HS North Student-Artists Selected for National Publications

Featured News

The district's robotics team, Aftershock, earned the Gracious Professionalism Award after competing in the Long Island Regional FIRST Robotics Competition at Hofstra University.

The Gracious Professionalism Award is given to the team that exemplifies the principles of FIRST – fairness, humility, positivity and respect. This team demonstrates the FIRST core values and works together on and off the field of play.

Sachem students at High School East and North explored dozens of potential post-graduation opportunities at their respective career fairs. Students networked with representatives from dozens of different industries to discuss job and internship opportunities available in the community.

Sagamore Middle School celebrated Pi Day on 3/14, the date that represents the first three digits of Pi. Students bought raffle tickets to have a chance to “pie” their teachers in the face during lunch periods. The money raised benefitted the DezyStrong Foundation.

Spring has sprung in Sachem and it's evident in many of the district's elementary schools where classrooms have started their own Tower Gardens. Tower Gardens are aeroponic gardening systems that allow students to grow a variety of fruits, vegetables and herbs indoors, without any dirt. Photographed here is Mr. Papagni's class at Nokomis.

Sparky, the beloved New York Islanders mascot, visited Chippewa Elementary School to teach students about teamwork and healthy lifestyle choices. Spirits were high as students filled the gymnasium to welcome Sparky and team representatives.

The Waverly Elementary School community came together on March 3 for its annual St. Baldrick's Event. Marking the first time the event was held in-person since the pandemic, Waverly was excited to have 10 shavees back on stage to support those affected by childhood cancer.

This year's event was dedicated to Sarah Sorensen, a Waverly second grader who has been in remission for the past five years.

Board Recognizes PTA Reflections Winners

The Sachem Central School District Board of Education and central administration recognized 16 PTA Reflections winners for the Suffolk County region during a public meeting on March 22.

PTA Reflections co-chair Colleen Stuart told the board there were 96 program participants during this school year's themed event, "Show Your Voice." Reflections is a national PTA program for students in grades K-12 in which students create original works of art in response to the selected theme in the categories of dance choreography, film production, literature, music composition, photography and visual arts.
