Reynolds Elementary Student Council joined forces with Baker High School students to help those in need in El Salvador.

3rd, 4th and 5th grade members of the student council worked together to create posters and flyers and asked for help from the Reynolds Elementary families. They were asking for gently used children's shoes to give to Baker High School students.

Baker students, under the supervision of teacher Jen Fasulo, traveled to El Salvador to bring medical supplies and serve some incredibly poor villages. The shoes collected were given to those in need.

The student council members also created cards for the Baker students wishing them well on their trip. We hope to plan a Google Meet in the future after their trip so the student council members can meet the Baker students and talk about their trip.
