Superintendent

Dr. Aaron Engel

Dear Students, Families, and Staff:

On behalf of our district staff, administration and Board of Education, it is with great pleasure that I welcome your children to our schools! We have an incredible school district that offers a wide range of opportunities to meet every student's needs. We strive to ensure that each student is able to discover their talents and abilities and is prepared to pursue their dreams and aspirations while contributing positively to their local, national and global communities.

Our commitment to educating every child, every day requires everyone involved in a child's life to uphold their responsibilities in supporting children. This code explains the rights and responsibilities we share as partners in your child's education to support positive schools and positive student behavior. The code also explains what we need from parents and families to create the best possible outcome for your child. We do not expect anyone to be perfect, but we do need to continually work together to support children in their journey from early childhood to graduation. Please take some time to talk with your child about their role as a learner and help them understand how they can help contribute to being part of a great school.

The School District of La Crosse staff is committed to building positive relationships with students and ensuring every day that every child is treated with dignity and positively supported to reach their potential. The most crucial part of school is to be at school, ready to learn. There are sometimes barriers to attendance but it is both required by state law and the most important part of learning. We have a range of supports to help families and students overcome barriers to attendance and we are here to help. If you have any questions or need further support, please reach out to your building principal.

Thank you for choosing the School District of La Crosse, where each child can dream about their future, believe in their capacity to succeed and achieve at high levels.

Sincerely,

Statement of Discipline Philosophy

This statement of discipline philosophy was created in collaboration with students, parents, guardians, staff and community stakeholders and represents the collective values, beliefs, and expectations we have for our schools in supporting positive behavior in our students. Our philosophy provides direction for the continuous improvement of this document and the systems and practices that our schools and staff utilize to support student behavior. Positive student behavior is essential to student learning and our school district is committed to developing the staff dispositions, systems and practices to ensure students are learner ready and successful in school.

Staff Dispositions

It is critical that all staff working with students develop the professional dispositions needed to effectively support students. Professional disposition includes a person's professional values, attitudes, beliefs and expectations which all have a tremendous influence on how school staff work with children. The following are elements of the dispositions we expect from staff:

- Prioritize developing positive relationships with students and families and treat them as partners in education, especially when problems need to be solved with a student.
- Maintain high expectations for positive behavior for all students and remain respectful and non-judgmental when students make mistakes.
- Challenge assumptions and biases and seek understanding from students and others involved first.
- Protect dignity when addressing student behavior and provide students "fresh starts" and opportunities to grow.

Systems

The district is committed to creating and maintaining systems and supports that help students be successful in school. These include a full continuum of "prevention to intervention" frameworks, programs and services to help meet the individual needs of students.

- Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS) – each school will implement a PBIS system to ensure each student has multiple opportunities to learn and practice the expectations and routines at school. Schools will ensure these expectations are communicated clearly to all students, families and staff.
- Social Emotional Learning (SEL) – students will be provided instruction in building the skills for life. These include self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, relationships, and responsible decision-making.
- Interventions and Supports – students will have access to restorative, holistic, proactive, and therapeutic interventions and supports to help address behavioral challenges. These types of supports will be explored and considered first and prior to disciplinary responses (page 18).

Practices

It is important that staff maintain high expectations for positive behavior and imperative that they are skillful when responding to unexpected behaviors from students.

- Disposition and Mindset – unexpected student behaviors can cause staff distress and other emotions and staff should assess themselves to ensure they stay emotionally regulated and can maintain a calm, non-judgmental, and objective approach with students.
- Regulate, Relate, and Reason – when students are dysregulated, staff should work to create a space and the conditions for students to re-regulate (independently) or co-regulate (with staff). This includes staff remaining regulated themselves and helping students feel calm and safe. As students calm, staff should work to connect with the student which can include acknowledging a student's feelings or frustrations. Finally, once calm and connected, staff can then begin to reason with the student including discussing expectations and limits, alternatives to behavior, and accountability.

- Families as Partners – staff should consider ways to include families as partners in working through an unexpected behavior or incident. Families may have insights or suggestions that could help bring clarity or resolution to the situation.
- Root Cause and Proportional Response – staff should work to understand the root cause of the behavior. Interventions and responses that target root cause are not arbitrary and have a better chance of correcting the behavior. Additionally, staff responses should be intentional, deescalating, and proportional to the situation at hand. Staff should keep small issues, small and avoid unnecessarily escalating situations by overreacting. If staff are unsure of an appropriate response, they should seek input from colleagues and/or supervisors.
- Support Accountability and Repair – staff should first consider restorative practices that support accountability and facilitate repair.
- Harm Reduction – staff should minimize harm by recognizing that certain restrictive or intensive discipline responses like classroom removals, school suspensions, and/or law enforcement involvement should only be used when absolutely necessary. Unnecessary school exclusion or exposure to the criminal justice system increases the risk of school failure and perpetuates the school-to-prison pipeline.
- Closure – students benefit from closure following an unexpected behavior and discipline incident. Staff should ensure closure has been provided at some point during the discipline process which includes assuring students of fresh starts and opportunities to learn and grow from experiences.

Positive School Culture

The School District of La Crosse recognizes the importance of having positive school cultures and providing quality supports to students and staff across the district to mitigate barriers to learning. Below is a summary of the proactive approaches used to create a welcoming environment and positive cultures in our schools.

	Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS): A Framework for All Schools Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS) is an educational, preventive, and restorative approach to behavior. This approach helps schools create and sustain effective and culturally-inclusive environments that support academic and social success for all students. All of our schools use a PBIS framework to teach school-wide expectations to all students and recognize students who meet those expectations. Small group and individualized supports are also provided in this approach. Each school designs its own three-tiered system: Tier 1: All students learn the behavior expectations at school. Staff members teach, model and reinforce these expectations throughout the school year. Tier 2: Some students receive small-group interventions to practice the behavior taught in Tier 1. Tier 3: A few students receive individualized interventions and support. At each tier, students learn and practice the social-emotional and behavioral skills they need to do well in school and throughout their lives. Supports provided at each tier involve the integration and alignment of practices, programs and supports listed below.
	Restorative Practices Restorative Practices are ways for a school community to build relationships, problem solve and learn. In this approach, relationships are the most important way we learn about the world and ourselves. Restorative Practices are a way to proactively build community among stakeholders and to use restorative strategies to repair harm, when needed.
	Social-Emotional Learning Social and Emotional Learning is how children and adults learn how to manage emotions, set and achieve positive goals, feel and show empathy for others, establish and maintain positive relationships, and make responsible decisions. Schools and departments across the district work collaboratively to support social-emotional learning of students.
	Mental Health and Wellness Mental Health and Wellness refers to the range of emotional supports available to students. Our Whole Child Framework provides students with a full continuum of services to make sure students receive the right care at the right time. These services include prevention supports, school-based interventions, and community services. If you have concerns about your student’s well-being, please talk with a teacher, student services staff member or principal.

Standards of Student Behavior and Staff Responses

A safe and positive environment is essential for learning. Knowing and following expectations and procedures will support students in making positive choices and academic progress. To assist in this, each school develops clear expectations for student conduct and works to teach those expectations to students throughout the school year. Those expectations are posted throughout our schools and typically resemble the matrix below:

	Be Respectful	Be Responsible	Be Safe
All Settings	Use kind and appropriate language. Treat yourself and others with dignity and respect.	Be where you are supposed to be. Be engaged in what you are supposed to do.	Honor the personal space of others. Resolve problems peacefully.

When students engage in behaviors that do not follow their school’s expectations, school staff members are expected to respond appropriately and consistently:

- School staff may inform the parents/guardians when their student’s behavior is in conflict with established expectations and procedures.
- School staff are expected to document, in the student’s behavior record, incidents of behaviors when a student is removed from the classroom.
- Students, their parents/guardians and school staff are responsible for working collaboratively to support the expectations and procedures outlined in this handbook and the school handbook.
- For more details, see Administrative Policy 4470 at La Crosse Schools Administrative Policies

Unexpected behaviors generally fall into one of the categories listed in the table on page 19. The table also shows some examples of interventions and disciplinary responses that may be used depending on the type of the behavior.

- Interventions and restorative responses hold students accountable by correcting and teaching positive behavior so students can learn the social, emotional, and behavioral skills to be successful at school.
- Disciplinary responses may also be used to hold students accountable. Every reasonable effort should be made to repair harm and change behavior using interventions and restorative responses. Disciplinary responses should reflect the most appropriate and proportionate response that effectively influences the behavior of the student.

The following factors must be considered prior to developing interventions or assigning disciplinary responses:

- The student’s age, maturity and understanding of the impact of their behavior
- The student’s ability and willingness to repair harm caused by their behavior
- The student’s disciplinary record including the nature of prior behavior, the number of prior instances of behavior, and the interventions and disciplinary response applied
- The nature, severity, and scope of the behavior
- The circumstances and context in which the behavior occurred, including its impact on the learning environment
- The student’s Individualized Education Plan (IEP) or 504 Plan, if applicable

Behavior Levels and Possible Responses

Behavior Level	Description	Interventions and Restorative Responses	Disciplinary Responses
Brief Unexpected Behavior	Unexpected behaviors that only affect the student (unprepared, off-task, but not disruptive)	Re-teaching expected behavior, verbal or non-verbal redirection, teacher/student conference, Collaborative Problem Solving, positively reinforce expected behaviors and classroom routines	These behaviors should be addressed by staff in a respectful and private manner. The staff response is to teach and practice the expected behavior so students learn and demonstrate respectful, responsible and safe behaviors.
Minor Unexpected Behavior	Behaviors that begin to affect others, minor disruptions (talking with another student)	Interventions above plus - planned discussion (understand the student's perspective), proximity control, expected compliance, in-class break, behavior contract, mentoring, collaborative communications with parents/guardians	These behaviors should be addressed by staff in a respectful and private manner. The staff response is to teach and practice the expected behavior so students learn and demonstrate respectful, responsible and safe behaviors.
Moderate Unexpected Behavior	Behaviors that are disruptive to classroom teaching and learning	Interventions above plus - calm and intentional responses, behavior skills re-teaching, peer mediation, regulatory break, parent/guardian notification, conflict resolution, restorative practices, referral to student services, referral to Student Management Team (SMT), collaborative communications with parents/guardians	These behaviors may result in interventions and/or disciplinary responses that involve the school administration as office-based interventions. These actions aim to correct behavior by stressing the seriousness of the behavior while keeping students in school. School discipline may include loss of privileges, time-owed consequences, detention, restitution.
Major Unexpected Behavior	Behaviors that significantly and persistently disrupt school operations and are non-responsive to staff intervention	Interventions above plus - crisis response, referral to PBIS Tier 2 and/or 3 supports, non-violent crisis de-escalation, safety plan, referral to community supports, collaborative communications with parents/guardians	These disciplinary responses aim to disrupt the behavior, stress the seriousness of the behavior, and engage the student and/or parent/guardian on a plan for improved behavior. School discipline may include time-owed consequences, detention, in-school suspension, restitution, in-school monitoring, disciplinary hearing, etc. These behaviors may result in a short-term removal from school.
Extreme Unexpected Behavior	Behaviors that are unsafe to self or others	Interventions above plus – in-school monitoring, administrative notification, community crisis response services, collaborative communications with parents/guardians	These behaviors may result in a long-term removal of the student with a re-entry meeting to be held with parent/guardian and school team. Depending on the seriousness of the behavior, consultation with district administration may be needed to consider disciplinary responses leading up to and including expulsion.

Special Education and Section 504 Protections

The Code of Rights and Responsibilities applies to all students including students with disabilities or students receiving special education. Students with disabilities have additional protections under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and Section 504 as described below. Special education is specially designed instruction, at no cost to parents, to meet the unique needs of a child with a disability. The School District of La Crosse offers many special educational services for children from early childhood (age 3 years) to age 21. The School District of La Crosse believes all educational environments should be accessible, inclusive and equitable to achieve social justice. We also believe that everyone brings valuable perspectives that deserve representation when developing and implementing policies and best practices.

For more details, please see Administrative Policy 3420.1 at La Crosse Schools Administrative Policies

Discipline of Students with Disabilities

The School District of La Crosse is committed to eliminating the disparate impact of discipline on students with disabilities. Additional steps must be taken when students with disabilities, including those with Individualized Education Programs (IEPs) and Section 504 Plans, are disciplined. Principals and school staff are required to follow Board policies, administrative regulations, and state and federal laws concerning the discipline of students with disabilities, including procedures for determining manifestation (that is, whether the behavior is linked to a student's disability), conducting Functional Behavioral Assessments (FBA), and developing Behavioral Intervention Plans (BIP).

If a student with an IEP or 504 Plan has a pattern of school removals (suspension or expulsion) for more than 10 school days in one school year, the IEP or Section 504 team must meet for a manifestation meeting. At the manifestation meeting, the IEP or Section 504 team will determine whether the student's conduct was a manifestation of the student's disability. If the team determines that the behavior is a manifestation and the incident did not involve a weapon, drugs, or serious bodily injury, then the student will be permitted to return to school and their plan will be reviewed and updated as appropriate. The student will also be returned to school if the team determines that the behavior is a direct result of the IEP not being properly implemented. Inappropriate behaviors related to a student's disability will be addressed through the IEP and Section 504 process to ensure that the student receives services and modifications designed to prevent the behavior's recurrence. Students with IEPs who are not returned to the school building are entitled to the services necessary to allow them to progress in the general curriculum and advance toward achieving their IEP goals. Any questions related to the discipline of students with disabilities should be directed to the Director of Student Services at 608-789-7688.

The student must be informed of how and when specific provisions were allegedly violated. During the expulsion process the student is entitled to the full protection of due process, including the right to legal counsel.

Expected Compliance – a behavioral strategy that limits student resistance and conflict by having a staff calmly restate an expectation and move on as though the student complied.

Expulsion – An expulsion by the Board of Education means a student cannot attend school, be on school property, or participate in any school activities. School progress, if any, will be determined by the school administration, with the possibility of the student returning to the same grade level at which they were expelled. The Board of Education of the School District of La Crosse will determine the length of time during which the student will not be permitted to be a part of school programs. An expulsion also precludes students from enrollment in any public school in the State of Wisconsin, unless another school board were to elect to enroll the student over our school board’s determination. Severe and/or repetitious violations of this Code of Rights and Responsibilities may cause a recommendation for expulsion to be brought to the Board of Education.

Grievance – Anyone claiming that one or more provisions of this code has been wrongfully interpreted and applied may file a grievance. A grievance is processed when the person to whom it is brought receives either verbal or written formal notice.

In-School Monitoring – A student may stay in school and be allowed to attend classes but must check in with designated staff at appropriate times. Staff may escort the student in the hall or to the restroom when appropriate.

In-School Suspension – An action taken by school administration to prohibit a student from attending classes for a period of time while remaining under the supervision of school staff during the school day.

Long-Term Removals – Out of school suspensions of three (3) to five (5) days which is designed to disrupt the target behavior and allow time to develop a plan for improved behavior with the student, parent(s), guardian(s), and other community stakeholders. Return to school often requires a conference with the student and parent(s)/guardian(s) to clarify behavioral expectations, establish boundaries, identify appropriate supports, and communicate future responses or consequences if the behavior does not improve.

Loss of Privilege – An action taken by school administration to prevent a student from participating in an activity, or the loss of privilege as a consequence of a violation.

Mentoring Program – With parent/guardian permission, a student may voluntarily meet with a trusted adult who is available to offer support and guidance. The mentor may be a school staff person or someone from the community. A number of schools have mentor programs.

Peer mediators do not offer advice, counseling, or resolve conflicts for people; rather, they support students in conflict to come to their own resolution with the support of the community.

Planned Discussion – One or more adults confer with a student about a particular concern and develop a plan for resolving it.

Pre-Expulsion Hearing – A meeting facilitated by district administration with the student, parents/guardians, and school staff to address and problem-solve serious behavioral incidents once they have escalated to be an expellable offense. Consensus must be achieved on a plan to address the concerns as a condition to withhold a recommendation for expulsion.

Removal from Class – Teachers may remove students to the office for certain student violations of the Code of Rights and Responsibilities. This may include chronic minor unexpected behaviors that students fail to correct despite the teacher's classroom-based efforts to intervene.

Restorative Practice Strategies – Ways to invite students, families, community members and staff together to build empathy, caring and communication skills. Restorative practices focus on building a sense of community and on the strengths and capacity of the participants. When restorative practices are successful, all feel safe in the school, because deep and lasting relationships are built among stakeholders. Repairing harm circles, restorative chats, peer mediation and family group conferencing are examples of restorative practice strategies.

Short-Term Removal – Out of school suspension for a partial day up to three (3) days which is designed to disrupt the behavior. Return to school often includes a conference with the student to clarify behavioral expectations and future responses or consequences if the behavior does not improve.

Student Conference – Discussion or communication with students to address their academic or behavioral issues.

Student Management Team (SMT) – A general education initiative that provides support for teachers in meeting the unique learning and behavioral challenges of their students.
