BUSINESS adds new simulated office class

Fingers seemed magic as the machines in the Business Department clicked on. A simulation class gave students real office training. In a classroom set up as a regular office, students assumed the roles of different office positions. Transcribing machines and printing calculators purchased by the department this year gave even more experience to the many potential office workers.

Through the Deca class, students had the opportunity to work part-time jobs at local businesses during school hours.

MEDIA CENTER receives project funds

Working with a $48,000 grant given over a four year period, the Media Center coordinators purchased new equipment. A video tape recorder and camera allowed detailed observation of class activities. An Audio Tutorial program helped students orient themselves in the Media Center. Slides along with a cassette recorder gave explicit instructions on finding and utilizing all Media in the center.

Media Technique students shelved books, stationed new shelves and organized periodicals, tapes and transparencies.

DRIVERS ED helps cut student errors

Common mistakes cause deadly accidents, yet normal drivers average over 2 errors per mile. With 6% of Drivers Ed students receiving 'A's' on tests and simulator projectors recording numerous errors, instructors worked late to improve driving skills of new learners. A new Drivers Ed manual helped in class work. Teachers taught over 625 students — 360 more than the maximum load.

ASTRONOMY class sees planetarium show

Astronomy students observed stars and planets at the Hansen Planetarium. The show "Springtime of the Universe" explained the life cycles of stars and planets.

Probability studies in Genetics had students flipping pennies and sorting beans. This information helped them determine the likelihood of certain inherited characteristics reoccurring. During a field trip the director of the Poisonous Plant Research Lab demonstrated the effect of particular plants on sheep and cattle during the early stages of embryonic development.

Chemistry students learned the practical use of formulas by experimenting. Lab work resulted in minor cuts and burns.

FOODS II experiments with exotic foods

Odors of foreign foods, Lasagna and German spice cookies filled the halls from the lab of Foods II. Foods I learned the basic fundamentals of cooking and nutrition. During Food Service, a two-hour block class, girls actually set up their own restaurant, sold pies and catered banquets.

Clothing II included tie dying and macrame'. The department acquired fifteen new Bernina sewing machines. Clothing I students learned to set in sleeves and make buttonholes with attachments.

Homeliving and Household Management classes helped girls prepare for college and marriage in the near future. Special guest speakers presented demonstrations and discussed wedding gowns, invitations and cakes with the girls. They studied budgets, home beautification and child development.

LANGUAGE ARTS students choose favorite novels, study TV in new Reading-Media class

A new Reading and Media class studied TV and the press, televising their own advertisements. During the Background-Reading term, teachers of the course required 3300 pages of reading for an "A". Other students photographed favorite scenes on field trips and used the slides to inspire creative writing.

Beginning with cumulative sentences, composition students ended the semester course writing four pages of compositions weekly. Public audiences greeted melodrama "Adrift in New York" with appropriate "boos and hisses". Students took more English credits than ever before.

DEBATE squad places second at Weber State

"Debate is an intellectual combat between two adversaries, a fabulous mental exhibition," stated a top debater, Carolyn Murray. Sky View's debate team exemplified this as they talked their way through the season with only one loss to number one rated Provo. Senior debaters took the program for two years, signing up for the class in their Junior year. Juniors and seniors studied in different classes so the juniors could concentrate on learning the techniques while seniors worked on perfecting them.

Sky View debaters took second place at the Weber Invitational, the largest debate meet in the Western United States. Students from Nevada, Wyoming, Idaho and Utah competed for top honors. They participated in the Golden Spike or Northern Utah Invitational and won Region Forensics, earning second region trophy. Al Harris, the coach, called this year's team the "hardest, longest working kids in the school". They started in September and finished in March.

CADET TEACHERS help elementary students

Students enrolled in Cadet Teaching made bulletin boards, corrected papers and helped the elementary students with basic school subjects. Working with an assigned teacher, they participated in actual classroom situations in several elementary schools. Richard Bagley scheduled the school and grade level where each cadet teacher worked. Two semester classes involved around 50 students working in a two to three hour block class.

Senior Special Ed students took advantage of a work-study program. Those obtaining jobs worked a half-day and then returned to school. The department spent one day visiting KBLW, Hesston's, Albertson's and the Cheese Plant to give students a background on business jobs.

GIRLS' P.E. initiates new 'extra-mural' team

Physical Education students practiced football, basketball, bowling, tennis, archery, field hockey and weight lifting.

In Modern Dance classes girls portrayed curlers, brushes or swimming caps. Dancers worked in groups to form clocks, farmyards and Christmas scenes.

Any girl wanting to participate in additional sports activities joined a new team called 'extra murals'. These girls competed in basketball, volleyball, tennis, golf and gymnastics with teams from other high schools in the region.

Basketball, gambet, Chinese checkers and chess, technical mathematic games generated interest in logic. Recommendations of previous teachers placed students in appropriate classes. "The school is trying to establish better correlation between junior high schools," stated John Merkley, "to be certain of a more complete math education for each student." Bryan Flammer's winning balsa wood bridge in the USU bridge building contest withstood 527 lbs. before collapsing.

SOCIAL SCIENCE pupils select classes

American History students chose their own course of study. After studying the required U.S. Constitution and Presidency course, students attended nine week classes to study other selections—Industrialization and Reform, Colonial America, Wars and Conflicts, Foreign Relations and American West. History advisors purchased 6,000 paperbacks as supplementary textbooks to add to the regular history text. Juniors joined Seniors in their annual excursion to the State Penitentiary. American political behavior classes polled the school. Students favored Nixon for president and Rampton for governor. They also observed the state legislature in action during a field trip to the state capital.

Students find expression through FINE ARTS

Ceramic classes created useful, three-dimensional ceramic figures, macrame belts and jewelry designs. Arts I and II centered all projects around visual awareness. By experimenting with ink, pencil, charcoal and acrylics, they learned the effects of different mediums. They used live models to draw human figures and portraits.

Playing at each home game, the Pep Band boosted school spirit. Studio Band supplied music for several dances and programs throughout Cache Valley.

Orchestra members spent class periods and after school hours for three months practicing songs for the musical, Funny Girl. On March 8th, they presented an informal Chamber Concert in the Student Center for family and friends. Several members participated in a Regional Solo and Ensemble Festival, achieving outstanding ratings.

Left: Lauralyn Kearl accompanies Camille Cox, Sharon Hall and Susan Timothy as the trio sings "Let There be Peace on Earth" for the Performing Girls' Glee class. Below: Ceramics students, Jackie Rich and Debbie Warnick, practice principles of elementary design by molding ceramic pottery.

VOCATIONAL AG teaches farming skills

Class repair work on tractors, trucks and trailers gave students the knowledge and ability in farm mechanics needed for a successful farm operation. Students learned basic techniques in welding, oiling and rebuilding. The Plant and Soil Science classes allowed students to bring soil from home and test it for necessary minerals that aid in plant development.

Industrial art classes opened new fields to students interested in vocational training. Students in crafts used plastic vacuum forming machines to mold sheets of plastic into signs, chairs, trays, toboggans and creeper molds. They also kept busy working with leather, polishing stones for jewelry and painting plaster statues. Some hunters made duck decoys.

Sky View honors principals at HOMECOMING

Beautiful weather and high spirits set off the Homecoming week. On Wednesday, the Boys' and Girls' Association officers organized a 1 1/2 hour assembly, bringing back favorite alumni to enjoy the Homecoming theme, "Friends, I will remember you".

All during the week, students decorated floats for Thursday's parade down Smithfield Main Street. After the parade, everyone headed for the evening pep rally. Sky View's cross-country team sparked the rally by running a burning torch from Box Elder to light SV's traditional bonfire. Fireworks and a lighted SV climaxed the night rally.

On Friday, SV challenged the Box Elder Bees. During the game's half time, the school paid a tribute to Sky View's three principals; Kenneth Webb, Steven Thurston and Leon West. The Bobcats finished the football game with a 42-2 slaughter over Box Elder.

Friday night, Sky View Bobcats and alumni celebrated at the Homecoming Dance.

Two mannequins, standing in a make-believe forest with water trickling down a huge boulder, set the mood for the Senior Prom theme, “There’s a time for us”.

Seniors stapled blue plastic across the ceiling and down the sides of the boys’ gym. One group constructed a huge pink tree by wrapping pink tinfoil around wire covered boards and attaching long silver branches to the wire frame.

During the dance, Mr. Ariel Benson stationed his camera in the girls’ gym and took color pictures with the girls sitting in a swing while their dates stood behind.

"Winter Wonderland" SOPH. DANCE theme

Moving the date of the Christmas Dance to the ninth of December forced sophomores to hurry their plans. Sophomore class officers secured the "Soul Discovery" for their band and organized committees for decorating and planning the floor show. On the night of the dance, couples entered the "Winter Wonderland" through a red and white plastic tunnel. Flocked windows inside the cafeteria reflected the 40 below temperature outside. Two decorated evergreen trees, red and white, striped candy cane poles and sprigs of mistle-toe added to the Christmas spirit.

For the floor show, Teresa Mitchell sang the theme song, "Winter Wonderland" while the royalty stood on a red and white platform.

FFA-FHA Hoedown sanctions teenage marriage

FHA'ers and other girls "Willin' ta catch a feller", dragged out their duds and came to the Hillbilly Hoedown.

Couples entered the dance through Grandma's kitchen. Inside, longjohns and other unmentionables hung across the cafeteria windows on a typical country clothesline. An outhouse, a County Jail and bales of straw set the hillbilly atmosphere. Mr. Benson forced couples into marriage with the end of his shotgun. Marryin' Sam, alias Mr. Summers, performed the ceremony at the hitchin' post.

During the floor show, the FHA president announced the royalty and Mark Archibald and Russ Durrant sang the theme song, "Rocky Mountain High". A River Hts. group square danced and encouraged most of the couples to kick up their heels to a good old Virginia Reel.

Top right: LuAnn Amundson anxiously awaits her turn for marriage as she watches Christy Allred and Monte Carlson get hitched in holy matrimony. Decorations add spring aura to JUNIOR PROM

Juniors added a touch of spring to the Junior Prom with blue plastic, green trellises and the theme "First Time Ever."

Decorating committee heads, Tracy Littleddyke and Ruelinda Nixon, directed the juniors in draping every wall and the ceiling of the gym with blue plastic. Paying at the door, couples received a blue ticket-invitation with the theme, date and names of royalty and class officers on it. Couples entered the dance through a blue plastic tunnel on a green carpet. Fountains with water and live goldfish stood in the corner.

"Sounds Unlimited" added a new effect by playing in the center of the floor.

Mr. Lindhardt, Mr. Mullen and Mrs. Tippetts helped the junior class officers organize the dance and supervised the decorating on Friday and Saturday.

ASSEMBLIES add variety

"Friends, I Will Remember You", the Homecoming theme, gave Girls' and Boys' Association officers plenty of ideas to work with for the assembly. An old-fashioned family narrated the program, reminiscing through Sky View memories. Alumni included Jackie Smith, with her ventriloquist act, scenes from last year's play and musical and last year's Front Porch Majority.

Several assemblies brought in outside talent. Chuck Binders from National School Assemblies brought his "birds of prey", including a hawk which flew around the auditorium. The Nash Doi Club sponsored an assembly with native Indian dancers and an old Indian storyteller. A traveling showcase presented an assembly for the student-body and a concert for the public the following night. This assembly featured "Free Farers", a modern rock group who brought out patriotism and love in songs and skits.

PLAY moves drama rehearsals to first hour

Students participating in the school play followed a different rehearsal procedure than used in previous years. The Drama Productions class moved to first hour and extra practices took place before school because of cast members involved in athletics or Vistas after school.

For the third year, Mrs. Carlson double cast most of the leading roles. This gave more students the opportunity to perform and increased competition in the play.

Technical aspects created the modern atmosphere needed for this play. The set design consisted of two apartments in New York City and several "spot settings" around the stage. For costuming, students used clothes from their own wardrobe or bought them for use in the play. The songs "If a Man Answers Your Phone" and "Valaurie" played throughout the play to set the mood.

IF A MAN ANSWERS — story of modern marriage

When Chantal Stacey gets engaged to three men at the same time, her strict Bostonian father insists the family leave town immediately to protect his name. When they reach New York, Chantal begins a campaign to catch a husband. After a stormy courtship, she marries a successful photographer, Eugene Wright. She soon finds it isn't easy for her husband to concentrate on her when he's surrounded by beautiful models. She takes the problem to her Parisian mother, who gives her a dog training manual with the home-tested recipe for making a happy husband. Her marriage moves smoothly until Tina Brooks comes to visit. Chantal confides the secret of her happy marriage to Tina who tips off Eugene. His reaction makes a new trick necessary, so Robert Swan, an imaginary lover, comes into the story. The ending surprises everyone.

During pep assemblies, cheer and song leaders presented the "Dynamite Stick" to the ball player with the most enthusiasm and team spirit and the "Big Bandaid Award" to any player injured during the ball game.

Cheerleaders and song leaders came back from Utah State University's cheer-leading clinic with the much sought after spirit stick and new ideas for pep assemblies and cheering routines. Three boy cheerleaders made cheering louder and added interest to pep assembly skits and routines.

Cheerleaders revived acrobatics with double stunts. Each cheerleading couple performed highbirds, casual flip-overs, wrap-arounds, round-about and roll-offs.

Cheer and song leaders organized pep assemblies almost every week. With the support of the Pep Club, they taught the studentbody new cheers. Before the Logan game, the cheerleaders divided the studentbody into sections and ran around the gym, each section cheering as they passed.

Fly system completed for FUNNY GIRL

Installation processes for Sky View's new fly system took much longer than expected, stretching the completion date into the week before the musical. This caused setbacks in practicing and scenery construction. The system proved worthwhile when one person could lift a backdrop formerly requiring four or five people.

Miss Barnes and the costume committee helped cast members find early 1900 dresses, tuxes, hats and shoes. Two girls from the committee stretched white fur over chicken wire for the 13 head-dresses for the brides.

Cast members came at 5:30 every night to get made-up. The poker gang and Mr. Ziegfeld needed wrinkle lines on their faces and white hair spray on their hair to age them, while the show girls needed body make-up on their arms, shoulders and legs.

Student Directors Ruth Ann Isrealson, Karen Embry and Lezlie Nielson scheduled practices, directed backstage activities and planned the cast party.

FUNNY GIRL - moving life story of Fanny Brice

'Funny Girl's' opening scene finds Fanny Brice in her dressing room at Ziegfeld's Theatre where she's a top performer. Her mind flashes back over her life up until the present. She remembers her gawky childhood when she moved from show to show. Finally she gets a break at Keeny's Theatre where she meets Eddie Ryan, her dancing instructor and special friend. Then she meets Nick Arnstein, a gambling casino-owner whom she later marries after a stormy courtship. Their life together is happy until he loses all their money gambling. When she pays a man to offer Nick a high paying job, his anger and humiliation drive him to enter into a crooked deal. The last scene, staged in the dressing room, finds Fanny waiting for Nick's return after an 18 month prison term. She is anxious to start their life together again, but he tells her that they can't go on hurting each other. He leaves and Fanny resolves to pick up the pieces and start her life over again.

Top left: "Dear Star, I told you so," Fanny reads the card from the roses that Nick sent. Top right: Dancers skate to "I'd Rather Be Blue-Thinking of You" while Fanny tags along. Above: "I'm a natural Camille, as Camille I just feel, I've so much to offer," sings Fanny as she tries to gain Eddie's confidence in her talent. Right: "A blue marble egg. Nobody would ever give me that but you," answers Fanny when Nick asks her what he had ever given her.

Every afternoon between 2:30 and 5:00 during September and October, Sky View's twelve golfers practiced at the Summit Park Golf Course.

Coach Paul Evans led the golfers to a 2-3-1 record against Region I schools. They lost two games by one point and tied with Logan when a Logan golfer violated the rules and disqualified himself by picking up a golfball on the green.

Sky View's CROSS COUNTRY squad keeps in shape in summertime, runs 5-10 miles during school

Running at home in the summer, sophomores, juniors and seniors prepared for the Cross Country team in the fall. Every day during 6th hour, the squad ran 5-10 miles on the dirt road from SV to Hyde Park.

SV met region teams on Thursdays, completing with the same school challenging SV's football team that week. Runners scored 5 points for a first place. The school with the lowest score won, with 15 points as a perfect meet record. After taking 2nd in Region, SV competed in Salt Lake on October 14th and won 6th.

Dennis Godderidge ran during his sophomore and junior year. As a senior he took 2nd in Region and 12th at State. Bret Liechty came away with 5th at Region.

VARSITY football team reaches state quarterfinals

With lots of determination and muscle the Bobcats hustled their way into the State quarterfinals. Coach Earl Lindley termed this year's team, "the most explosive club ever at S.V." Perhaps Sky View's biggest thrill came when the Bobcats humiliated Logan to the tune of 64-6. S.V. went on to gain the Region One championship and to earn a berth in the quarterfinals. Sky View's Bobcats battled to a 22-22 tie against Kearns, only to be defeated on "more total yardage". Kearns went on to win the State Championship.

In addition to an outstanding team effort, the Bobcats walked away with top honors for individual stars. Mark Flammer gained the coveted Player of the Year Award, Kent Tingey, 1st team, Split End.

JR. VARSITY hold 8-1 record, beats Logan 61-0

With a potent offense and a stingy defense, the JV squad overpowered most of their opponents. Under the direction of Coach Merlin Maughan and Vilarr Ransom, the squad went 8-1. Working much the same way as the varsity, they used the two-platoon system with no one playing both ways.

No individual player stood out as the squad played for "total 100% team effort." Looking to next year, the squad hopes to take up where the varsity left off.

Jr. High rivals unite to form strong SOPHOMORE team

Over fifty-five players turned out to give it a try for the sophomore football team. Any sophomore with the desire to play football had full opportunity. After being rivals at North Cache and South Cache Jr. High Schools, these players molded into a strong cohesive unit. Coaches Glen Oliverson and Joe Robertson led this squad to six victories and only two losses to Weber and Granger. The sophomore team improved in team effort and strategy throughout the season. A 40-0 victory over the Bonneville Lakers finished the year.

SWIMMER'S break records during swim meets

Hours of dedication and practice earned third place in the Region One swimming race for the Bobcat tankers. The year included big victories and broken records. Coach Vic Jensen's squad set a total of five new records in the Sky View pool; the 50 yard freestyle, the 100 yard butterfly, relays, the 400 yard freestyle and the 200 yard medley relay. With the support of the team, Wade Hall, Galen Hansen, Dennis O'Brien and Robert Lucherini all competed in the state meet.

VARSITY BASKETBALL squad clinch number one position in region with exceptional 12-0 record

In a 1972 pep assembly, Coach Willard Jessop predicted, "This team of juniors will be the next Region One champions." One year later his prediction came true as the 1972-73 SV Bobcats rolled to a 12-0 record and gained the Region One championship.

Sky View's biggest strength came from a well-balanced bench, always ready for Coach Ike Christensen to rely on. Ike used a different starting line-up for almost every game. Despite a height disadvantage, SV defeated Logan on SV's own home court. Later in the season, SV met Logan in the Spectrum and topped them 75-68. Only a disappointing State Tournament marred the season's accomplishments. SV's basketball squad and studentbody earned the State Sportsmanship trophy, one of the highest honors at the Tournament.

For outstanding performances all year, Kent Tingey and Gary Webb placed on the All-Region team. Tingey also earned a position on the All-State team.

JUNIOR VARSITY ends basketball season 16-2

Sky View's Junior Varsity squad finished its basketball season with a 16-2 record. Only two losses to Bonneville and Logan marred the season record. Under the guidance of Coach Glen Oliver-son, these players prepared for Varsity basketball. Each player learned the necessary skills for running the "patented"

Sky View fastbreaks and the full-court-press. Hours of hard work paid off when the team blossomed into a strong co-hesive unit. With three members of the JV team, Larry Matthews, Don Tarbet and Kimber Hall, participating with the Varsity, prospects look good for next year.

SOPHS show hope for future basketball seasons

With plenty of potent shooters and lots of height, the Sophomore basketball squad finished the season with an 8-3 standard. Coach Merlin Maughan spent hours molding this new unit from two rival junior high schools. The players prepared for Varsity presses and stalls by learning the fundamentals of basketball. The Sophomores lost the first three league games, but picked up techniques for a perfect record the rest of the season.

"Bank" Hobson coached girls interested in sports in SV's first all-girl athletic club, the Bobkittens. Twenty-five girls practiced on Thursdays and before school preparing for volleyball, basketball and softball games as well as swimming and track and field meets. During the basketball season, this new squad overpowered every school in the region including Intermountain's varsity team and Tooele. The girls worked in two different squads. Their "A" team placed 3rd in region and played Ogden schools in the regional playoffs. The "B" team placed 2nd and met the Ogden area's 2nd place team.

In swimming, Gloria Workman placed 1st in the Consolation Bracket for the 100 yd. breaststroke to gain 7th in State.

This new athletic club operated on 9/10 pure desire. Scheduling around the boys' sports, the team hopes for a practicing class during fifth hour next year.

VARSITY WRESTLERS tie region 5-1 record

Coach Villar Ransom stated, "Everyone of my wrestlers is good." This proved to be true as the Bobcats finished with a 5-1 record and a tie for the region championship. Sky View hosted a four-way tournament with Viewmont, Bear River and Logan. SV won eight first places.

Bobcats qualified ten wrestlers for the state meet. Despite facing some of the toughest competition at state, Sky View finished with tenth place. Two top Sky View wrestlers, Jay Dee Anderson and Ryan Larson, brought back third place finishes from the State meet.

Junior Varsity wrestlers consisting mostly of sophomores finished the year with an 8-1 record. Coached by Earl Lindley, these wrestlers learned techniques of topnotch wrestling. Challenges held each week provided junior varsity wrestlers an opportunity to challenge a varsity wrestler for his spot. The sophomores meanwhile participated in numerous tournaments, besides their Region schedule. Coach Gordon Churchill spent many hours at practices turning these "greenies" into polished wrestlers. Sophomores finished with an 8-1 record.

Late spring prevents TRACK and FIELD meets

Sky View's track and field team consisted of 100 sophomores, juniors and seniors. Because of a late spring, the team had a hard time scheduling meets at the beginning of the season. After two cancellations because of snow on the field, Sky View met Logan on April 12th for the first game of the season.

Several outstanding athletes excelled in the meets—Randy Oldroyd in the 100 yd. dash and low hurdles, Dave Saunders in the long jump and Kent Tingey in the high jump and 440 yd. dash. In the weight division, Richard Ballam, Tracy Phillips and Alan Gibbons excelled in shot-put, discus and javelin throwing. For state competition on May 11, the top three from each region competed.

BASEBALL playoffs include each region champ

Procedures for choosing the teams entering the State Baseball Playoffs changed this year. Instead of having a playoff within the region, the first place team from each region automatically moved into the tournament. A playoff between second place teams determined the other spots in the 8 team, double-elimination competition. With only five returning lettermen, the team consisted mostly of juniors with one sophomore.

Two new sophomores joined the four returning lettermen to strengthen Sky View's tennis team. The team lived up to previous records in their six region games and played two practice games to keep in shape for the region play-offs and to complete their schedule.

Let every man sing his own song in life.

AURORA staff studies at BYU, follows new trend, using more informal, candid pictures

Despite streaks of laziness, lost negatives and misplaced division pages, the Aurora staff attempted to make a yearbook to represent and please the students.

Both photographers and editors struggled to tone down tempers during late hours after school and on Saturdays. During Christmas vacation, the staff met at a member's house, writing copy and indexing for a deadline.

Work started before the school year began. During the '72 school year, the juniors picked six sophomore assistants, decided on the pinwheel layout style and had ideas for the book's theme. After studying five days at BYU, the staff started SV's book with new publication concepts. They wanted to show school life through a student's eyes, instead of set-up pictures. This meant club members names would be listed instead of every member lining up for a picture.

CATONIAN broadcasts program on KUSU-FM

By invitation, the Catonian newspaper staff broadened its sphere of coverage with a weekly radio program on KUSU-FM. Every Wednesday, staff members recorded the current events for that evening's broadcast, including school elections, dances, debate results, assemblies and athletic events.

'Senior Citizen', a new column created especially for seniors, featured either one student's viewpoints or thought held by the majority of the Senior class.

As a stimulus for school spirit, the newspaper published two 'Grizzly Undertakers'. These special issues appeared in pub-boxes on days of Sky View-Logan clashes. The staff also organized a poll during the SV-Logan game week which showed that 72% of our students said "Logan-Sky View game" when referring to the "Sky View-Logan game."

Carolyn Murray and Judy Rawlins, the two co-editors worked with Mr. Alma Pate to organize 14 issues for the school year. Reporters carried half-written articles, pencils and notebooks from second hour class and worked between hours and after school to make the deadlines.

LITERARY CLUB members alternate responsibility of arranging bimonthly club meetings

Instead of just publication staffs, the Literary Club expanded its membership to anyone interested in literature. Regular club members met bimonthly unless an opportunity arose for added learning. Every meeting, a different member of the club took the responsibility of arranging an interesting program. Throughout the year they listened to guest speakers, sponsored an interclub portfolio contest and bound a book for experience.

Talented students in writing or art submitted their work to the Catalyst staff for approval. The staff, chosen from the Literary Club, organized the poetry, short story and art entries into a magazine which they published at the end of the year.

The Herald Journal regularly received information on school events from Miss Danielson. When anything outstanding happened at Sky View, she acquired information and pictures for the newspaper.

MARCHING BAND wins trophy, awards

Under the co-direction of John Manning and Bill Bertolio, the Marching Band won second place in a marching and playing competition in Calgary, Canada. Judges compared the 28 bands from all over the United States and Canada on general deportment, music, appearance and parade conduct. Sky View entered the largest band in the history of the Stampede. For their superior performance, they won a large trophy and a $500 certificate. Members of the band took time out from their performing schedule to tour Glacier National Park in the United States and Banff in Canada.

During the summer and fall, the band participated in the 4th of July, Labor Day, Peach Day and Homecoming Parades. Banner guard and twirlers marched with the band in three home game half times.

SYMPHONIC BAND performs in Moab, Price, Carbon High, tours Arches National Monument

December's Christmas Concert started a schedule filled with tours, clinics, invitationals and festivals for the Symphonic Band. On March 21st, two guest conductors assisted in a clinic, which climaxed with a night concert. Larry Smith and Dr. Alvin Wardle helped the band with techniques needed to perfect the performance. Three days later, USU conducted an invitational with several bands from the area competing and enjoying music for one day.

The first part of April, the band combined pleasure with business and went on tour. They performed at Moab, Price and Carbon High Schools. Between concerts they toured Arches National Monument and hiked to Dead Horse Point.

SOPHOMORE BAND students join music program, march during summer

Sophomore Band students involved themselves in Sky View activities a step ahead of the rest of their class by practicing during the summer with the marching band. They performed with the band at Calgary and marched at various parades before the school year started. An all sophomore class helped the newcomers with techniques needed for Symphonic Band the next two years. Junior highs throughout Cache Valley listened to the Sophomore Band's concert when they went on tour during the Spring. Combining with the rest of the band students they played at the State Basketball Tournament.

Studio Band members rose early in the morning twice a week to perfect the music needed for their performances. Wards and stakes in the area danced to their music at Gold and Green Balls. Several members of the Studio Band combined with outside musicians and organized a group called "US". They performed for assemblies and dances in Northern Utah.

ORCHESTRA creates life and mood for school musical

The Orchestra spent three of the coldest months in the history of Cache Valley practicing People, Don't Rain on My Parade, Sadie, and other songs for the musical, Funny Girl.

The Orchestra combined with the Choir to present a Christmas Concert, where among other numbers, they played The Hallelujah Chorus, from The Messiah and The Night Before Christmas set to music.

In a Spring Concert with Logan High, the combined orchestra presented various selections from Mozart, Bizet, Gould and Saint-Saens.

Performing Girls' Glee consisted of sixty-two junior voices. They planned a full year of performances to give Cache Valley residents the chance to hear local talent. The group performed for clubs, servicemen and sacrament meetings, providing the music and speakers for a complete program. Officers are DeAnn Peterson, pres.; Bonnie Meyer, vice-pres.; Paula Stephenson and Marilyn Smart, secretaries; Pat Stephenson, reporter.

ACAPPELLA CHOIR brings Christmas joy to children in Primary Children's Hospital

December found the Acappella Choir in Salt Lake, caroling to a group of children, nurses and aids at the Primary Children's Hospital. Bruce Traveller presented to a nurse the fifty-five dollars donated by the Sky View student body. The executive council gave any student who desired to help the hospital a paper ball to place on the paper Christmas tree with their name and amount they contributed.

The next stop was Cottonwood Mall. The students Christmas shopped for two hours, then assembled in the center of the Mall where they formed a Christmas tree pyramid and sang for the shoppers.

Other performances were a Fall Concert, Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, stake conferences, and school assemblies.

VISTAUNS perform at Big Blue Classic

Front Porch Majority met three mornings a week to learn new songs and dance steps. Christmas programs in Benson and Logan on the same night kept members on the move. They performed "Godspell" a medley combining religion and rock music.

Vistauns worked out daily during fourth hour and again after school to perfect their marching formations. Lara Thompson, president, divided girls into groups of six to create new routines. In red and white Christmas costumes the girls marched to "Winter Wonderland" at the Big Blue Classic, won by USU. Other invitations included performances at Ricks and Idaho State University.

PEP CLUB strives to boost school spirit

Posters, badges and hand routine drills consumed Pep Club members' time. The night before the homecoming game, members T.P.'d all the football players' houses. At Christmas time they filled miniature Christmas stockings with candy for the varsity basketball players.

Forensics students spent long hours researching the subject: "Resolved; that governmental financial support for elementary and secondary education should be provided exclusively by the Federal Government." Students participated in the State Bar Association, Golden Spike, Weber State Invitational, Governor's Cup, Region and State competition. Besides debate, students practiced in extemp, legislative forum and impromptu speaking.

MUN mimics miniature UN peace negotiations

Representing Lebanon, Mauritania and the Netherlands, Model United Nations members simulated negotiations at the United Nations. Separate committees studied the political policies and national problems of each country. They prepared for the Salt Lake convention by practicing legislative procedures.

Mrs. Jacqueline White divided Young Americans' study into units. Pictures and questions sheets on art, history, music, science and literature prepared members for competition on T.V.

Besides raising the flag at games and decorating the goal posts for homecoming, the Key Club presented an assembly for the studentbody. Members sponsored a dance on January 19, after the Logan-Sky View game. Playing Easter Bunny, SV's service organization hid eggs on Summit's lawn. Members scheduled a dinner with Kiwanas.

Lettermen members enjoyed a breakfast and steak dinner during the year.

RODEO CLUB plans future Sky View Rodeo

Rodeo Club competed in High School Rodeos all over the state. Winners gained state competition and received valuable prizes. Members sold wrapping paper to raise funds for a future Sky View Rodeo.

Wildlife Club enjoyed snowshoeing, rabbit hunting, and predator calling. Members also participated in shooting at indoor and outdoor ranges.

Improvement in swimming deftness and enjoyment of water sports was the aim of the Aquatics Club. Members helped at swim meets by acting as timers.

Ski Club began the year with a swap shop, where members bought and traded used ski equipment. Officers arranged transportation to Park City to give members a chance to ski on different slopes.

SPANISH CLUB learns Mexican dances

Several instructors taught Spanish dances to Spanish Club members. By selling bulletin boards, the club raised money for a Mariachi band and members going on the Mexican tour.

French Club sold 15 types of French perfumes. Members used the money for an ice-skating party and exotic French foods.

German Club sponsored movies during noon hours, and had a Christmas tubing party with hot chili after.

Indian Club published an "Indian Happenings" newspaper. Members participated in a "Project Navajo" assembly and encouraged students and faculty to donate $28 and 1100 cans of food for the needy.

FHA Secret Sisters new innovation for club

Secret sisters sparked the FHA program. Each member picked the name of another girl and gave gifts and surprises to her all year. A final year-end party revealed each sister. Activities included a Mother-Daughter banquet, Christmas caroling and a state convention in February.

Girls' and Boys' Associations helped set and enforce dress standards. The girls' agenda included a fashion show and a tribute to their mothers' project. Boys saw a wildlife movie and a Lettermen versus faculty basketball game.

FFA club qualifies with best dairy cattle exhibit

Eight Sky View students represented Utah in the National FFA Poultry and Dairy Cattle contest in Kansas City for the second consecutive year. USU named the FFA chapter the best exhibitor of a dairy cattle display. The chapter also received 2nd place in the FFA sweepstakes award based on total exhibits in crops, mechanics, dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and swine.

FNA club members toured the Logan LDS Hospital and observed the surgery floor, pediatrics and maternity wards and the intensive coronary unit. For Christmas the FNA members made nightgowns for the little children in the hospital.

DECA students participate in marketing contests

Attending the state convention in Salt Lake introduced Deca students to a bigger world of business. Students set up displays, solved human relation problems and did impromptu public speaking for marketing contests. After winning state recognition in human relations and display, two students, Diana Harris and Pam Steel, participated in a national convention in New Jersey.

In November, five students flew to a regional Deca leadership conference at Denver, Colorado, attending workshops and lectures about distributive education procedures.

Club officers Mark Buxton, Kindall Brough, Peggy Stevens and Suzette Chambers helped elect state officers at Park City.

Deca students raised money for a banquet for their employers. They also took charge of programs and advertising for the school musical, "Funny Girl".

SAE club brings apples for Sky View teachers

During American Education Week, SAE members distributed shiny red apples and "Students Approved" badges to Sky View teachers. Delegates attended the State Education Convention. SAE won $10 for their 2nd Place float in the Homecoming Parade. Members also enjoyed bowling parties and USU films.

Business Club visited First Security Bank, Utah Mortgage and Loan, and Bell Telephone to observe business and switchboard offices. For Christmas, the club decorated a tree in the Vocation Building. Members ate barbecues and exchanged gifts around the tree. One meeting featured an illustrated lecture, "So you want to be a Secretary," by Dr. Garth Hanson.

SCENERY CREW constructs split set for play

Scenery crew spent long hours before, during and after school constructing sets for the school's two major productions. A unique problem arose when the crew had to build a split set for the school play.

Practicing chess skills and techniques during club meetings prepared members for interschool competition. Two meets with Bear River resulted in a loss and a win for Sky View. Near the end of the season the team also challenged Box Elder.

Learning weaving and macrame, finishing class projects and planning trips to art shows dominated Art club meeting activities. Observing work done by local artists, members attended a ceramics show at Utah State University and later traveled to Springville for a national art show.

Lights created mood and gave visibility during assemblies, dances and special programs. Special effects showed crew's ability to work with electronics.

DEPARTMENTAL AWARD winners excel

Department heads chose a student who had taken the most classes in that department and had earned the best grades for three years. Because of so many outstanding seniors, this award went to a different person than the Sterling Scholar award. For the general scholarship the administration and counselors chose a boy and girl who had taken the most difficult classes throughout high school and had still maintained the highest GPA.

Students used the award in applying for scholarships, not for competition against students from other schools.

Stephen Thurston returns as PRINCIPAL

After a year's study at USU, Stephen Thurston returned March 26th with a doctorate degree in education and resumed his responsibilities as Sky View principal.

Outstanding school service gained the "Top Cat" title for fifteen students. These seniors showed the same quality, the ability to work hard. The executive council chose students who had performed in school productions, organized dances, participated in school sports or had been all-around involved students. The Catonian featured a different "Top Cat" in each issue.

Ten students who demonstrated excellence in academics, leadership and civic contributions earned the right to have their biographies published in the "1972-73" edition of Who's Who in High Schools.

Chosen by tryouts, 43 students participated in All-State Music. Well-known conductors directed the group at UEA.

Seniors achieve STERLING SCHOLAR awards after three long years of excellent grades

Three years of outstanding work in a specific field brought a coveted Sterling Scholar Award to eleven seniors. Each department selected a student for his excellence in scholarship, leadership, citizenship and character. Department heads chose the winners for their day-to-day performance throughout their high school years. The students prepared portfolios before having a ten minute personal interview with two judges. The Region and State finalists waited for the announcement of the winners to appear in the Deseret News and on KSL T.V.

SPECIAL AWARDS for scholarship, athletics

Only Seniors maintaining a 3.7 grade point made the National Honor Society. Graduation speakers and Who's Who were chosen from the club members.

Several Sky View students earned special awards. Wayne Watkins' science research paper received special recognition at the Junior Science and Humanity Symposium. Gloria Workman placed 1st in the 100 yd. breast stroke at State. Mark Flammer earned the All-state Football award. Kent Tingey gained All-state Basketball and Football awards. Jay Dee Anderson and Ryan Larsen took 3rd in State Wrestling. Wade Hall placed 4th in 50 yd. freestyle swimming at State. Eric Smart represented Sky View in the Senate Youth Contest.

New student attendance policy assists SCHOOL BOARD in maintaining district school funds

Board members tried to obtain the highest quality education for the dollar. A new attendance policy where students were urged to attend school helped maintain funds. Providing a second boiler to improve the heating system took the board's time and money. Members encouraged people to visit schools to develop better relationships among teachers, parents and students.

Leon West serves SV as acting PRINCIPAL

"Sky View's educational system offers tremendous possibilities for individual growth if each person will use every opportunity to develop himself," Principal Leon West stated. He developed a great interest in students and their education while teaching in Idaho, Smithfield and North Cache Jr. High. He also worked for 3 years in the District Offices and served as SV's vice principal for 4 years. Walking to school everyday gave him time to be alone to think about administrative and personal problems without the interruption of a ringing telephone. When school hours ended and administrative problems could be set aside, Mr. West spent time hunting, fishing and enjoying SV sports.

PERSONNEL helps school life run smoothly

Vice-principal Willard Jessop scheduled assemblies and pep rallies. Besides assisting the Executive Council with student affairs, he supervised school dances and aided the cheerleaders.

Supervising student publications and helping the Senior class towards graduation, Vice-principal, Myron Benson, also enforced the new attendance policy of only 6 days absence per term and arranged student transportation.

Senior counselor, Mr. Keith Taggart, advised students on possible college and vocational opportunities.

Giving valuable information on choosing careers and listening with a ready ear to problems, Mrs. Cleo Smith, counselor, advised Junior students.

Mr. Art Jenkins, new Sophomore counselor, helped students arrange class schedules for the best future education purposes.

Behind the scenes, but vital to a smooth running school system, were: Mrs. Barbara Blair, bookkeeper; Mrs. Juness Christensen, secretary over lunch tickets; Mrs. Sharon Buttars, attendance secretary; and Mrs. Olene Ransom, secretary to Mr. West.

AIDS, COOKS, CUSTODIANS, BUS DRIVERS, P.T.A. contribute to Sky View success

Cooks hustled the studentbody through two lunch hours and four serving lines. Hamburgers, malts and two choices of main course added variety. Donna Pitcher, cook manager, reported that SV students consumed 160 lbs. of hamburger, 200 lbs. of flour and 200 lbs. of potatoes everyday.

PTA members sponsored a movie for the studentbody and fostered closer relationships between parents and teachers.

Despite stalling engines and drifted snow, bus drivers usually arrived on time.

Frozen water pipes and a failing automatic heating system had custodians working overtime during 30 below temperatures. Despite locker cleanings and everyday debris from students, custodians kept the halls waxed and polished.

Aids helped each student individually with reading, spelling and vocabulary. Four aids worked all day while three others worked only during the morning classes.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL uses Christmas project, Carefree contest to 'unite' Sky View studentbody

"Unite for Sky View High" was the cry for athletics, debate and every school activity. Homerooms, clubs and individual students wrote "Carefree gum" on over a million 3x5 cards in hopes of winning a free Grass Roots concert for the school. Exec. members tried for at least one assembly every week and a new showcase each month to vary the regular school activities. To involve every student, the council organized a project where students bought paper Christmas ornaments for as much money as they wanted to contribute. Donations went to the Primary Children's Hospital. A "Clean Week" using the slogan, "Only you can prevent litter," stressed the importance of keeping the halls and Student Center clean.

Left: With a shower of snowballs, Executive council members capture Mr. Willard Jessop. Besides the regular studentbody responsibilities, council members enjoy free moments together. Below: Keeping the studentbody aware of school activities and assemblies, Signe Ward, exec., and Rochelle Tew, sec., put the week's schedule on the Activity Board.

COORDINATING COUNCIL members and homeroom SENATORS represent students

Gathering information and contributing individual opinions, senators represented and informed their homerooms. Each senator checked his homeroom for violations of hair and dress standards.

Senators initiated the idea for several after-game dances and reminded homerooms to clean the Student Center. They carried the rules about the Carefree gum contest to their homerooms and clubs and tried to generate enthusiasm for the Christmas Tree project.

During Homecoming, senators and club officers sparked their homerooms and clubs to enter more floats in this year's Homecoming parade than ever before.

SENIORS remember past, look toward future

Seniors entered into their last year at Sky View with Eric Smart, Dennis Godderidge, and Kandace Pond as class officers.

President Eric Smart, participated in football and played Eugene Wright, a leading role in the school play.

Skiing and playing the flute in the symphonic band, Kandace Pond also represented the Seniors as secretary of the class.

Dennis Godderidge, vice president, led the cross-country team and broke Sky View's record for the 2-1/2 mile.

Elaborate decorations with a rose trellis and the theme, "There's a place for us" highlighted the Senior Prom.

JUNIOR float wins traveling class trophy

Juniors "Sandwiched the Bees" for their homecoming float and won the travelling trophy. To help organize the Junior Prom and Junior assembly, the class elected Melinda Hurren, Howard Little and Becky Hatch as officers. Vernon Summers, Jim Mullen, Florence Tippetts and Sherman Lindhardt served as class faculty advisors and assisted the class officers.

Howard Little, president, starred on the JV basketball team and enjoyed all SV sports.

Kittens and dance were Becky Hatch's specialty. She enjoyed art and took a Karate class at USU.

Secretary Melinda Hurren water-skied, enjoyed winter and summer sports and liked to cook and read.

Right: Looking at class problems from both ends are Becky Hatch, vice president; Howard Little, president; and Melinda Hurren, secretary.

Christmas dance held by SOPHOMORE class

New faces, new friends and a new school greeted the sophomores. Participating in the Homecoming Parade, joining clubs and studying to improve academic skills, sophomores became full-fledged Bobcats. Many times, when homerooms failed to clean the Student Center, sophomores stayed after school or came early in the morning to clean the Center. Sophomores suffered 'Senior Priority' when they received only the leftover tickets for the SV-Logan game. With Neil Murray, Kae Mickelson and Nancy Merrill as class officers, the sophomores organized an assembly and sponsored the Christmas Dance around the theme "Winter Wonderland"!

Besides basketball, President Neil Murray enjoyed baseball and every sport.

Kae Mickelson, vice-president sang in the girl's glee. She enjoyed sports, playing the piano and dancing.

Secretary Nancy Merrill served as a sophomore Pep Club officer. She played the piano and spent Saturdays skiing.

Right: Secretary Nancy Merrill and Vice-President Kae Mickelson challenge President Neil Murray to a game of ping pong in the Student Center after school.

Sky View takes LAST LOOK at '73, remembers hard work, goofing off, friends, uniting, achieving

Looking back over the year, every student remembers something different; a year of hard work, cramming for tests, researching for debate or hours of practicing the trombone. Some remember friends, waiting in the halls on the day of the bomb threat, drilling for a Vistaun review, going on a Science trip or finding a place in the crowded cafeteria. Those who marched at Calgary won't forget the thrill of marching for 600,000 spectators. Athletes remember a wet football field, going to state and finally slaughtering Logan!!!

Some students remember—others are remembered. Some students' zest for living and achieving sets them ahead of the rest.

Cynthia Peterson spent three SV years in a wheelchair because of Cerebral Palsy. She cheered at ball games, listened to music at dances and maintained a 3.7 GPA.

Whether students developed talents, learned to think or found friendship, every person did more or less what he chose. SV offered three years of time and a road to the future . . . Now is still my time

Below: Sky View paid a special honor and tribute to Kurt McGregor, Herald Journal sports editor and special friend to our studentbody. Kurt gave complete coverage of all SV sports for several years and was thus made an honorary member of the Letterman's Club. On January 28, 1973, Kurt died of an unknown illness.

Old friends will soon be gone but the knowledge of friendship remains.
Take the moments of happiness frustration and sorrow
and travel towards tomorrow.
Now is my time

IN MEMORIAM

"Those who bring sunshine into the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves."

— Sir James Barrie

Rhonda Summers brought joy to many people. She loved school, the chance to learn and especially to be with friends.
Cancer is a killer . . . but she died bravely.

"Nothing in life is to be feared,
it is only to be understood."

— Marie Curie
