Students, searching new and changing avenues, tried to find themselves — their individuality. Constantly changing, influenced and molded by activities, friends, and thoughts, they searched for understanding of the people and events around them.

Sky View, to its students, was more than just a place of learning. It was here that ideas were influenced and individuals changed to keep up with Sky View's progress. On the first day of school, Principal Webb gave the studentbody its first challenge: "Improve upon the best in Sky View and make it better!" This not only included Sky View's facilities and classes, but the individual. The student had to change, to progress— to become better than his best. That was the Challenge of Change.

ADMINISTRATION

"He's great!" "She's the best teacher I've ever had!" Ready to help the individual grow and change, the teachers had changes to meet themselves. Faculty meetings, instead of being held every Tuesday morning in the library, were rotated from department to department. The department heads pointed out the improvements, changes, and new equipment in their various sections. Faced with specialized equipment, new buildings, and modernized teaching methods, Sky View teachers accepted their challenge of change—and improved the curriculum.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The school board of the Cache County School District was vitally interested in the future of Sky View students. They did their best in fulfilling the many needs of Sky View and the other Cache County schools. Always willing to try new methods to improve the teaching in the schools, they continued to provide the high quality of education that had been offered at Sky View in the past. Obtaining the funds necessary to run the schools efficiently was a major responsibility of the board members. They hired qualified teachers, were in charge of the bus program, and provided thousands of textbooks for the students.

Another responsibility of the board members was making decisions concerning new buildings. They worked to encourage the state legislature to build the new vocational school at Sky View. They were rewarded by the decision that brought new facilities and provided better opportunities for students and adults. President Hall said, "We are sincerely interested in preparing Sky View students for their role as future leaders." The Cache County Board of Education accepted the challenge of providing everything possible by way of education facilities and opportunities to help make this goal possible.

Since Sky View was formed five years ago, it has constantly been pushed ahead toward its goal—becoming better than the best. The man who was responsible for the changes and progress at Sky View was Principal Kenneth Webb. Most of the students knew him as a warm, friendly human being who was sincerely interested in them. A countless number of times he told the studentbody, "If you have got a problem, come and see me, and we'll see what we can do together to solve it."

Most students only knew what Principal Webb had accomplished while he had been at Sky View. Few knew what the man Kenneth Webb had accomplished. He was an elementary principal, a junior high principal, and an assistant superintendent of Cache County schools. In 1968 he was one of eight educators chosen from the United States to travel to India to help them with their school system. This year he served as chairman of Region one.

This man believed in Sky View. He often said, "If we are to maintain our place among the great high schools of the state and nation, we all must believe in the potential of Sky View."

Kenneth Webb
Principal

One of the busiest men in the school was Vice-Principal Irel Eppich. His assignment was student activities. These ranged from preparing halftime and pre-game shows to helping with the discipline of the school. If a class or a club were preparing an assembly or sponsoring a dance, Mr. Eppich was the man they consulted. He also worked with the Executive and coordinating councils and the Student Senate.

A new vice-principal was added to Sky View's administration this year. Leon West came to Sky View because he "liked to work with kids". He found ample opportunity to help students. He was in charge of pep assemblies, graduation, class reunions, ninth grade orientation, publications, and attendance. Representing the district office, Mr. West was the area supervisor in charge of several subject areas. He was also the director of the summer school.

COUNSELORS

Debby Brough consults Mrs. Bell, the sophomore counselor, about her schedule.

Whether it was schedules, grades, or future vocations, students found the four counselors available to help them with their problems. Seniors received information from Mr. Nelson about colleges and scholarships. They found help in making the important decisions that affected their future. Juniors, helped by Mr. Taggart, were prepared for their year as seniors. Sophomores were oriented to the policies of the school and were helped with their scheduling problems by the new counselor, Mrs. Bell. Under the direction of Steven Thurston, the department head, the counselors did their best to help the students fit into their life at Sky View.

SECRETARIES

Mrs. Hess, the attendance secretary, kept track of student comings and goings.

As school lunch secretary, Mrs. Christensen sold lunch tickets and tried to safeguard the students' health.

The correspondence secretary, Mrs.

Ransom, kept track of student records and operated all the business machines.

Mrs. Merrill guarded the school funds, kept the finance records, and supervised the bookstore.

CUSTODIANS

Plumber, brick layer, electrician, carpenter and locker opener described the Sky View custodians. Seven men and one woman worked hard forty-four hours a week to keep the building spotless and warm.

Sky View students consumed 300 pounds of potatoes, 150 pounds of roast beef, 10,000 pounds of sugar, 250 pounds of butter, and 150 pounds of flour every week. The cooks worked eight hours a day to feed between 800 and 900 students nutritious and appetizing meals. The foods the students liked best included chili, barbecues, sea-burgers, tacos and pizza.

Hail nor rain nor dark of night nor noisy students could keep Sky View bus drivers from making their rounds. Thirty-nine devoted men spent nearly three hours a day transporting Sky View students to and from school. These men enjoyed their work and did it because they thought it was "interesting".

ACADEMICS

Sky View's classes were more than just homework or sitting in a room for fifty-five minutes. Classes could be burning a first batch of cookies, spending the hour under a greasy automobile, or being hit on the head by a stray basketball. Courses ranged from modern dance and electronics to ornamental horticulture. Sky View's classes were continually meeting the challenge of change. New and better equipment was purchased and more effective methods for teaching the students to think were tried. The individual was challenged, but it was up to him to change.

LANGUAGE ARTS

Authors, research papers, dialogues — students in the Language Arts were constantly bombarded with new material. Besides learning gender and verbs, the foreign language students studied their country's culture, sampled native food and performed in plays. Beginning speech students wrote and presented orations, poetry recitals and mono-acts, while the advanced students participated in radio plays and one act dramas. Sky View's Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores broadened their abilities as they studied speed reading, creative writing and mythology.

BUSINESS

Key punch, selectric typewriters, off-set duplicators and a new dictation lab were added to the business department this year. At the beginning of the second semester this department moved into the new vocational building. Open classrooms helped create an atmosphere similar to that of an office. Type, shorthand, notehand, business machines and a business block class were just some of the areas that trained the students for their future vocations.

DRIVER EDUCATION

"Look out for that other car!" Crumpled fenders, squealing brakes and shaking teachers were often found in the Driver Education classes. Promoted from the junior high schools to high school level, Driver Education was a new class offered at Sky View. The students learned driving fundamentals, gained actual driving experience, changed tires and took reaction tests. The three teachers took turns giving classroom instruction and driving supervision.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

"To help students help themselves" was the goal of Sky View's Special Education Department. This department was instituted to help the exceptional student adjust to life and make his own way. The classes trained students for employment and provided jobs to go along with their studies. They learned skills to aid them in the future. Students were under the direction of Mr. William Rigby.

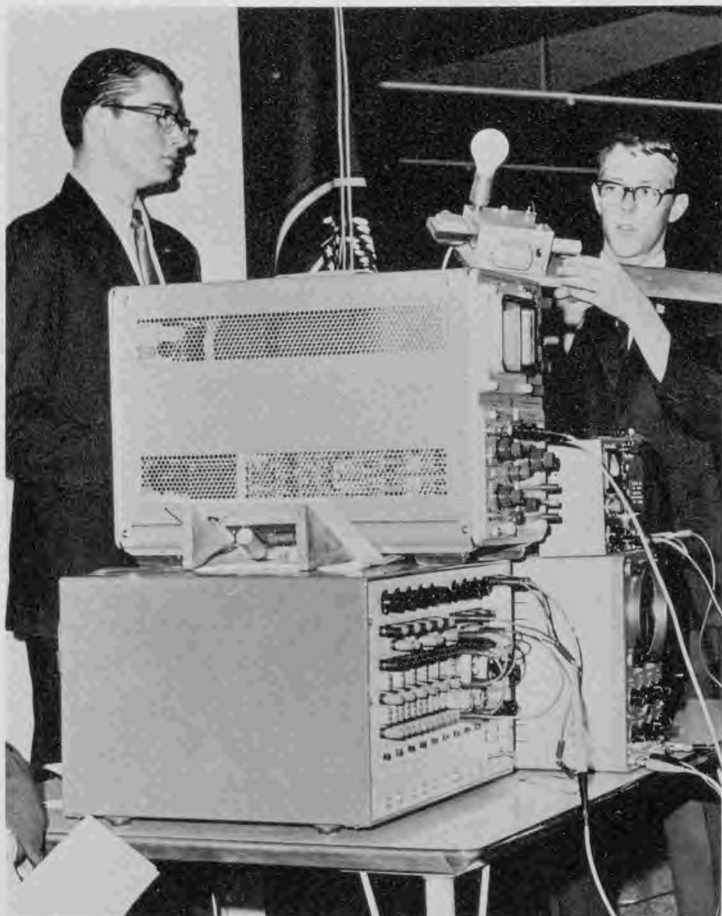

Through practice, special education students become skilled in the art of typing.

"These centers are bringing opportunities to our young people," declared Governor Calvin L. Rampton in his speech at the dedication.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Sky View's new Vocational Center, started last spring, was dedicated on Feb. 10, 1969, with Governor Calvin L. Rampton as guest speaker.

The building was used by students and adults in business, electronics and auto mechanics. Students in classrooms could be observed in all sections, for each of the classrooms had been constructed with just three walls. The desks and business machines were like those found in offices. The electronics area had transistors and radio stations where students frequently talked with people all over the world. The guess work was taken out of auto mechanics in the new modern "garage" where overall-clad boys got working knowledge in this field everyday. The 20,000 square foot shop accommodated eighteen cars. Because of the many facilities it offered, the Vocational Center promised to play a big part in Cache Valley, as well as at Sky View.

The math department sponsored a new program in the junior high schools this year where senior students gave Chalk Talks, math explanations on the blackboard.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Sore muscles and wet hair were a few of the harmless gripes heard in the girls' congested dressing rooms. Mrs. Workman countered complaints by introducing the art of folk dancing to her willing students. Coach Lindley summarized the P.E. program: "We want to help our students by giving them a knowledge of life-long sports including bowling, golfing and tennis." Both departments concentrated on helping the student acquire skills and co-ordination.

Taking their starting positions for a dance in the senior modern dance class are Mary Lou Jonas, Jennifer Schaub, Nada Rawlins and Mary Ann Pehrson.

INDUSTRIAL ART

CQ, CQ, CQ, WA7.CJL. This was Sky View's ham radio number. Students talked to radio operators in New Zealand, Japan and Hawaii as well as many U.S. mainland stations. A new engine from the Ford Company, scale and cut-away models for the drafting classes and leather and ceramic for crafts were some of the projects of the industrial arts classes. Sky View was the only school in the state that did its own photography for publications and handled its own publicity. The photography lab had facilities for eighteen to twenty-five students.

VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE

The Vocational Agriculture students constructed weed sprayers, scraperblades, animal feeders and trailers, repaired farm machinery and overhauled tractors. Some classes built and sold storage sheds. Ornamental Horticulture, which centered around beautification and landscaping, was taught for the first time at Sky View. One of their projects was to take a specific house and decide what kind of plants would look best around it.

HOME ECONOMICS

Imagine an electric oven that bakes a potato on a paper plate in 10 minutes. Sound far-fetched? Not in the least! The Home Economics Department's new range, which had both electronic and conventional ovens, performed this electronic miracle. Demonstrations on china, fabrics, cookware and vocations were given to the girls in homeliving classes. Students in this department also learned about preparing foods, designing clothes and managing a budget.

SCIENCES

Remember the steam engine that sprayed water on the first three rows of students, the hydrogen explosion, the smell of chicks hatching or fruit flies invading the room? Science students do! On a calmer day, three biology classes met in "college bowl" competition testing students' scientific knowledge. Viewing slides from the new film library gave students a working knowledge of science. Students in other classes did their own lab experiments to prove to themselves why things worked or why they didn't.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Words have no natural meaning; students must learn how to think, not what to think—these were some of the concepts of the new method of teaching social sciences that was on a trial basis at Sky View. The project directors, Dr. Larkin and Dr. Shaver from Utah State University, worked in co-operation with Mrs. White and Mr. Jessop's American Problems classes. Sky View's debate classes researched the topic: "Resolved that the United States should establish a system of compulsory service by all citizens."

Sky View's multi media center was a far cry from yesterday's library. Equipped with 7,000 hard back books and 1,500 paperbacks, the library also had movies, single concept loop films, film strips, transparencies, tapes, and records.

The library offered to the students 125 magazine subscriptions, many filed for 5 years. The storage of the no longer current material was solved by the addition of micro-films. A copy of any material on the film could be made by a unique machine, the micro-film reader-printer. This machine was one of the two in Utah high schools. According to one of the 3M equipment representatives, Sky View was definitely one of the leaders in the establishment of a media center.

STUDENTBODY

"United we stand!"
This was Sky View students' cry.
The studentbody was one.
At the games, in the play, in the musical, and in the assemblies, this oneness was seen and felt. In this "unitedness," however, the individual was not forgotten.

There was room for him to grow, develop, and change — within himself. The challenges change brought were not always easy to accept, but the studentbody tried. They fought, they lost, they won. But most important they were united — and no change could divide them.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

A completely united studentbody was the goal of the Executive Council. The officers were Grant White, chairman; Steve Spackman, vice-chairman; Dallene Spackman, secretary; LuAnn Olsen, historian; Debbie Clark, Brad Carlson, Kenny Thompson, Lynette Thorne, executives. Unitedly they worked to see that students were more active in school government. Every Thursday they called in a group of officers in an effort to get all of the clubs and organizations involved in the school's government. They initiated the "Cat of the Week" award to honor outstanding groups and individuals. They also brought Sky View a variety of the best possible assemblies.

Working together they planned special dress up days, named the Twirp Dance, gathered wood for the homecoming fire, were responsible for the initiation assembly, and helped with the planning of student activities. Whether they were smeared with paint from the posters they hung in the halls or taking charge of an assembly, Sky View's Executive Council stood united.

COORDINATING COUNCIL

An officer from every school club and organization participated in Sky View's Coordinating Council. In addition, the cheerleaders, songleaders, Boys' and Girls' Association, the classes, and the editors of the publications were represented. This legislative body chose the half-time shows and activities, scheduled the use of the auditorium for assemblies and plays, and picked the group that decorated the showcase. Working with the executive council and administration, the forty-five members of the council helped the school government to run more smoothly.

Row five: Bernard Israelsen, John Hansen, Steve Spackman, Ace Pilkington, Danny Bankhead, Hal Hansen, Hal Bradshaw, Scott Simmons, Grant White, Ken Thompson, Kent Bear, Kim Petersen.

STUDENT SENATE

Every student at Sky View was represented in student government. At the beginning of the school year, each home room elected a senator to represent them in the Student Senate. Sixty senators met the first Tuesday of every month. In the meetings, the representatives were informed of school activities and participated in discussions involving the problems of government and discipline at Sky View. The senators also brought to the meetings the suggestions and criticisms of the students in their home rooms.

Row five: Kurt Allen, Lamont Jessop, Steve Spackman, Mike Henry, Kim Oliverson, Danny Bankhead, Hal Hansen, Mike Wolford, Jim Cooper, Grant White, Ken Thompson, Quin Murray, Richard Cooper.

SENIORS

"We must make this the best senior class that Sky View's ever had!" This was the goal of the 1969 seniors. Led by officers Gary McBride, Kent Baer, and Sharon Olsen, the class unified itself and showed its potential. Under student leadership, they went a long way toward the recognition of their goal. As sophomores they presented the Christmas assembly and dance. "Portraits of My Love" was the theme of their long-remembered Junior Prom. This year they presented the Senior Prom and assembly. As the class gift, this year's seniors and the graduating class of 1968 presented the school with a new football scoreboard. Working and planning together, Sky View's seniors showed themselves and the school that they were a great class.

JUNIORS

"We're going to have fun and have a great year!" This was what Junior President Owen Hatch, Vice-President Doug Pehrson, and Secretary Patty Anderson had in mind for their class. Juniors participated in the play, the musical, in sports, on assemblies — in just about every activity Sky View held. As Sophomores they won first prize in the Homecoming Parade. "It's a Marshmallow World" was the theme of their Sophomore Christmas dance and assembly. This year, they sponsored the Junior Prom and assembly. President Owen Hatch summed up the Juniors' feelings when he said, "We know we have a lot to live up to, but we're learning how to lead and apply our talent so we can keep Sky View great."

Could it be old Capulet, alias Randy Douglas, started the Capulet—Montegue feud during a poker game?

SOPHOMORES

"We're loyal and true!" The 1968-69 Sophomore class officers President Ronny Jibson, Vice-President David Lambert, and Secretary Marty Hibbard, worked for one thing — to unite the students from three junior high schools into loyal Bobcats. Starting the year off right, the class float won third place in the Homecoming Parade. When Christmas came, the Sophomores presented a reindeer dancing, space capsule mixture assembly entitled, "This Is That Time Of Year." "Peppermint Cascades" was the theme of their candyland dance. A party climaxed their Sophomore year. Through their many activities, meetings, and organizations the class accomplished their goal — they grew into one.

ORGANIZATIONS

A monthly magazine appeared for the first time at Sky View as the Literary Club published short stories, essays, and poems written by its members. The Ski Club found its challenge on Beaver Mountain, and the Science Club "saw stars" at the Hansen Planetarium. Each club had its special challenge — to offer a place for the student to develop outside interests and hobbies, and to change — within. The clubs changed too. Participation among the students increased. Working, planning, challenging, Sky View organizations continued to change — for the best.

Editors Gloria Wickham and Elaine Spackman confer with photographer Mike Pitcher about photographs to be used for the deadline.

Managing Editor, Scott Jeppesen, in charge of budgeting Aurora finances, checks over the receipts from ads and picture sales.

Maxine Christiansen, Copy Editor, puzzles over just the right wording 80 for her many copy blocks and numerous captions.

Layout Editors, Jane Obray and Marla Wood, put the finishing touches on dummy sheets for the studentbody section.

AURORA

"That lay-out's due next week!" "Who's got the dummy for page 52?" "Are you sure there's copy on that page?"

Working together, sometimes exasperated, but more often organized, the 1969 Aurora staff strove for one thing—the truth. In August the Senior editors attended a workshop at Brigham Young University to learn new year-book procedures.

When school started there were original lay-outs to be drawn, copy to be written, and pictures to be shot—all before the monthly deadline. The staff members occasionally missed classes, homework and sleep as they accepted the challenge of turning out something better than their previous best.

JUNIOR EDITORS: Darlene Spackman, Christi Andrew, Kerry Jensen, Vivienne Smith, Arlene Griffin, Lori Summers.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Rodney Rindlisbacher, Paul Willie, Gary Thunell, Charles Spackman, Joe Allred.

ADVISORS: Belva Hansen, Ariel Benson.

CATONIAN

"All I know is what I read in the paper" was the sign the Catonian staff hung in their room to remind them of their goal—to inform every Sky View student about the happenings in and around the school. Nine staff members of the thirty-two met regularly in a second-hour class. For each issue, the staff chose the best news, editorial or feature writer. At the end of the year the outstanding writer was chosen. Sky View students could truly say: "All I know is what I read in the paper."

CO-EDITORS: Gary Jones and Diane Hulet.

JUNIOR EDITORS: Randy Funk and Paula Shaw.

EDITORIAL STAFF: Mrs. Christensen, Advisor; Susan Jeppesen, Jeanette Anderson, Rhonda Rasmussen.

EDITORIAL STAFF: Doug White, Gerald Smith, Kurt Allen, Lynette Ransom.

EDITORIAL STAFF: Carol Drury, Conrad Bowen, Jeanette Nielson, Roger Neilson.

CATALYST

CO-EDITORS: Mike Ballam and Randi Lawry.

What contains the student's own work and is read by nearly every student in the school? The Sky View Catalyst of course! The eleven members of the Catalyst staff enthusiastically promoted excellence in original literature—both in writing and reading. The Catalyst was divided into three sections: poetry, non-fiction and short story. Art work used to illustrate the stories and poetry was drawn by the students. Sophomore, Junior and Senior awards were given for the best entrants out of each class, and the Sweepstakes Award was given for the best entry published in the Catalyst.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' ASSOCIATION

Special meetings, activities, fun — these words were synonymous with the Boys' and Girls' Association. Together they sponsored the 1969 Homecoming Dance. Then while the girls were watching a spring fashion show or having a special information assembly, the boys were watching a faculty-team basketball game or listening to guest speakers. Sponsoring a pep rally, working on a skit, supporting Sky View's standards, that was the Boys' and Girls' Association — with every student a member.

OFFICERS: Kathy Allen, President; Denna Lee Anderson, Vice-President; Kathy Watkins, Secretary; Hal Hansen, President; Hal Bradshaw, Vice-President; Craig Petersen, Secretary.

ART CLUB

The Art Club was reorganized this year with Mr. Roe as advisor. The club climaxed the year with a Spring Fine Arts Show held in conjunction with the music organizations. Members displayed the outstanding art work produced by students in Sky View art classes. The club purchased a work of art to add to Sky View's growing collection.

"This is the best choir I've heard yet!" was the comment of the Cottonwood Mall photographer after hearing the Sky View A cappella Choir perform in the Mall at Christmas time. That same day, the choir was filmed for a television appearance on Channel 2. This group was also highlighted at the Christmas Concert presented by Sky View's choral groups. Here they sang parts of the Messiah. They performed at several stake conferences and participated at choir invitationals.

The A cappella Choir consisted of 89 Juniors and Seniors who worked under the direction of Stratford Loosle. Membership in the choir helped students develop their vocal talents and gave them opportunities to sing in public.

As the last strains of "The Laughing Saxophone" faded, the audience gave a spontaneous standing ovation to Attila Galamb. Fifteen year old Atilla, the versatile boy genius of music, appeared with the Concert Band in the Christmas Concert. The ninety member band initiated guest appearances for the first time this year. In December the Concert Band traveled to Bear River for a Tri-School band concert with Bear River and Weber. In March they performed at the annual Band Night. Spring found them traveling to central Utah on tour and presenting the Twilight Concert. Members of the band attended USU's solo and ensemble festival, and the more advanced students performed at Sky View's recital night. Individual effort paid off as several band members traveled with the School Band of America.

MARCHING BAND

One hundred and fifty-seven strong—that was Sky View High's Marching Band—the largest in the state of Utah. The band practiced every Wednesday morning in the summer at 6:00. They appeared at Ogden, Logan and several other parades around the valley. When fall came, the band performed at all of Sky View's home football games. They helped open Utah State University's new Romney Stadium with a unique political-theme half-time show and a live spontaneous scoreboard. The band was one of the very few in the state that memorized 26 selections for performances. The Marching Band's invitational record proves that they are one of the finest bands in Utah.

STUDIO BAND

On days that Sky View had away games, the Studio Band was heard playing in the halls, boosting school spirit. This versatile band not only played at games and pep rallies, but they were hired to play at dances. The Studio Band played for Senator Bennett and attended the Stage Band festivals at Utah State University and Reno, Nevada.

Row two: Raelene Richman, Mark Israelson, Dave Hirschi, Mark Nielson, John Duncan, Rick Harry. Row three: Devon Maughan, Guy Durrant, Glen Watkins, Dale Pitcher, Scott Eskelson, John Hansen, Laurence Leonhardt.

VARSITY BAND

"Girofle-Girofla", "Latinette" — the Sky View Varsity Band got a taste of 'high brow' music as they performed this year. The band played for the Christmas Concert, Band Night and the Twilight Concert. They made a tour of the junior high schools, and performed on a concert with the Logan and Preston varsity bands.

Sky View's orchestra gave serious music students an opportunity to increase their knowledge of classical music. Fourth hour and after school practices prepared them for an exchange concert with Skyline and a spring concert for the public. They accompanied the choir's performance of "The Messiah" and played the musical score to "West Side Story".

PERFORMING GIRLS' GLEE

"We've been asked to present a program two weeks from Saturday. Can we all make it?" The 48 specially selected girls of the Performing Girls' Glee usually answered in the affirmative. They worked each fourth hour under the direction of Mr. Loosle to prepare programs for stake and ward organizations, clubs, parents and the studentbody.

AQUATICS CLUB

Members of the Aquatics Club developed an understanding of proper water safety and promoted swimming as an exercise, a body-builder and a lifetime recreation. They had access to Sky View's pool every Wednesday after school. Many of the boys in the club were on the swim team, and girl swimmers were timers for inter-scholastic swim meets.

BOWLING CLUB

The Bowling Club was organized for students who desired to learn to bowl or to become better bowlers. Experienced club members taught beginning bowlers the pleasures of bowling. The club bowled every fourth Monday. The big finish of the year was a party with prizes given to the best and worst bowlers.

BUSINESS CLUB

A tour of the new facilities at Utah State University, a lecture on the offset machine, and a visit to the First Security Bank in Logan were only a few of the activities of the Business Club this year. The Business Club offered an opportunity for students to widen their view of a career in business.

A mother-daughter food fair where everyone sampled the entries, a candy dipping demonstration, career day at BYU, a roller skating party and the Harvest Ball highlighted the program of Sky View's Future Homemakers of America Chapter. This club, designed to "further interest in home economics", was made up of 181 girls. Club members and guest speakers discussed "Good Family Relations" and "Citizenship Challenges You", the national projects for the past year.

The FFA met once a month to discuss such activities as co-sponsoring the Harvest Ball, planning a Christmas Party and Parent-Son Banquet, and attending the State and National FFA conventions. The aim of the FFA was the development of agriculture, leadership, cooperation, and citizenship.

FUTURE NURSES

"Our club is fun", said club president, Sue Nielson. Taking field trips, attending movies, listening to guest speakers, touring the Logan LDS Hospital, and being able to become a Candy Striper were advantages of membership in the Future Nurses Club. This exciting club made available information about the nursing field.

DECA CLUB

The Distributive Education Club tried to promote a better knowledge of marketing, distribution, salesmanship and public service. The musical, "West Side Story" was skillfully advertised by club members. A convention with the DECA clubs of Utah was held in Salt Lake City to elect state delegates.

FUTURE TEACHERS

Members of the Future Teacher's Club were honored by having Principal Webb as guest speaker at one of their meetings. Other highlights of the year included a workshop at USU, panel discussions, films, and a field trip visiting Special Education classes. The members were able to better understand the problems that teachers encounter.

LITERARY CLUB

The Literary Club, a new club at Sky View, encouraged students with a writing potential to submit poetry, essays, and stories to be used in a monthly publication. Each month the club wrote about different general topics such as: "Man as a Physical Being," "The Governing of Man," and "The Religions of Man."

FORENSICS

Sky View and Logan met in a debate for the first time this year, and Sky View came out ahead, 32-28. Bonneville, Springville and Skyline were also on the debate schedule. The Forensics program involved students in competitive speaking and debate and helped them achieve a greater ability to deliver ideas. By practice in these areas, students were better prepared for the future.

GERMAN CLUB

A six-hour-long Christmas party entertained members of the German Club during the holiday vacation. Tubing down the hills of Blacksmith Fork Canyon, playing games and eating were all a part of the activity. The club built a float for the Homecoming parade featuring a blue state of Utah and the motto "State in 68—A Time for Us". Alfred Kock, formerly of Germany, was one of several guest speakers who talked to the group about Germany.

Front row, left to right: Shannon Summers, Representative; Luva Affleck, Vicky Balls, Sidney Wamsley, Teresa Bassett, Mary Lynn Evans, Darla Evans, Dallas Collet, Harris Huston. FRENCH CLUB

The French Club acquainted members with the French people and their customs. At club meetings, members listened to guest speakers and viewed travel films of France. A party climaxing the year featured a full course French meal which included crepe suzettes, cheese fondue, escargots, and French pastries.

KEY CLUB

The Key Club featured Dr. Ungerleider of UCLA in a lyceum explaining the dangers of drugs. An assembly with the Vistaans, a computer dance and a pep assembly were also sponsored by the Key Club. Affiliated with the Kiwanis International organization, the Key Club tried to promote initiative and leadership in club members.

LETTERMEN

High ideals, clean living, school spirit and dedication to athletics identified members of the Lettermen Club. The group enjoyed club breakfasts and promoted school spirit and interest in sports. They sponsored a "Showboats" Basketball Team appearance and the spring Athletic Banquet that honored Sky View's athletic achievements.

Front row, left to right: Jim Cooper, Michael Wolford, Dan Bankhead, Vice-President; Kim Peterson, President; Kim Leishman, Reporter; Claud Williams, Secretary; Dennis Darley, Dana Zook, Kent King, Bobby Harris, Fred Alley, Coach Hansen, Coach Ransom. MODEL U.N.

Sky View attended the United Nations Assembly at the University of Utah on April 25-26. The Model UN Club involved students in the problems of other countries and gave them the opportunity to understand and participate in the procedures of the United Nations. Sky View represented Bolivia and Monaco at the Model UN Assembly.

PEP CLUB

"Go! Fight! Win!" A roar of excitement filled the air as the Pep Club cheered the team on to victory. Their enthusiasm spread to other school activities. They sponsored the Homecoming Assembly, "There's a Time For Us", and a float for the parade, "Time Marches On". Before several games, the Pep Club joined with other schools for a get acquainted tea. A good deal of hard work was put into their projects that included making posters and team badges before games, learning new cheers and selling activity calendars. The Pep Club's enthusiasm and support in school activities helped Sky View stand unitedly. "Let's Go! Let's Fight! Let's Win!"

As the clock strikes one, Eloise Godfrey waits for more of Sky View's past talent to appear on the Homecoming assembly.

SAFETY COUNCIL

The Safety Council tried to reduce accidents on the highway and at school by making posters on safety and giving tips on driving before games. Officer Wright of the Logan Police Department gave a lecture on drugs and driving. The club officers attended a convention and were given tips on safety by Governor Rampton and other prominent men.

Front row, left to right: Melanie Demler, Laura Lee Ricks, Renae Hobbs, President; GeraLynn Johnson, Ilene Krebs, Nyla Low, Karen Hatch, Kathy Spackman, Kristie Lindley. SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club studied flying saucers, geology, paper airplane design and genetics. Members enjoyed a seminar on computer programming and field trips to Hansen Planetarium and Arco Atomic Testing Station. They participated in region science fairs and the Humanities Symposium at the University of Utah.

SPANISH CLUB

Los Picaros, translated "Those Who Get Into Mischief", learned to appreciate the Spanish culture through lectures on bullfighting and a movie, Don Quixote. Fiesta time came at Christmas when they broke purple and pink elephant pinatas and ate tacos and other Spanish foods.

SKI CLUB

Sky View skiers stormed the slopes with enthusiasm. Inexperienced skiers received instructions and help from the more skilled. With skiing as a common interest, club members received tips on skiing technique and equipment in lectures and movies. They also helped to organize individual and inter-school competition in ski racing.

Combined rides and outings drew members of the Vaqueros Club together. At club meetings they heard a veterinarian talk about caring for horses and saw films about horse care. Their Christmas party was held at the New Grand View Cafe where they enjoyed a ham dinner and exchanged Christmas gifts. The year was highlighted by a ride in the fall up Logan Canyon to see the famed site of Old Ephraim's Grave. On their way back, a rainstorm forced them to find shelter at a Girl Scout camp. The club took lunches or fried steaks when they went on rides.

Front row, left to right: Roger Howell, Sandra Hancey, Judy Fredrickson, Jaylene Nelson, Karen Hatch, Dawneta Day. The Vistauns were a carefully selected group of twenty-three talented girls who developed precision marching skills under the direction of Mrs. Jean Workman. They spent many hours of strenuous exercising during the summer and in a regular class period to perfect their routines for half-time performances. Besides entertaining at several home football and basketball games they traveled to other campuses such as: Weber State, Ricks, Utah

WALLABIES

The Wallabies met twice a week for a workout in gymnastics. Their big activity was a halftime for a pre-season basketball game. The club gave students interested in gymnastics a chance to participate as well as keep in shape. Co-ordination was not necessary to be in the club. Some of the most coordinated members broke the parallel bars.

ACTIVITIES

Where should I go tonight?
Assembly practice? The dance committee meeting? The club party?
Sky View activities were everywhere—computer dances, proms, parades, pep rallies, and club meetings. Publications “socked-it-to-em” with a “Laugh-in” assembly. The school play and musical were woven around a central theme—

“Romeo and Juliet” and “West Side
Story”. Even the students that were not “on stage” decorated for dances or helped backstage. Working hard, being frustrated, having a ball, Sky View students became involved—totally.

HOMECOMING

A time for us—and what a time! The 1968 Homecoming activities began Wednesday evening with a record-breaking parade down Smithfield's mainstreet. At 6:45 the students and alumni yelled and cheered at the "burn the Bees" pep rally.

At 10:00 on October 17, Alumni began signing in. At 11:00 the Homecoming assembly, "A Time For Us", brought back alumni talent.

Two-thirty found a record-breaking crowd at the Sky View football field, as the Bobcats battled the Box

Elder Bees for their hoped for seventh season win.

But even the loss of the game couldn't ruin the magic of the Homecoming Dance. The gym was transformed into a resume of Sky View's past Homecomings, with a scene in each corner of the gym representing a past theme. Sky View Alumni's time had come and gone. The Juniors' and Sophomores' time was yet to come; but for the Seniors, it was a "Time For Us".

Sitting: Renee Godderidge, Homecoming Queen. Standing, left to right: Mary Lou Halverson, Karen Baer, Debra Clark, and Lynette Thorne.

Rose Mary Anderson studies the manikin while Kathy Watkins cuts letters to spell the Homecoming Dance theme.

Members of the football teams crowd close to the bonfire to watch the "burning of the Bee".

This "Bee Eater", the winning float in the Homecoming Parade, was entered by Bank's P. E. class.

Club officers Dennis Darley and Melanie Sharp add water to the fountain for the Harvest Ball.

"IF EVER I WOULD LEAVE YOU"

Have you ever seen a fire-breathing dragon? Or a knight in shining armor? The students that attended the Harvest Ball and assembly did! "A Knight to Remember" transported students back to the days of chivalry. In the assembly, a "damsel in distress" was taken back in time to a medieval setting by the magic knight she found in the junk yard. The dance furthered the medieval theme with a setting of shields and thrones. The royalty was chosen by the Future Homemakers of America and the Future Farmers of America from their own membership. The theme song "If Ever I Would Leave You" was sung by Junior Brad Pickett.

Capulet and his wife discuss plans for Juliet's wedding to the Count Paris.

"She's dead, deceased, she's dead; alack the day!"

"All right, do it again, but this time put more feeling into it." The students who participated in Sky View's production of "Romeo and Juliet" often heard Mrs. Carlson give these instructions. Tryouts were held at the first of September and rehearsals began September twenty-fifth. During the next two months, the students lived, thought and spoke Shakespearean. Just the right mood, gesture and feeling had to be projected. Shakespearean costumes were rented from the University of Utah Speech Department. The Shakespearean stage setting required only the dimming of lights and bringing them up again between scenes, eliminating the breaks for scenery changing. Cooperation, dedication and plain hard work on the part of hundreds of students produced one of the most outstanding plays Sky View has presented.

Tybalt and Romeo fight because Tybalt has just killed Mercutio, Romeo's friend.

Friar Laurence prays that he has done the right thing in secretly marrying Romeo and Juliet.

"I will confess to you that I love him."

Montague comforts his wife after their son Romeo is banished from the kingdom of Verona.

ROMEO AND JULIET

Romeo, a young man from the house of Montague, on the insistence of his friend Benvolio, attends a ball given by his enemies, the Capulets. By chance, he meets Juliet, Capulet's daughter, and at first sight they fall in love with each other. But Juliet's cousin, the quarrelsome Tybalt, witnesses the meeting and seeks out Romeo. Romeo, who is returning from his secret marriage to Juliet has no desire to fight Tybalt. Romeo's friend Mercutio takes up the quarrel and is killed at Romeo's intervention. Enraged, Romeo takes up the fight, kills Tybalt, and is banished from the kingdom of Verona.

Juliet's father, knowing nothing of her marriage to Romeo, insists that she marry the Count Paris and sets the marriage date. In desperation, Juliet goes to Friar Laurence for help. He gives her a potion that will make her appear to be dead. She takes it the night before she is to be married, and, thinking her dead, her family puts her in the Capulet tomb. Meanwhile, Friar Laurence sends a letter to Romeo telling him of the plan. But by unlucky chance, the letter does not reach Romeo, and thinking Juliet dead, he goes to the tomb and kills himself. When Juliet wakes up, she finds her lover dead and kills herself with Romeo's knife.

"Good night, good night! parting is such sweet sorrow,
That I shall say good night till it be morrow."

Guests dance at the party Capulet holds to introduce his daughter Juliet to the Count Paris.

"Romeo slew him, he slew Mercutio;
Who now the price of his dear blood doth owe?"

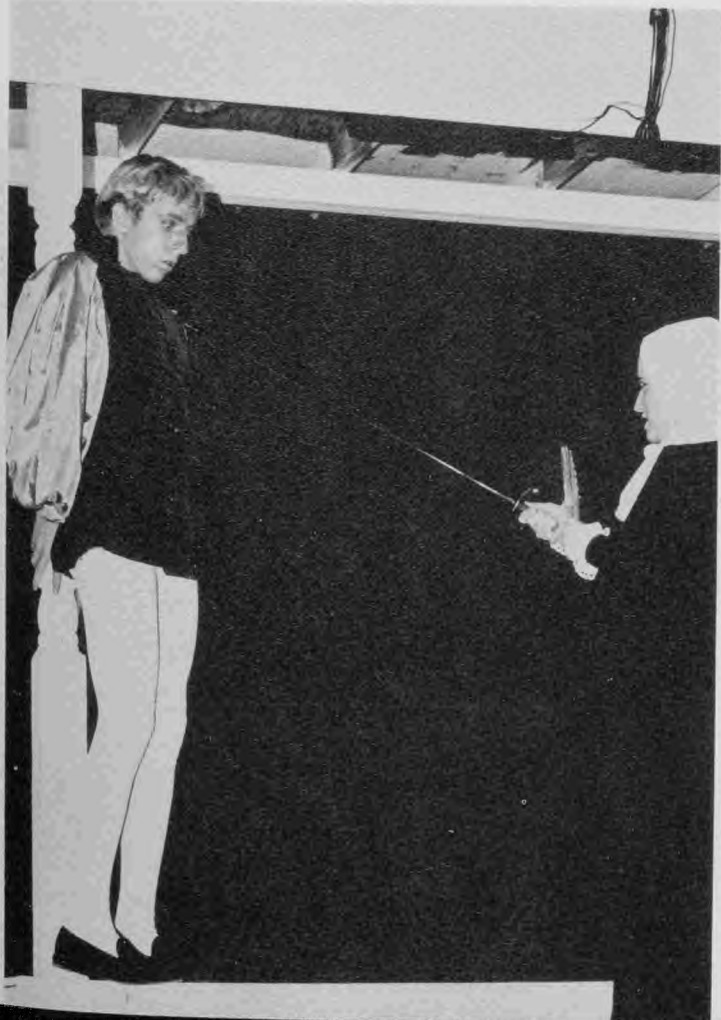

"No, 'tis not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a church-door; but 'tis enough, 'twill serve."

"This is that very Mab; That plats the manes of horses in the night . . ."

"Now, afore God, I am so vext, that every part about me quivers. Scurvy knave!"

"—O happy dagger! This is thy sheath; there rust, and let me die."

"PEPPERMINT CASCADES"

Visions of sugar plums danced in Sky View students' heads at the Sophomore-sponsored Christmas dance. "Peppermint Cascades" transported students to an old-fashioned candyland.

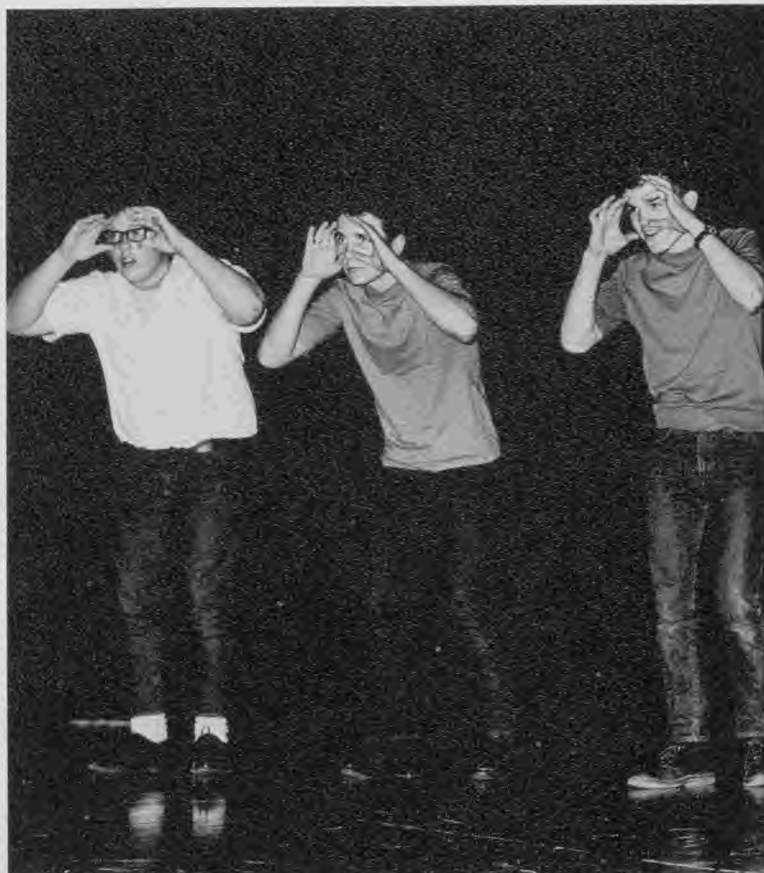

A space-age Christmas was explored on the Sophomore assembly as the space ship Star Speck broke through a time barrier and accidentally crashed into Santa's sleigh and his reindeer. This aroused the curiosity of the Star Speck's crew, and they decided to investigate the ancient earth life. The crew then "beamed up" to their ship various people to observe their Christmas customs. The theme song was "This is That Time of Year".

Seated: Kristy Lewis, Queen; Dee Ashcroft, King. Standing: Bob Ellis and Sherri Andersen, First Attendants; Wendy Arave and Jon Miller, Second Attendants.

Sophomores add the final touches to the fountain used as a Christmas Dance decoration.

Bob Ladle, Kirk Brown and David Anderson practice their "reindeer dance" for the Sophomore assembly.

TWIRP DANCE ROYALTY: Kliss Reese, Susan Blauer and Debbie Miller.

"LITTLE ARROWS"

Love comes in strange ways to hillbilly country—Marryin' Sam, kissing booths, and marriage jails. These were some of the new additions to the Valentine Twirp Dance. Couples wearing country dress and ready for a real hillbilly hoedown were "ushered" to "Marryin' Sam Summers" and then given a marriage certificate. If they lost it or danced too close, "Policemen" Roe and Jessop threw the couple in jail. The kissing booth was open to "courting couples" and "married" ones alike. When the couples came through the door, they wrote their names on a card and put them in a bucket. At the floor show three cards were drawn from the bucket, and the couples whose names were on the card were part of the royalty. The theme song, "Little Arrows", was sung by Neil Fuhriman, Steve Thunnel and Scott Simmons. The Twirp Dance was the first of its type at Sky View.

Twirp Dance Policeman Roe tells Ricky Downs he'll have to marry Karen Murray.

"When you're a Jet, you're a Jet all the way."

Bernardo and Anita enter the dance at the gym.

Tony and Maria meet secretly after the dance at the gym.

The tension mounted backstage, a few last minute instructions were given, the lights dimmed and the curtain was opened after months of preparation. Finally after five years, Sky View presented "West Side Story", a musical modernization of "Romeo and Juliet". Mrs. Carlson, speech teacher, worked with the students on blocking scenes and acting. The music was under the direction of Mr. Loosle, the choral instructor. With a joint effort the musical was put together and presented to the public on February 18-22.

Riff and Bernardo fight at the Rumble.

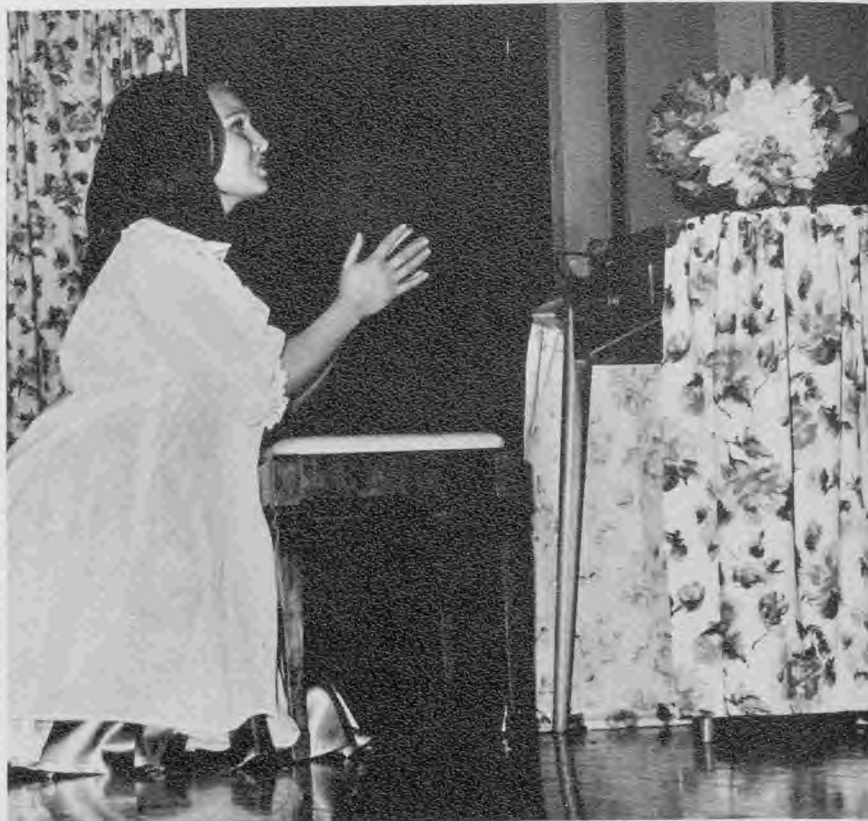

"I don't know what it is, it's just around the corner, but it's comin'!"

"Make of our hands, one hand; make of our hearts, one heart."

WEST SIDE STORY

Listen to the finger-snapping pulse of life on the West Side of New York City. Riff is the leader of the Jets. The opposition, a Puerto Rican gang called the Sharks, is led by Bernardo. Inevitably, it adds up to a Rumble—they'll set the date at a dance. But there's nothing to worry about—because "the Jets are the greatest". Riff and his best friend Tony founded the Jets together. Lately, Tony's been drifting away from the Jets. Riff persuades Tony to come to the dance. Perhaps there he'll discover someone special. The dance is a very important one for Maria, Bernardo's sister. It is her first dance in America. Tony arrives. From opposite sides of the gym he and Maria see each other for the first time. A Rumble under the highway is planned. Tony promises Maria there will be no fight. He attempts to reconcile the two factions, but Bernardo insults him. Riff leaps forward and belts Bernardo. In the fight that follows the forbidden knives appear, and Riff is killed by Bernardo. Tony grabs Riff's blade and stabs Bernardo. The result is a tragedy for the young lovers, with Tony being killed in Maria's arms.

"Please make it not be true."

"Gee, Officer Krupke, what are we to do?"

"How do you fire this gun, Chino, by pulling this little trigger?"

"Go back where you came from, Spic."

"What a bunch of old man rivers; they don't know nothin', and they don't say nothin'."

Chino is stunned after the tragic killing of Tony.

Maria, shocked by the death of Tony, weeps bitterly.

PEP ASSEMBLIES

Add ten cheer and song leaders, a pep speaker, a skit and 1380 wildly screaming Bobcats, and what do you get? A Sky View pep assembly! Little Black Sambo lost his clothes and the Ogden Tiger lost his head, thanks to a Sky View Bobcat; a famous spirit can was "stolen" and its school spirit emptied out; and a lady in distress was rescued by Dudley Doright—all at spirit-raising pep assemblies. Organizations sponsored the pep rally skits, but each had the same goal: to light a fire of enthusiasm under the Bobcats. Originality plus was the material the pep speakers used to excite the studentbody and convince them that their team was going to win!

ASSEMBLIES

Students rocked with laughter at the Sophomores on the initiation assembly, Sky View's first of the year. The school assembled approximately once a week and students were entertained, informed and asked for opinions on school problems. Prisoners from Utah State Prison spoke, alumnus Craig Jessop showed slides of his tour of the Far East and the Utah Symphony Orchestra made its first appearance at Sky View. These assemblies were not entered in the competition for the coveted Assembly Trophy that went to the best student-organized assembly of the year. The Pep Club presented the Homecoming Assembly, FHA and FFA co-sponsored the Harvest Ball Assembly, and a Laugh-in Assembly was presented by Publications. The Sophomores presented the Christmas Assembly and the Boys' and Girls' Associations were next with a basketball game and a fashion show. The Junior and Senior classes followed. The year closed with the awards assembly and the exciting and imaginative campaign assembly.

JUNIOR PROM

Love has many faces and many forms. Each one had a separate and distinct look as the Juniors showed with their Junior Prom theme "The Look of Love". The love Tom Sawyer had for Becky, self-centered love, sophisticated love and innocent love — were all shown in various scenes. Saturday night, March 22, highlighted the special week as the couples entered a mystical white dreamland themed around "Illusive Dreams". A huge crystal chandelier, an abstract garden and a draped white ceiling enhanced the dreamy feeling. The royalty stood, bathed in gold light, on an ascending staircase encircled by gold pillars. The looks of love, dreamed by the Junior class, were not soon forgotten.

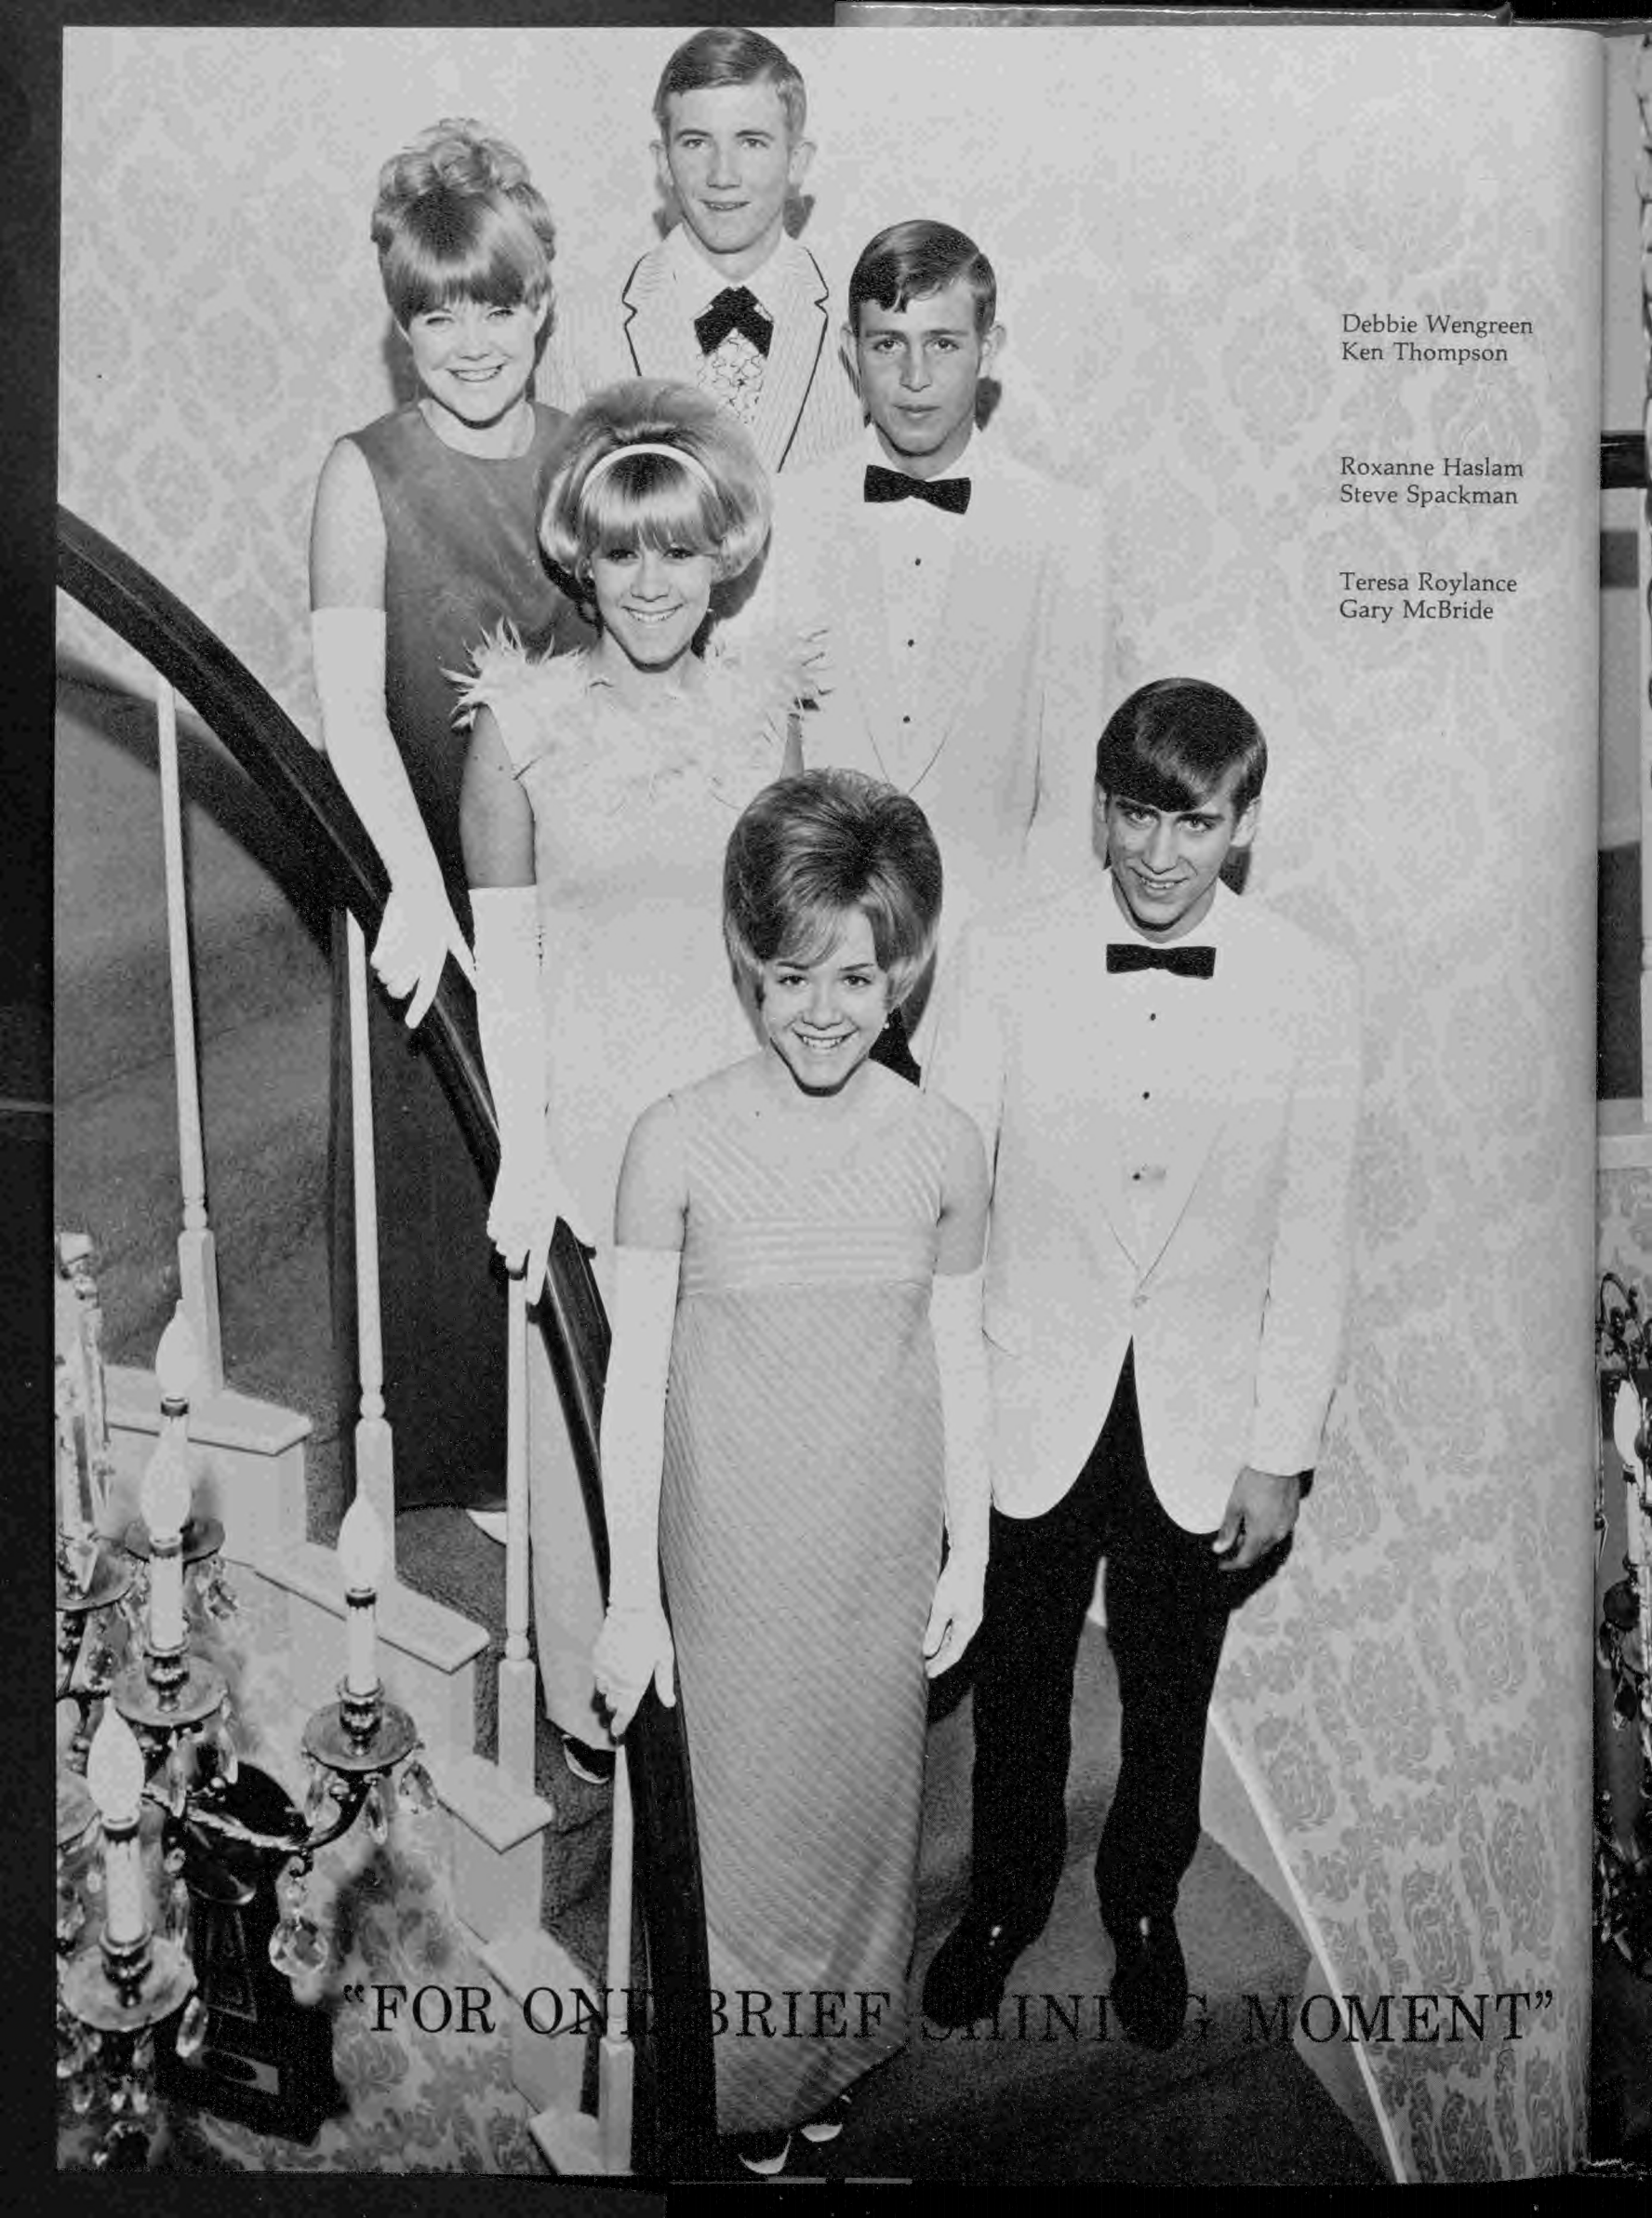

Decorations around the theme "Illusive Dreams" create a romantic atmosphere for the Junior Prom.

SPORTS

"Now let's start the spirit with a capital S!" Bobcat spirit—it was behind our teams 100%. This year Sky View sports really exploded! Our cross-country runners took second in region and third in state. In football, we finally broke loose and won our first game in two years—and we didn't stop at just one. Two swimmers qualified for state. Our wrestlers were region champions and took second in state. Consolation championship was the prize our basketball team brought home from state tournament. Sky View spirit — it took off and never stopped!

FOOTBALL

Victory! After two long years of winless seasons, the Sky View Bobcats practiced during the summer and before and after school with one thought in mind: to get out there and WIN! Under the direction of the new coach, Earl Lindley, the Bobcats received outstanding recognition in the region. Over-whelming victories showed that this season the Bobcats meant business. The biggest thrill of the season was when Sky View beat Logan for the first time. The team, even with its two losses, showed that Sky View could go to the top in football.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Drills, plays, formations—these were what the Junior Varsity team practiced beginning the latter part of August. Juniors and Sophomores played on the JV team and some of them suited up for Varsity. The same plays and formations were used in both the JV and Varsity games. Coach Jessop called the JV team the background for the Varsity team and gave the players the experience they needed for another winning year.

Junior Varsity team cooperation is evident as players make sure a worthy Bobcat gets the desired pigskin.

Sore muscles and aching bones were just a few of the aches that the Sophomore football player's acquired during their season. Two weeks before school started, they were out drilling with the Varsity players. The sophomore team had great potential and spirit, as shown by their amazing come-from-behind victory over Box Elder. Behind 19-0 at half time, they came roaring back to win 26-19!

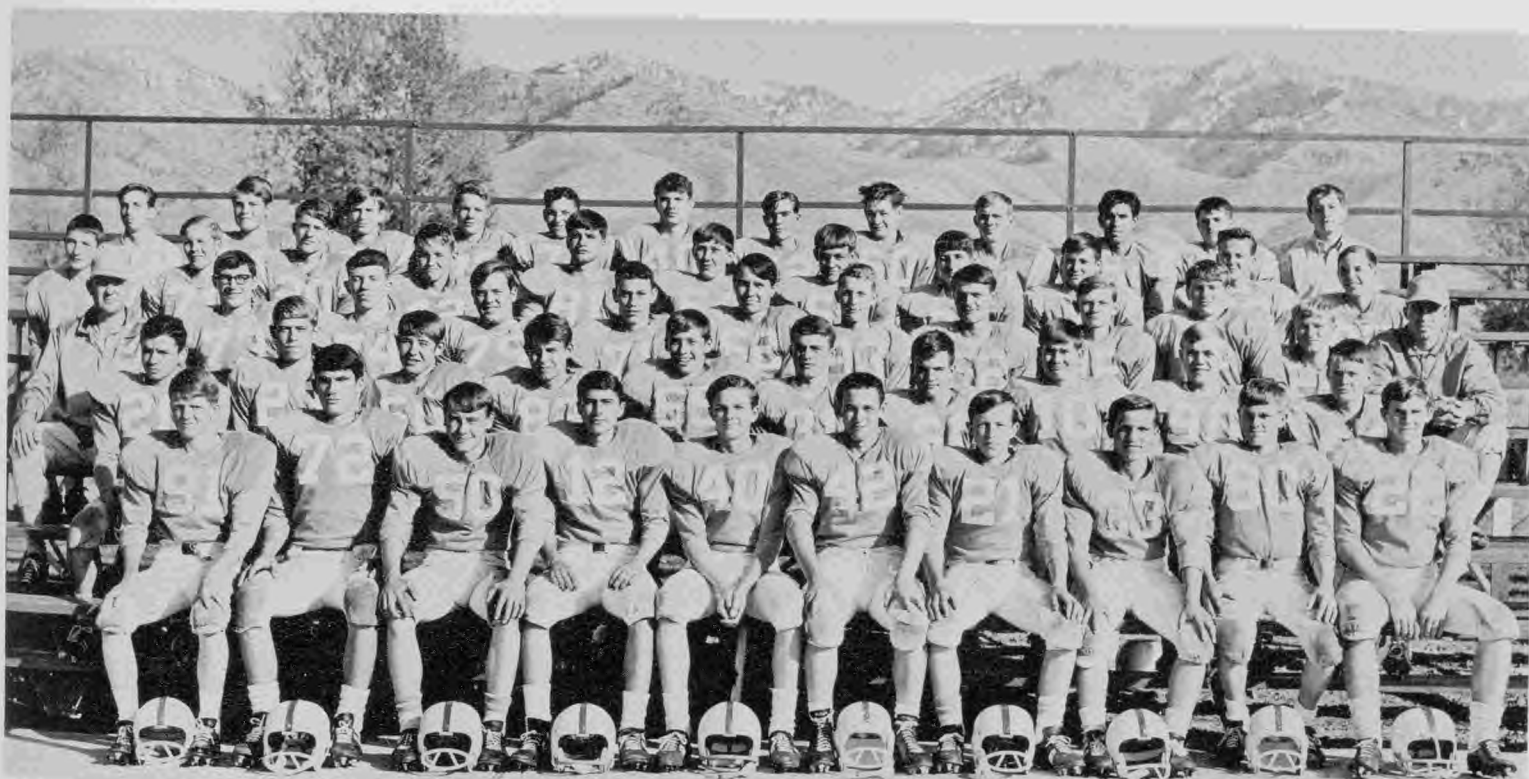

The Bobcat's Sophomore team shows its determination by keeping their aggressors lagging behind.

BASKETBALL

"Two seconds left, Sky View trails Olympus by one—Thompson to Pehrson. He shoots—SWISH! And there's the buzzer! The Sky View Bobcats have just won consolation honors in the state tournament!"

Combining skill and hustle, the team defeated all of the region teams except Logan, who became the state's second place team. At state they downed Spanish Fork, Orem, and Olympus for Consolation and fifth place, losing only to Bountiful, 1969 state champions.

What they lacked in size, the Junior Varsity team made up for in desire and hustle. Coach Jessop drilled them in defense and bankboard and built up their endurance for the "Bobcat press." Several of the players got to play in varsity games. Like the varsity, the team won most of their region games. Two of their five losses were two and three point thrillers to Logan. WRESTLING

The Sky View Wrestlers rolled through Region One with no trouble at all — winning eleven and losing none. The team started training November 7 and practiced sixth hour and after school. "One thing I like about wrestling," said Coach Ransom, "is that it gives every kid an opportunity." Their meets in the Region were held on Thursdays. The wrestlers won Region and brought home an enormous trophy from State for their second place win. The Junior and Sophomore wrestlers also had a successful season. The Junior Varsity won ten and lost one, and the Sophomores won eight with no losses.

TRACK AND FIELD

"Track is the best all-around physical sport," stated Coach Willard Jessop. Pole vault, high and low hurdles, long jump, javelin and shot put were a few of the track sports. Training started for some boys right after Christmas at USU, the rest began training in March. Returning Seniors Ken Thompson and Kim Peterson held school records in several events. The team attended the state meet held on May 17 and participated in nearly every event.

COACHES: Lenard Hansen and Willard Jessop.

An important part of high jumping is a well-timed take off and a controlled landing.

CROSS COUNTRY

Most of the cross country races, run over a three mile pre-determined course, were held during football halftimes. In an invitational meet held at Sky View for the first time, Sky View won first place over Weber, Aberdeen and Preston. The team placed second in region with seven runners qualifying for State: David Salisbury, Calvin Van Dyke, Darwin Pitcher, Dennis Darley, Kent King, Ron Durtschi and Mike Liechty. They rated third in state.

Racing against time and each other are Gary Spackman and Dave Owen.

GOLF

Front row, left to right: Russell Liehti, Brad Anderson, Rick Garrett, Craig Miles, Rodney Schvaneveldt. Row two: David Nilson, Jerry Jensen, Robert Wood, Sherwin Seamons, Coach Earl Lindley.

The Sky View golf team, hampered by the lingering Cache Valley snow, got a late start out on the Green. The team spent most sixth hours practicing or at region meets. Golf, a slow-moving but exciting sport, required lots of patience and determination. Under Coach Lindley's direction, the team members did their best in order to qualify for the state meet.

Stance, concentration and precision are important even in short putts.

TENNIS

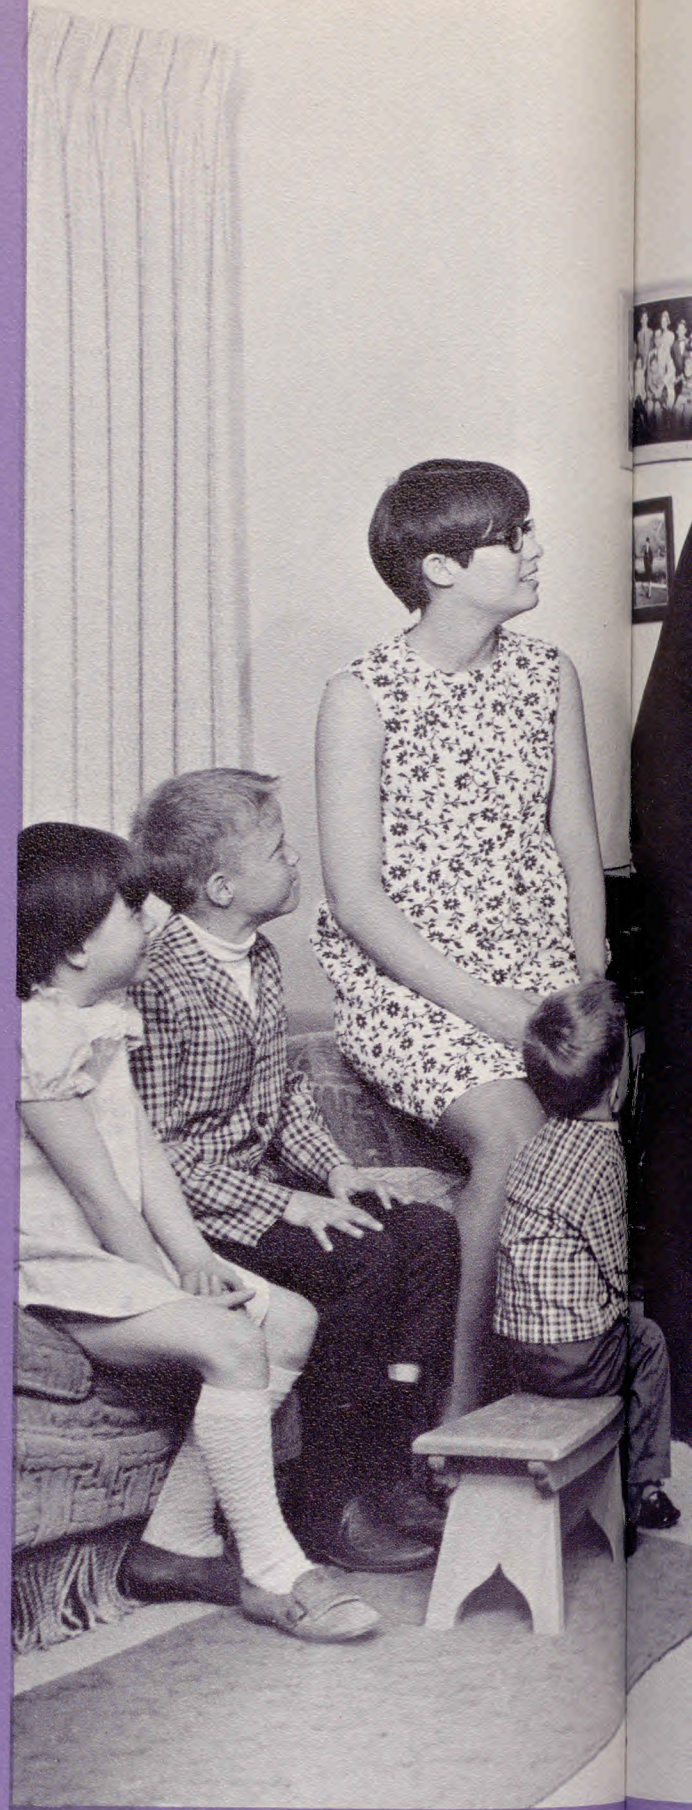

Members of the tennis team practiced every day after school. During this time, they worked on serves, backhands and other strokes, or they tried to advance their position on the team by challenging the player just above them on the team ladder. According to Coach Christensen, it takes years of practice to be really good at the game.

Danny Bankhead returns the serve from his opponent.

HONORS

Preparing a portfolio to show at the State Sterling Scholar judging, studying extra hours to get ready for the Young Americans program, practicing longer in order to be good enough for membership in the Band of America — these were just some of the “honor programs” students at Sky View participated in. Excelling in any area isn't easy, and often the challenges seemed insurmountable, but the students who tried received recognition and honor. A student's goals and personal challenges often changed as he went through high school, but each one had to be accepted, met and attained.

SCHOLARSHIP

Maintaining a 3.7 grade average over the four year period which begins with the ninth grade and ends with graduation is not easy, but it can be done. Almost ten per cent of the graduating senior class did it. The students who "kept their grades up" knew they might have to sacrifice a few parties, a favorite television show, and many hours of sleep, but to them it was worth it if they could take home an "A grade" report card each term. The seniors who worked hard and earned this honor were presented with a scholarship pin at the Awards Assembly held during the last week of May.

Plays, assemblies, sports, programs — the students who earned an activity award were often found participating in these activities. They filled the studentbody, club and class offices at Sky View, and they put out the publications. They were the students who stayed after school to make posters or decorate showcases. They were the people backstage during the play who changed scenery. Fifty-nine students with the most activity points were chosen from the graduating senior class to receive activity pins. Willingness to participate in Sky View's activities merited this reward.

SEAL DESIGNER

At the beginning of the year the Sky View Aurora staff asked the Commercial Art Department if their students would submit a seal design for the yearbook cover. Mike Hulsman's design was selected out of the many entries. With some modifications by the printer, the design was adopted as the official school seal.

SCHOOL BAND OF AMERICA

Karen Manning, Vurvian Pack and Kelly Fornoff were honored in being selected members of the School Band of America. This summer they will spend a month touring Europe and performing in concerts with this band. They will visit France, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, Luxembourg, Belgium and England.

YOUNG AMERICANS

"Who was the first woman in history to play golf?" "What is the study of Paleontology?" "How does the carbon dating process work?" Three times a week questions like these were asked twenty Sky View seniors in preparation for the quiz show, Young Americans, on KSL television. Bill Hansen, Bruce Fleming, Mary Lynn Evans and Cheryl Atkinson, with Gene Frodsham as alternate, scored 145 points—the highest score on the show this year—to completely overwhelm Tooele.

STATE INTERPRETIVE

Once again Sky View retained the region speech championship, as the speech students, under the direction of Mrs. Elaine Carlson, took the Region One Interpretive trophy for the fifth consecutive year. Twenty-one speakers qualified for the state meet held at BYU where three students received a superior rating and four earned excellent ratings. Sky View captured sixth place in the state — only eleven points behind the state winners.

STATE FORENSICS

For the first time in her five year history, Sky View won the region Forensics trophy. At USU eighteen Sky View students out-did their region competitors to qualify for state. At the state meet, where legislators met at the State Capitol and orators, debaters and radio-speakers performed at the University of Utah, Sky View faced the top Forensics students in the state.

NATIONAL MERIT SEMI-FINALISTS

When school began this year, the results of the National Merit Test were received. Two Sky View Seniors, Bruce Fleming and Dave Southard, achieved the rating of semifinalist. Only one percent of the nation's high school seniors ever attain this honor.

SPECIAL HONORS

Sitting: Cheryl Atkinson, Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow; Julie Richardson, State Second Vice President of the Future Homemakers of America. Standing: Blake Bassett, fifth place winner in State Deca Club Meet; Paul Willie, Lieutenant Governor of the Key Club International Division III.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Certificates and pins made it official that a student was a member of the National Honor Society. Students who were members of this honor group had maintained a 3.7 grade point average, participated in school activities and shown good citizenship and leadership. Mr. Keller was the advisor for this honorary organization.

STERLING SCHOLARS

Three years of outstanding work in a specific field brought a coveted Sterling Scholar award to twelve seniors. They carefully prepared portfolios before having preliminary interviews at Weber State. Then they waited anxiously for the announcement of the semifinalists to appear in the Deseret News. After final interviews came the excitement of the KSL T.V. show. The announcement of the state winners concluded an experience that the Sterling Scholars would always remember.

DEPARTMENTAL AWARDS

Students who excelled in a particular field for three years, with outstanding development, received Department Award plaques at the Awards Assembly. Awards were presented to students developing their knowledge in such fields as Social Science, Language Arts and Math. New skills in Industrial Arts, Home Economics and Instrumental Music were achieved. Students gaining a greater understanding of Vocational Agriculture, Vocal Music and Science also received awards. Students outstanding in the fields of Business and Physical Education were also recognized. A general scholarship award was given to the student who developed and achieved in "everything". Departmental Awards were special and were Sky View's way of recognizing outstanding students.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

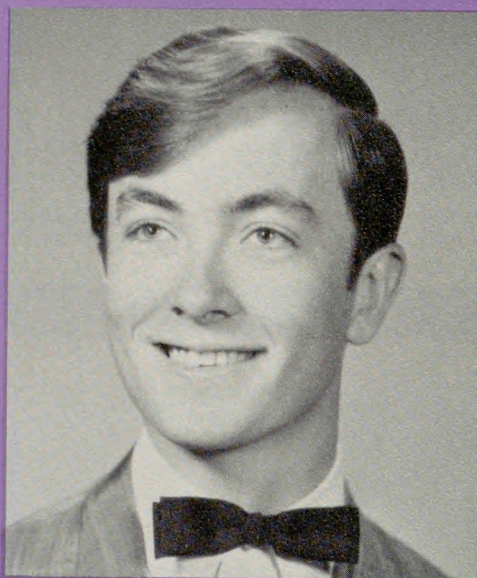

"What needs to be done? I'll help do it!" "Isn't there some way that we can better that?" "I'll be glad to be on the committee!" Working, planning, totally involved—that was Sky View's Outstanding Seniors. Three years of high school had developed their leadership abilities, their talents and their dedication to work at something once started. Often these Seniors stayed after school painting scenery for the play or musical, rehearsing for an assembly, or working on a committee for a dance.

OUTSTANDING SENIORS

They gave their time, talent and enthusiasm, and often sleep and grades to build something that Sky View could be proud of. They weren't afraid to try a new idea or a different method of approaching a problem. Originality and common faith that Sky View could succeed were shared by these Seniors. They were chosen by the popular vote of the Senior class. Their dedication and enthusiasm were rewarded by one of the highest honors they could be given — they were Outstanding Seniors.

Sky View 1969 —

The year was full of change — Sky View
Won its first football game in two Years, added a vocational school and Employed a new vice principal. The Students accepted Principal Webb's
Challenge, and changed for the better.
Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors found
THEIR place. Sky View's challenge
Was met and yet remained: continue
To grow, to progress and to change.

Thank you.
