

Accountants count your money For businesses and people too

They keep track of expenditures

They track the revenues

They keep numbers in ledgers

Their math has power to

Watch for patterns, trends, and sums

Accountants work for you

They understand an audit
Spreadsheets are tools they use

Expenditures, Encumbrances

The funds and revenues

Accountants yes they're counting

They balance keep the books

Reports and graphs, computer screens

That's where they often look

In micro-economics

Your budget is your house

You keep the house in order

They might budget for a blouse

They might budget for a new phone

They might budget for a car

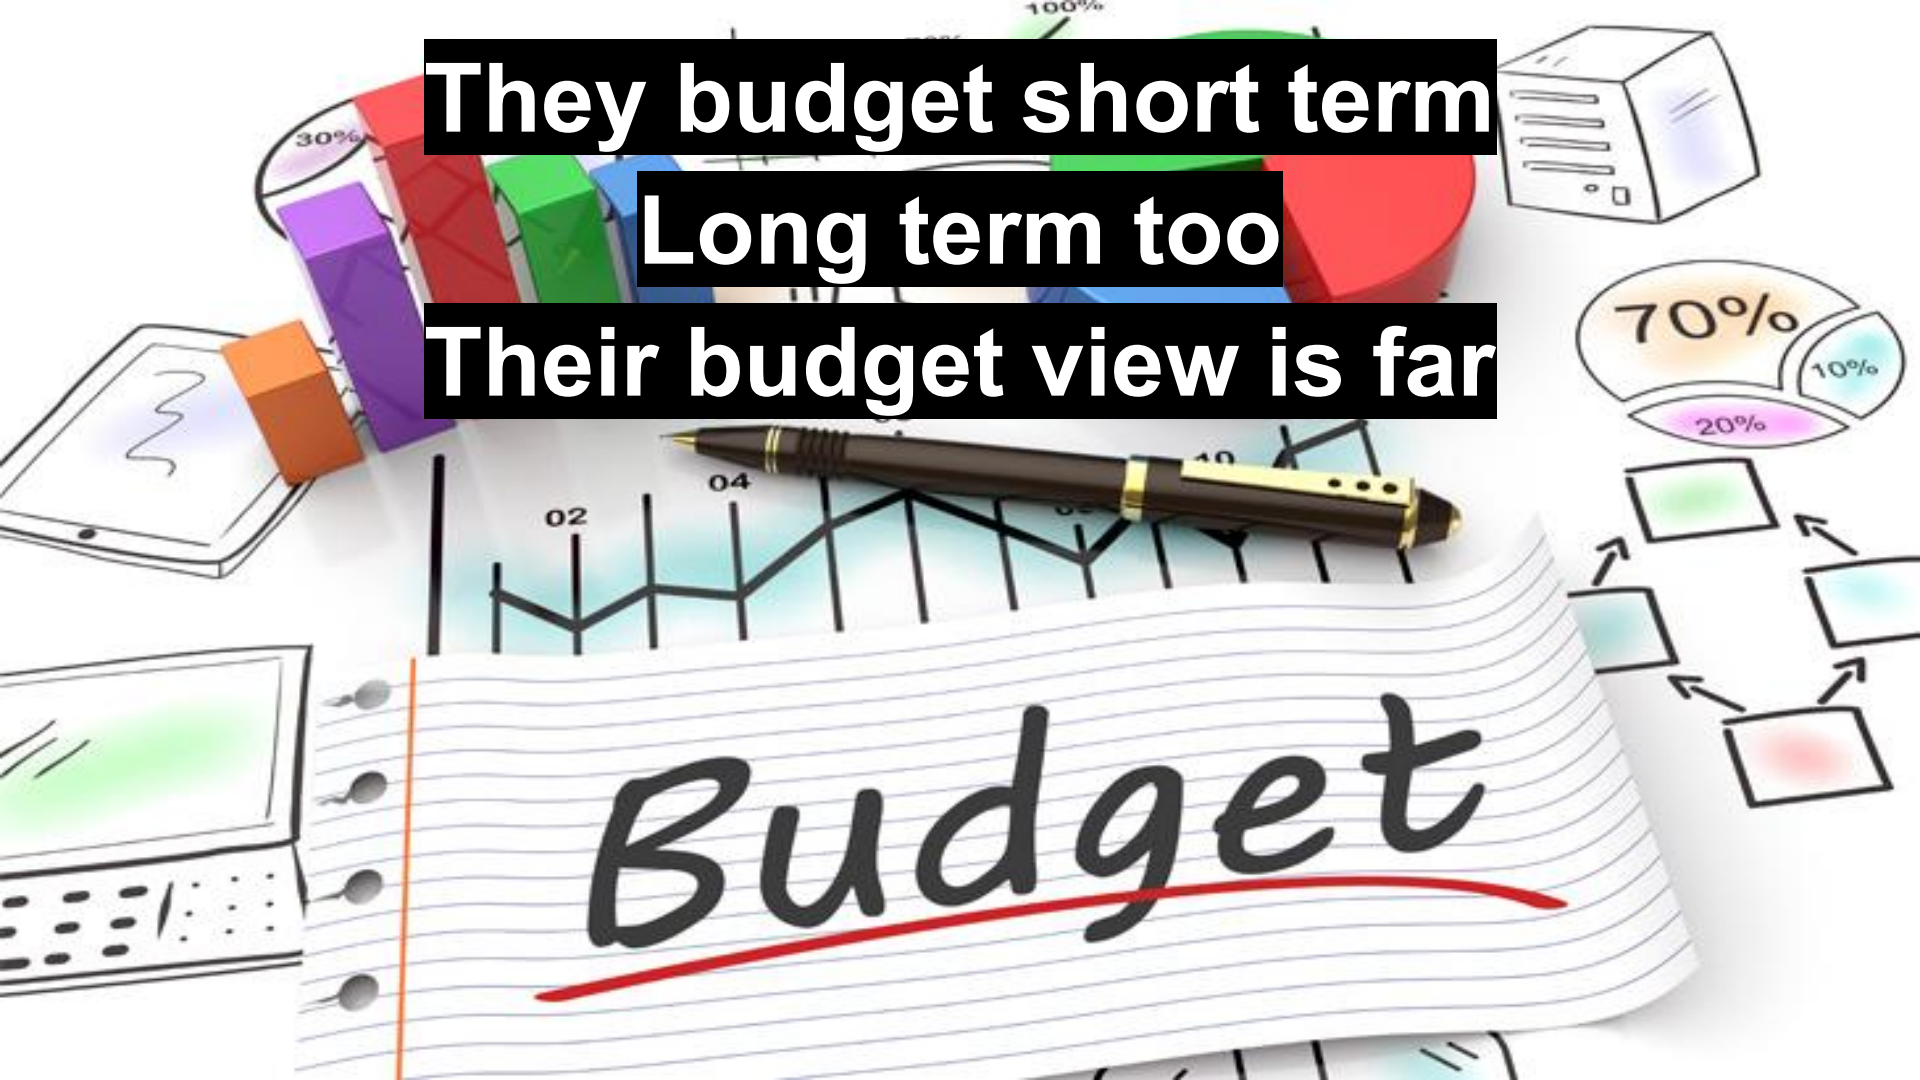

They budget short term

Long term too

Their budget view is far

Budget

In macro-economics

The numbers are quite large

You budget for a company

A country or a barge

You budget for a GDP Or GNP

Or Nasdaq, Dow

GDP

You budget for the macro things

With accountants they know how
