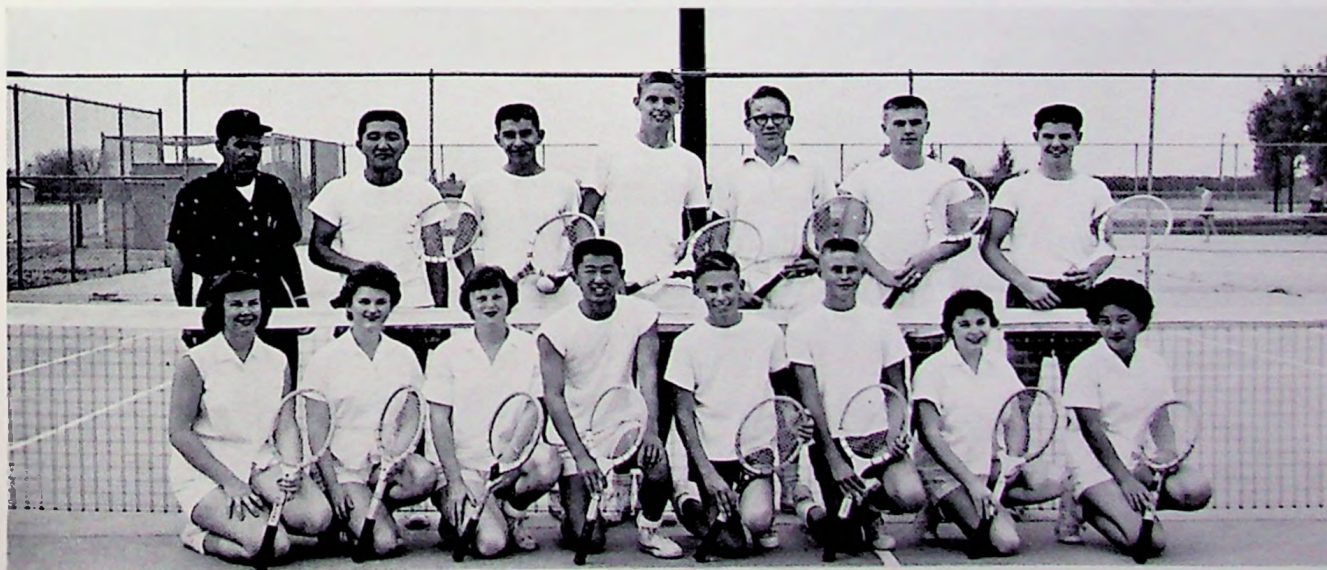

Last year's championship tennis team, intact with the exception of four graduating seniors, returned this year with additional help from Frank Pineda, a transfer from Redwood of Visalia, and Larry Nomura, a senior of KHS. The team was also backed up by an unusually large squad of beginners, mostly freshmen.

The Viking netters commenced league play with Selma, arch rivals of KHS.

Coach Hal Jenkins, who undertook the task of shaping up the veteran squad, devoted much time to help the newer members develop proper techniques in stroking and serving.

The returning veterans, predominately juniors, were Carmen Kidd, Alberta Williams, Sharon Rold, Diana McNabb, and Velda Conner of the girls' team; Larry Bailey, Bill Peterson, Harvey Doi, Ronald Friis, and Horace May.

Viking swimmers take to water late in season

With many returning lettermen as well as several newcomers, the Kingsburg High School swimming team splashed through a successful season.

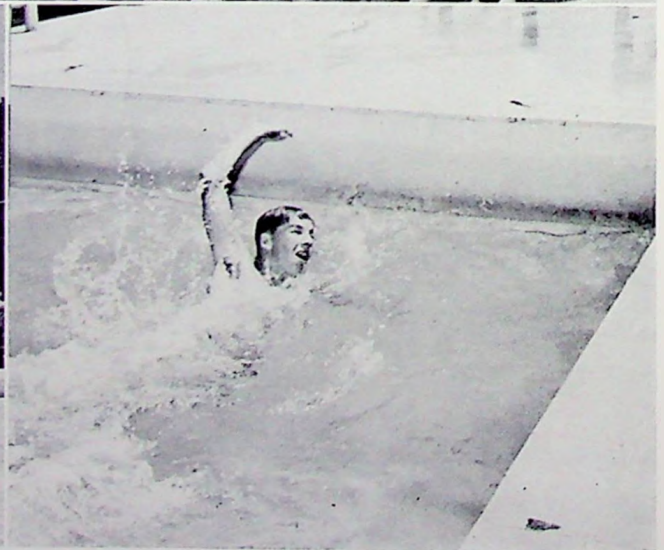

The team started out slow because of the fact that the school chlorinator, a machine used for mixing chlorine evenly with the water, was being repaired and did not arrive in time. To get in shape, the swimming team began calisthenics in the gym, something never done before by a swimming team at KHS. After-school practice enabled the team to provide keen competition during the swimming season.

Coaching this year was done by Mrs. Duane Gustafson, girls' physical education instructor, who provided corrective criticism and help for each member.

The divisional meet, May 3, at Lindsay and the central section finals on May 23 at Fresno High School climaxed the season.

Scorekeepers and managers worked almost as hard as the swimmers to earn their letters, which were awarded shortly before the close of school.

Trackmen compete in meets throughout valley

Twenty-nine Kingsburg High School boys went out for track this year. They were grouped into A, B, and C classes, which were all coached by Mr. Dale Graybill, of the commercial department.

Kingsburg was the host to fourteen other San Joaquin Valley schools at the invitational track meet in the Kingsburg bowl on April 4, the first big meet of the season.

Track practice began in earnest after the invitational track meet. The Vikings participated in a number of track meets at other schools, including the invitational meets at Reedley and Sanger.

The 1959 teams were made up of six seniors, four juniors, six sophomores, and thirteen freshmen. KHS will be losing only six team members next year.

David Rudd was A-class manager and Dick Hansen, the manager of the B- and C-class teams. Score keepers were Rita Jensen and Linda Molsenbocker.

Starting their last year at KHS, the seniors welcomed the freshmen at the traditional reception, changed from the usual picnic at Burris Park to a gym party and sock hop on the campus.

Seniors tried to outsmile each other when Kay Murosako of the John Frigulti Studio in Fresno came to take portraits in October. After days of expectation, the pictures arrived just before the Christmas vacation.

Participating in the annual career day sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club on March 10, senior girls visited stores, offices, and schools to get a better idea of the occupations of their choice. That evening the girls were honored at a banquet. After dinner each girl gave a brief account of her activities during the day.

Every senior had looked forward to senior week. On Monday, June 8, the class took two buses to Hot Springs for an all-day picnic, including swimming and hiking.

On Tuesday, they visited several industries in Fresno. Free samples were given at the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., Granny Goose Potato Chip factory, and the Borden's Ice Cream plant. The annual steak bake followed that evening on the KHS campus.

Each morning of the last week, the seniors and the band practiced for the big night. The year ended with commencement exercises at 8:00 in the high school gymnasium.

Juniors, seniors, and faculty wait to be served at the "Stairway To Space" banquet.

Various social activities combined with hard

In keeping with the present time, last year's Junior-Senior Prom was entitled "Stairway to Space." Stars and sputniks hung from the ceiling of the gym. A big rocket ship had been placed behind the band, perhaps to help the Trebles of Edison High play some "way out" music.

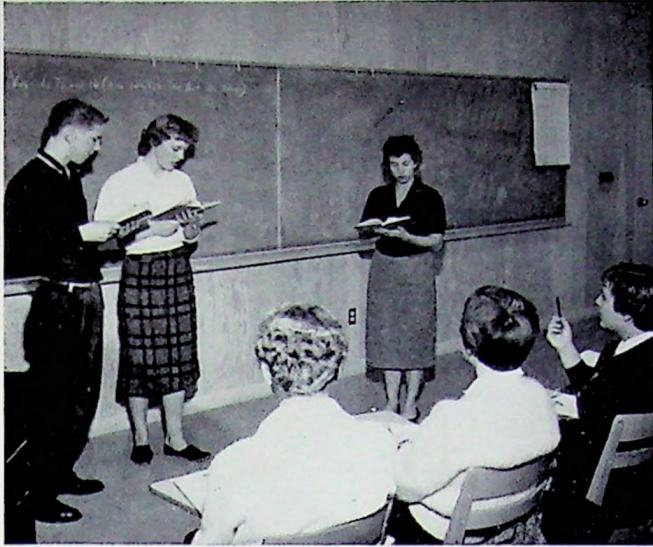

During the banquet, Reynold Bomben, junior class prexy, welcomed the seniors to the festivities, and the fun began. The turkey and dressing, which was the main course, disappeared quickly.

After the meal, Bob Kramling, Marcia Davis, and Meridith Nappa sang "Silver Moon," and Joanne Pyott played a violin solo. A bit of professional entertainment was added to the banquet when the Trebles played some of their "crazy jive."

Meridith Nappa, Marcia Davis, and Bob Kramling sing "Sugar Moon" between courses at the banquet.

The senior class of 1959 chose as its play "Gramercy Ghost," a mystery-comedy in three acts by John Cecil Holm.

The play is about a girl who has inherited from a relative a house that has a ghost in it. Nancy, engaged to Parker Burnett, finds herself in love with the young reporter who comes to interview her.

Nathaniel Coombes, the ghost, is haunting the house. As a soldier in the Revolutionary War, he was sent on a mission to deliver a message to General George Washington. Since Coombes was killed before he could deliver the message, the General will not let him enter heaven.

Two ghost friends of Nathaniel help him until he finally gains heaven.

Activities for the 1958-59 school year at KHS began with the traditional senior-freshmen reception.

In the fall, a queen and four attendants chosen by the KHS football team reigned over the Kingsburg-Fowler game.

By defeating the Selma Bears, the KHS varsity team took the Central Sequoia League championship. The B-team tied for first place. Both teams were honored at a banquet sponsored by the Kingsburg service clubs, the speaker for this occasion being Mr. John Baker, coach at Sacramento College and KHS alumnus.

school year. GAA also sponsored a spring day dance on March 20. The purpose of this project was to select the most attractive spring dresses and shirts and choose the 1959 "King of Spring."

The senior girls stepped out on March 10 for a career day promoted by the local Business and Professional Women's Club, and the boys joined them on March 17 for the Fresno County Career Day at Reedley High School.

Prom night arrived on June 5, when the seniors were honored with a banquet and a formal dance.
