Our work as the staff of the Polaris draws to a close; work which has brought all the students into close harmony with each other.

We feel that the Polaris will be of interest to the students not only at present, but in future years it will help to recall the joyful memories of happy school days.

"I have only to take up this to flood my soul with memories."

As Seniors of the North Cache High School, we are glad to give our places up to the Junior Class. They, too, will have the trials that we have had but we wish them also the joys that have been ours. We hope that they, too, at their graduation will look back over the four years they have spent in North Cache and make the comparisons that we make to-day and feel that their efforts have not been wasted.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Marion Bair

Wilson Thornley

Vera Hadfield

The Juniors this year have been theliveliest bunch of students in the school. Although not very large, our class has proved its ability to hold down any other class of North Cache High School. We were represented in Athletics, furnishing three good men on the basket ball team; our President, Marion Bair, is one of the star players. We were also represented in debating and dramatics.

We have given several socials and our Junior Prom. given in April, the first one to be given at N. C., was a complete success and the crowning feature of our social activities.

The Sophomores of '16-'17 have shown the true school spirit throughout the year. The class has been represented in dramatics and debating where it has made a creditable showing.

During the past year we have lost much of our spirit of egotism and have learned that success comes only through faithful application to our subjects.

The majority of the class has learned this lesson and most of us are eager to fill the vacancies made by the Juniors' progessive steps.

It has not been work, however, for the year has been plentifully punctuated with socials, dances and suppers.

Happy the people who have no history! That's why we're happy. It takes war to make history and we have only rumors of war. If this history were told in the truest way, it would be by a fresh blank page; for the historian is embarrased by the very abundance of material he has not found. However, I want to exhort the class not to get discouraged, for did we not win the flag rush? Although after the rush the Soph's declared that rushes were a rowdyish custom and unworthy of gentlemen; and they did not think that N. C. ought to countenance them.

We haven't accomplished much in athletics this year, but this does not signify that we can't turn the world over next year.

Freshmen cannot be expected to do everything; they would not be Freshmen if they did.

ATHLETICS

The athletic movement has been somewhat backward this year, but a little under each line of work has been attempted.

The first thing that brought athletics into notice last fall was foot ball; a few good practice games were played. The boys seemed to like the sport very much, and it is said that we may have a foot ball squad next year. We hope so.

There were some lively fights last fall when one of the classes tried to hoist their class flag on the school house, also when we held our annual "flag rush." In this the boys learned one phase of foot ball; how to breathe under a few tons of struggling humanity. However, they seemed to like it, as no remarks were heard of their being sorry for their black eyes and scratches.

The close of the basket ball season was marked with the North Cache-South Cache game at Hyrum. A good spirit was shown by both schools, but North Cache came home with the honors. This year most of our men have been young and inexperienced, but we think the prospects bright for a team next season that will be even better.

The lack of spring activities has been due mainly to weather and war.

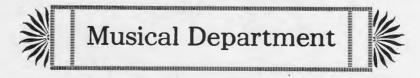

COACH JOHNSON

Coach Johnson won a place in the hearts of the boys of North Cache while he was associated with them. He was Captain of the A. C. U. Basket-Ball Team when he was selected to coach the N. C. H. S. boys and has made a record himself as an athlete.

BASKET BALL BOYS

In reviewing the musical history of the N. C. H. S. for the past year the Polaris feels that we have had a feast in our weekly chapel programs. One pleasing feature about it is that the music has always been furnished for our entertainments by the students of either the vocal or instrumental departments, or by those who have formerly belonged. The instructors and students as a whole have always expressed their appreciation of every effort of any student who has contributed to the enjoyment of the rest of us, whether it has been well known talent or that which has been heretofore hidden. In the vocal department, the students have surpassed other years in number and in the kind and extent of the work done in harmony and composition. The instrumental department under the direction of Mr. Omansen has attained excellent success in band and orchestra and has furnished us rousing selections on many an important occasion.

DRAMATICS

"Nathan Hale" was chosen as the school play and successfully cast as follows:

•
Nathan Hale	Wendell Thomson
Colonel Knowlton	Allan Hendricks
Charles Cunningham	David Merrill
Captain Adams	James Christofferson
Jasper	Fred Hogan
Guy Fitzroy	Cardon Merrill
Alice Adams	Mildred Pond
Angelo Knowlton	Ada Plowman
Mrs. Knowlton
Widow Chichester	Eva Bentley
Hull	Laville Thomson
Tom Adams	Kendall Burnham

The play has been presented in Richmond, Lewiston and Smithfield, where it was largely attended and proved to be a great success.

Because of the fact that "Nathan Hale" is a military play and a story of the "Revolutionary War," it was appreciated more, at the present time of war and confusion, perhaps, than it would have been years ago.

We, the members of the cast have done our best to make the play a success and wish to thank Miss Maughan and Mr. Stoddard for their untiring efforts to aid us in our work. We also wish to thank the faculty and student body for the loyal support they have given us.

DEBATING

GORDON EWING

KING HENDRICKS

The North Cache High School stands for all that is good in men, and all that will tend to produce the best type of citizenship. One of its chief activities that points toward that end, is debating. Each year an inter-class debating series is conducted. The champion class debaters of the school are awarded silver medals given by our worthy principal, C. H. Anderson. He has gone through the mill, and realizes the great value debating experience is to him, therefore, he deemed it worth while, and productive of enough good to warrant the expenditure of his personal means for these medals.

This year the final contest was held between the Sophomore and Junior classes. The under-classmen, by means of good hard consistent work succeeded in carrying off the laurels; so the medals this year went to Gordon Ewing and King Hendricks. The Juniors were represented by Vera Hadfield and Evan Hancey. The subject for debate was: "Resolved that a schedule of minimum wage should be adopted by the forty-eight states of the United States, constitutionality waved."

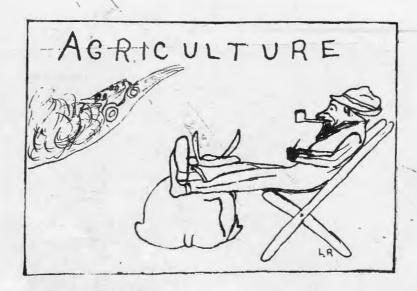

It has been a long time since the whole student body has been so well and educationally entertained as they were April 11th, when they heard the debate, which decided the school championship.

The good practical training that comes from debating cannot be had in any other way. The man or the woman who is able to tell society exactly what he desires to tell at any time, in a clear and forceful manner, is respected by his fellows, and that respect is a living one. No student should miss such a golden opportunity of preparing himself for his great life's work.

AG. CLUB

For active interest and genuine school spirit the Ag. Club feels that it has won a place second to none of the school organizations during 1916-17. As soon as the home project work for the year was announced, members were ready to take it up with avidity.

Two of the boys won cash prizes, in the State wide DeLaval Separator Company's milk and feed record contest and four others received honorable mention. Many of the club rembers are keeping feed and milk records of their cows. Others are taking up the hog-raising project, having purchased pure bred Duroc Jerseys under the direction of the U. A. C. Extension Division. Milk-testing, seed-testing and judging, halter making, harness repairing, etc., have been done at the school, and field work in stock judging, farm surveys and pruning has been carried on.

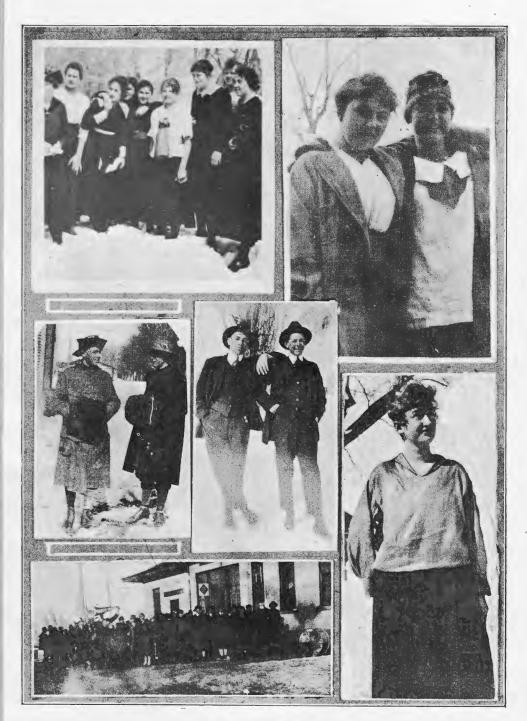

Notable lectures have been given before the Club by experts from the College as well as successful farmers from the community. Special praise is due the officers of the Club for their untiring efforts and the enthusiastic spirit in which they have superintended the work of the Club, both intellectually and socially. Some of the most creditable dances and socials of the season have been engineered by them.

The Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club of the North Cache High school was organized on.....with Maggie Peterson, as president, Clarinda Merrill, as vice-president, and Vada Bennett, as secretary and treasurer.

During the winter the club has taken up various lines of work, all of which have been beneficial to the girls,

Under the direction of Mrs. R. E. Dorius, head of the State girls' club work, the members of the club have taken up the project of social ettiquette outlined by the Utah A. C. Extension Division, which the girls have enjoyed very much. In the line of socials the girls have not been idle; in the beginning of the year a "get acquainted" party was given to which all of the club members came dressed as small children. Children's games, dances, and goodies made this party especially enjoyable. Later on the girls entertained at a dancing party in honor of the Ag. Club and still later were royally entertained by the boys as a return favor.

The doughnut sale furnished the girls experience in still another line of activity, and was highly successful.

Mr. Hyde (importantly)—A semicircle with the cramps.

As bound in Atlas book, "In our parlor there were three; He, the parlor light and me, etc."
But the question is, who is "he"?

Herbert's father (looking at his report card) —my son, what does this mean?....English V. P. I didn't know they had such a mark in your school.

Herbert (cooly)—Oh that's an exception, father; very perfect.

Mr. Peterson's comment on Erma Allen's reading in ancient history: "Sounds like a poor translation of some foreign language."

One of the latest discoveries: Elmer Skidmore asleep in the bath tub on Sunday morning.

Mr. Stott (in Botany)—How does a forest benefit agriculture? Carmen Funk—Holds the snow from running away.

Herbert to a S. C. Student—I tell you, we certainly have some cows up to Richmond; some of them test 8. 2.

S. C. Student—Oh, thats nothing. Down here we can grow everything but squashes.

Herbert-Why can't you grow them?

S. C. Student—Oh, the soils so rich that when the vines get started they wear holes in the squashes dragging them over the ground.

Beet Growing and its Benefits

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

Are distributed each year among the farmers of Utah and Idaho, in payment for sugar beets. From this angle alone, beet growing is a dividend payer of exceptional merit. But there is an added inducement for growing of sugar beets. The tract of land planted to this crop is benefited, enriched and made to yield greater crops in the future. The sugar beet is a crop that never fails, brings payment in cash and provides an absolutely certain market. The farmer who takes advantage of these possibilities has bettered himself financially and has upbuilt his farm properties. These are some of the benefits resulting from the operation of the Amalgamated Sugar Company's plants in the Cache Valley and other districts of Utah and Idaho.
