

The schools in this school district will develop a well-rounded and age-appropriate activities program that provides opportunities for students to participate in activities which may include, but are not limited to, journalism and yearbook, music, speech and drama, and interscholastic athletics. To provide a variety of activities for students, the school district will periodically assess the types of activities offered, the scheduling of facilities and activities, and the expenditure of funds.

The schools in this district may charge a fee for extracurricular student activities.
