

Rebuilding Edna

By Room 23

After 56 years the first Edna Maguire School building just got old. It needed to be torn down, tuned up and rebuilt. When we were in kindergarten our classrooms were in portables for the first part of the year. It was like a maze. There were holes in the fence so we could look out and watch our new school being built. We had an extra week for Winter break so the teachers could move into the new school and give the final touches. In January we were all really nervous. We remember not knowing where anything was. The new school was pretty and really big. There were new, fun PE games. There was a new playground and a much bigger garden. We all feel lucky to have our new school. However, we still wonder in 56 years if it will need to be torn down again.
