Summer Spotlight

Summer Fun in Sachem

Sachem students were back in the classroom this summer, having fun through a variety of exciting and enriching activities. In collaboration with SCOPE Education Services, the district offered a free summer program for its students.

Students participated in activities and programs that align with their interests. Some participated in STEAM classes like edible science, while others engaged in a variety of art programs including sculpting and jewelry design. Older students had different, yet tailored opportunities to participate in the summer program through college application and essay writing workshops, as well as SAT prep sessions.

The Extended School Year program took place at Chippewa Elementary School and engaged students with exciting learning opportunities. Students participated in a number of events - most notably a magic show that aligned with the program's theme, "finding the magic within you."
